

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

OF THE

AUDITOR OF ACCOUNTS

FOR

1895-96.

Report of the State Auditor.

STATE OF VERMONT, AUDITOR'S OFFICE, }
LUNENBURG, July 1st, 1896. }

To His Excellency the Governor of Vermont :

I have the honor to submit to you, as required by law, my report for the two years ending June 30th, 1896, it being the thirteenth biennial term. I am well aware that the expenditure of such a large amount of public funds as this biennial report will show will excite no little attention on the part of the people of the State. With this in view, I may be pardoned if I seemingly step outside the usual course of this office in its reports to your Excellency and the people, and attempt to so present the matter as to make it plain to all interested. We know it is a time when the people, seemingly at least, are carrying heavy burdens ; when there is that in the uncertainty existing in the commercial world which results in stagnation of business, low prices for the products of the farm, and too little demand for skilled as well as unskilled labor. It is a time when a want of confidence, or few or many causes, brings to us that condition that we call "hard times." At such a time there is always a cry that taxes are high, and that extravagance is the ruling passion of the hour in national, State and municipal expenditures, as well as in the home. In such an hour the people demand as their right to know what have been the channels through which our money has been expended, and have we received the benefit as a people that we ought from this expenditure. Are the people of the State as a whole the better or wiser that so much money has been circulating through the various channels of State expenditure? One thought I desire to drop here: A very small fraction of the money goes outside of the State. It is all earned and owned and expended by our fellow citizens, our neighbors. It is all a continually circulating medium in this State for the payment of the people's debts, for the maintenance of our homes and the prosperity of our institutions. I make these remarks because I desire to express my earnest belief that in no State of the Union is there a more economical administration of public affairs, that in no other State do the people get more for the money paid out than in our own State of Vermont. The usual method of itemization of all expenses has been followed in this report. I have endeavored to make the classification under the general heads of expense in such a way that any one desiring so to do can easily find what they want. I have to report that the usual settlements have been made by the Hon. Inspector of Finance and myself with the State Treasurer, and that we find all transactions in his department correct and covered by proper vouchers.

· PROBATE COURTS.

Touching the matter of the Probate Courts, I am pleased to know that all the judges are realizing the necessity of completed records as soon as possible after the various transactions of the case. Records neglected are often never made, has been the sad experience of the State. There is no criticism to make in this line. As there is no other department of the State government which by report can call your attention to these matters, I feel that I am not going outside the legitimate bounds of my jurisdiction if I call your attention to certain matters which are in the knowledge of the Probate Judges to a less or greater extent. I trust the Judges of Probate may, during the session of the Legislature, meet and discuss these matters, and aid in formulating some law for the general good. It is well known that a great many of the estates settled in Probate Court are small, and necessarily the State fees are a burden. The great cry is that the poorer people pay a disproportionate part of the taxes. True it is that the smaller estates, considering their ability, bear an unjust proportion of the burden. If the present fee system is to be continued, would it be unjust if a little further relief was to be granted to the poorer classes, by raising the limit of estates relieved from the payment of State fees and increasing the fees on the larger estates, which are more able to pay? Thus far the fees collected have more than offset the salaries of the Judges, but the maintenance of the Courts, aside from salaries, is quite a sum each year which is a net expense to the State. Again, it is very general for all the smaller estates to be fully settled in the Probate Courts. It is not uncommon for a large estate to enter the Probate Court for the purpose of having a will proved and probated and commissioners appointed for the protection of the estate, but no fair, honest appraisal of the assets made as the basis of State fees, or but a small portion of the estate really be made the matter of settlement. In all cases the State should get the benefit of a large accumulation under our laws if our Courts are to be used for the protection of the same. Every estate coming into the Probate Court should be made to show itself for the benefit of the State in the way of fees just as much as the estate of two thousand dollars left to a widow or orphan. Perhaps the authority of the Judges ought to be strengthened by further enactment. Could it be made feasible, I think an adoption of uniform blanks and records by all the Judges would be advisable. The financial reports of the several Probate Districts, which appear more fully in their proper order in this report, show the excess of fees over salaries for the year ending June 30th, 1895, to be $228.00, and for the year ending June 30th, 1896, $701.50. It was to be expected that the increasing of the salaries of the Probate Judges by the Legislature of 1894 to the extent of $2,550 a year would cause a deficit in the place of the excess reported for the last few years, but because of some large estates the reports show a balance for the biennial term of $929.50 fees over salaries.

The total amount of orders issued at this office for the year ending June 30th, 1895, is $504,529.09, and for the year ending June 30th, 1896, $635,568.47, a total for the term of $1,140,097.56. This is the largest sum to be found reported by the State Auditor in any biennial term, and the inquiry will naturally come: Where has it all gone to? why so large an increase over any other term? I ask the close attention of all to the analysis of expenses as shown in this report. It will be seen that in some lines there has been a decrease, and in others a very large increase. It seems natural for each succeeding Legislature to find some new direction in which investigation is desired, incurring necessary expenditure. These lines are all supposed, at least, to be in the direction of development and progression, by which all the people are to be benefited. It is not for me to measure the results of such action. It must be borne in mind that during this term the State has made what may be called a permanent investment of over two hundred and twelve thousand dollars—that is in building and furnishing new buildings, making additions and needed repairs to old ones, and in purchasing property necessary for the needs of the State, and this under the authority of legislative enactment and appropriation. The principal items of this are the Vermont Asylum, Fish Hatchery, Soldiers' Home, Chittenden Monument and the House of Correction. This demand for money is now nearly, if not quite, satisfied, and we truly hope and believe that in due time the State will find this a profitable investment. There is a great cry that our money is squandered and the people are being robbed of their own. I do not believe there is a State in the Union which can show so much in the way of State property for the money invested as our own State of Vermont. Perhaps I ought to say that under the acts of 1892 making appropriation for an addition to the Vermont Asylum at Waterbury no provision was made for the furnishing of the same, and as the most of the appropriation was necessarily used in the building called for by the act, it was deemed such a case of emergency and necessity by the Governor that the building be furnished and put in condition for its intended use, that the Governor and Trustees ordered and authorized the furnishing of the same. A similar question arose again during the last year, when it became certain to the Governor and Commissioners that unless $1,000 was at once expended the property of the State at Roxbury would become practically worthless, and this necessary expenditure was made. I would say that I have examined the accounts of the Superintendent and Trustees of the Vermont Asylum, and find them correct and covered by proper vouchers.

The classification of current orders hereafter given will show to the observer, aside from the amounts before mentioned, that the support of the insane poor, maintenance of penal institutions, support of the State Militia and the cause of education in its various channels, have cost approximately $225,000 each year—certainly laudable interests for the expenditure of money.

The Vermont Statutes, in its preparation and publication, is another large item of expense during this term. The total cost of the same will be not far from $22,000.00. Some small bills are still unsettled, but the most of it is included in this term's expenses. Probably at least $7,500.00 will eventually be realized by the State from the sale of the Statutes purchased by individuals.

The Tuberculosis Act of 1894 has cost the State up to this date about $20,000.00; the exact figures appear in the classification. I thus call attention to these matters specially as there is a great deal of inquiry in regard thereto. Inquiry is often made also touching the matter of counsel assigned to assist State's Attorneys and to defend respondents. I herewith give a table showing the amounts of such bills for the last four years:

Amount paid to counsel for the State.....	$1,984.00	$2,136.95	$3,071.59	$1,572.08
For the respondent....	2,022.06	2,110.48	4,152.06	5,704.20

The expense of the State Militia for the past ten years is herewith given : 1887, $20,650.47 ; 1888, $28,016.18 ; 1889, $33,825.44 ; 1890, $23,992.02 ; 1891, $25,098.18 ; 1892, $27,560.89 ; 1893, $19,958.34 ; 1894, $19,843.17 ; 1895, $22,767.28 ; 1896, $24,385.08.

By the act of 1894 the salaries of the State's Attorneys were increased to the extent of $7,350 a year, and the law giving a moiety of fines in liquor cases and a conviction fee and a portion of the forfeited bail to the State's Attorney or complainant was repealed. It was feared by some that the expense to the State would thereby be largely increased. I give a statement of the amount paid during the last four years, which shows that the change has not been a bad thing for the State financially. As to the quality of the service rendered, I cannot say more than that I think the change was a wise one.

Amount paid for conviction fees, forfeiture of bail and one-fourth of fines in liquor cases :

The total amount of Court expense orders for the year ending June 30th, 1895, was $103,314.64. The total amount of the same for the year ending June 30th, 1896, was $96,024.29, a total for the biennial term of $199,338.93. The figures show a constantly increasing expense of the Courts and criminal prosecutions. I am not prophet enough to tell when a maximum may be expected to be reached in this line. National statistics show that crime is largely on the increase, and this State is not an exception. With us crime is on the increase, especially the higher crimes or felonies. The penalties of the criminal law do not seem to be preventative to the extent that is to be desired. Surrounding conditions exert a greater influence on the more naturally criminal class to encourage them to criminal acts than do legal penalties to prevent the same. Possibly a close student of history and observer of the times, one who so understands human nature as to know its susceptibility to external influences, can easily find in the environments of this age, and especially the last few years, a natural cause for the increase of crime. I herewith give a comparative statement of criminal prosecutions for the last sixteen years, showing the general tendency. Either there have been more criminals, or criminals have been more closely followed and punished ; probably both are true. This table is marked "A." I also attach to this report an interesting table, taken from the records of the County Clerks' offices, showing the increase from year to year of Court business, as shown by the Court dockets and the length of the terms of Court. The totals of the table show that the average for the four years 1882-3-4-5, in comparison with the average for the four years 1892-3-4-5, gives an increase in the number of docketed cases of 823 in the State, and an increase of 243 days of Court in actual session in a year. This table is marked "B." I also give comparative tables showing the amount of the debentures of Grand and Petit Jurors, Reporters, Referees, County Judges and Witnesses since 1882; also for the same time a comparison of the bills of costs allowed in classes one, two and three; also accounts of Jailers, Sheriffs and County Clerks. These tables will be of interest to those interested in the matter of Court expenses. These tables are marked "C" and "D." I also give a table showing the amount of fines and costs paid in since 1886.

	Bills of Costs in Liquor Cases.	Fines and Costs Paid in.	Net Revenue.
1886.....	$23,100.44	$30,636.00	$7,535.56
1887.....	21,417.08	44,386.19	22,969.11
1888.....	25,324.11	63,500.56	38,176.45
1889.....	25,986.48	47,396.31	21,409.88
1890.....	24,731.53	37,449.53	12,717.75
1891.....	30,470.45	50,254.75	19,784.30
1892.....	33,183.09	64,914.08	31,730.99
1893.....	36,802.97	63,529.86	26,726.89
1894.....	39,266.32	70,899.48	31,633.16
1895.....	44,185.42	67,922.60	23,737.18
1896.....	41,471.26	61,110.37	19,639.11

Figures before given show the amount paid for one-fourth of fines, conviction fees and portion of forfeited bail during the four years 1892-93-94-95 to be $43,362.86, or an average of $10,840.71 each year. Under the law of 1894 this line of expenditure was repealed, but the State's Attorneys salaries were increased to the amount of $7,350 a year.

The total fines and costs paid in during the same four years, less the $6,702.59 paid in in the John O'Neil case, is $260,563.43, or an average of $65,140.86 for each year. Fines and costs paid in in 1896, $61,110.37.

These figures show that the fines and costs paid in each year exceed the bills of costs in liquor cases, and the amount of the balance has been called a revenue from the liquor traffic. This is misleading and an error, for the extra expense made by increasing the length of terms of Court and adding to the number of docket cases, increasing the accounts of Sheriffs, County Clerks, Jailers, County Judges, etc., would undoubtedly more than offset this amount, and all these items legitimately chargeable to the liquor traffic. Under the law of 1894, making the fees for taking a disclosure chargeable to the State only in cases where the disclosure resulted in the prosecution of some person for keeping or selling, in which case the fees could be charged against such person and collected, has resulted in quite a saving to the State no doubt, but it would be impossible to estimate the amount with any degree of accuracy. I have also to report that the case referred to in my last report as then pending in the Supreme Court has been decided, the position which I took under the direction of the Legislature not being sustained by the Court. When the Legislature of 1894 repealed the law giving moieties in fines in liquor cases and conviction fees in similar cases, the law taking effect December 1st, 1894, a question arose as to the effect of the law. I made a ruling to the effect that a claimant had no right to a moiety of a fine not actually paid into the hands of the State previous to the first day of December, 1894. From this decision an appeal was taken and the case taken to the Supreme Court, whose decision sustained my ruling. Under No. 72, Acts of 1894, the State Treasurer proceeded to collect, from the various towns of the State reporting such a balance as was designated by the law, such balance. Some towns paid unconditionally, others paid under protest, and some refused to make any report. The claim was made that the law, as interpreted by the Treasurer, was unconstitutional. The matter was referred by the Treasurer to me, and the result was an agreed case between the State and the town of Brattleboro for the purpose of getting the opinion of the Supreme Court. This case has been decided in favor of the town. Under this interpretation of the Court, in order that justice may be done to all towns, some act should be passed by the coming Legislature that would authorize and direct the repayment of such sums as were illegally collected to the towns paying the same. As I remarked in my last report, I do not desire to be guilty of attempting to mark out a course of legislation, but rather to present a condition of things in such a way as to invite inquiry and investigation which may result in the greatest good for the greatest number. This is the only motive prompting me to a consideration of various subjects which are made a part of this report. I shall be glad during the session, or at any other time, to give such aid as I may be able to, looking toward wise and economical legislation and an honest administration of the affairs of State.

HENRY F. FIELD,

July 1, 1895.

State Treasurer.

We, the undersigned, have this day examined the accounts of Henry F. Field, State Treasurer, from July 1, 1894 to June 30, 1895 inclusive, and find all charges sustained by proper vouchers, and the accounts of the Treasurer correct. We have also examined the several funds held by the State Treasurer, consisting of the Agricultural College fund, funds deposited by life insurance companies under the Act of 1874, the Bennington battle monument fund, and the Huntington fund, and find the same correctly set forth in the statements of the said several funds in his books.

FRANKLIN D. HALE,

HENRY F. FIELD,

State Treasurer.

July, 1, 1896.

We, the undersigned, have this day examined the accounts of Henry F. Field, State Treasurer, from July 1, 1895, to June 30, 1896, inclusive, and find all charges sustained by proper vouchers, and the accounts of the Treasurer correct. We have also examined the several funds held by the State Treasurer, consisting of the Agricultural College fund, funds deposited by life insurance companies under the Act of 1874, the Bennington battle monument fund, and the Huntington fund, and find the same correctly set forth in the statements of the said several funds in his books, and in the schedules hereto attached.

FRANKLIN D. HALE,

STATE TAX.

The Legislature of 1894 assessed a State Tax of twelve cents on the dollar on the Grand List of 1895, two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) to be paid into the Treasury of the State on or before the tenth day of November, 1895, and the remaining third on or before the tenth day of June, 1896.

Notices for payment of this tax were issued from this office to the treasurers of the several towns, cities, etc., on the tenth day of October, 1895, and the first installment of the tax was generally promptly paid. A balance of this and the second installment, amounting to $8,738.91, was unpaid June 30, 1896.

The Grand List for the year 1895, as certified to this office by the Secretary of State, amounted to $1,737,988.55, and the tax of twelve cents on the dollar aggregated $208,558.63, apportioned to the several towns, cities, and unorganized towns and gores, as follows, viz:

FIVE PER CENT. STATE SCHOOL TAX

FOR 1895 AND 1896.

The annual tax required to be assessed by the provisions of No. 6 of the Laws of 1890, now Sections 758-764 of Vermont Statutes, was duly levied for the year 1895 and paid into the treasury of the State, and on the 5th day of July, 1895, was divided and distributed among the several towns, cities, and unorganized towns, in proportion to the number of legal schools sustained in each during the school year ending March, 31 preceding, as certified to the State Treasurer by the State Superintendent of Education.

The grand list for the year 1894, as certified to the Treasurer by the Secretary of State, was $1,751,329 12
 And the tax of five cents on the dollar amounted to - - - - - 87,566 46
 The tax for 1896 was assessed upon the grand list of 1895, to wit - - - - - 1,737,997 55
 And the tax amounted to - - - - - 86,899 88

The following statement shows the amounts paid into the treasury by the several towns, cities, and unorganized towns and gores for each year, and the sums subsequently repaid to them on the number of schools maintained for the year 1895, together with the apportionment of the tax of 1896, which is now about to be distributed to the towns, viz.:

PROFITS OF LIQUOR AGENCY SALES.

1895 AND 1896.

Under the provisions of No. 72 of the Acts of 1894, now Sections 4456 and 4457 of Vermont Statutes, towns are required to pay into the State treasury any excess of profits over ten per cent of the total sales of liquor for the year, and it is made the duty of the Auditors to report to the State Treasurer the condition of the liquor agency account in the several towns and cities within fifteen days after making a settlement of such accounts. This Act took effect February 1st, 1895, and by its terms appeared to apply to any settlement of Liquor Agency accounts made at or subsequent to that time.

Accordingly a blank was prepared, and the report prescribed was called for by circular issued from this office on February 4, 1895. The application of the statute to the transactions of the year then closing was called in question to some extent, but a very general response was made to the call for reports, and the sum of $514.36 paid into the treasury prior to the close of the fiscal year ending June 30, 1895, and subsequently a further sum of $401.39 was received for this period, which is included in the item of receipts from this source for the fiscal year now ending.

To secure an authoritative opinion as to the application of this law to the settlements of 1895, the question involved has been carried to the Supreme Court upon an agreed statement of facts in a suit with the town of Brattleboro.

The towns from which payments were received during the fiscal year, ending June 30th, 1895, were the following:

Barre.	$291.78
Chelsea.	8.80
Chester.	15.64
Danby.	8.18

REPORT.

STATE OF VERMONT.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR OF FINANCE, }
MONTPELIER, VT., August 10, 1895. }

To His Excellency,

URBAN A. WOODBURY, Governor.

Agreeably to your authority, I assumed the office of Inspector of Finance on December 1, 1894, and herewith submit the Annual Report of the Department, showing the condition of the Savings Banks, Savings Banks and Trust Companies, Investment Companies and Co-operative Savings and Loan Associations in Vermont, at the close of business June 30, 1895, as appears from the certified statements of the treasurers of the institutions named.

The Home Savings Bank of Burlington, Vt., has been organized for business during the present year, but its statement was not received in time for insertion in this report.

The West Fairlee Savings Bank having been closed, disappears from the list.

The present number of Savings Banks in the State is twenty-two.

The number of Savings Banks and Trust Companies, eighteen.

Co-operative Savings and Loan Associations, two.

Investment and Guarantee Companies, one.

Making forty-three Vermont institutions whose reports are published in the following pages.

The several statements of the foreign Loan and Investment Companies, and the Building and Loan Associations of other States, licensed to do business in Vermont, will be found herein, sworn to by the proper officers and published in accordance with the law.

I have felt that too great care and caution cannot be exercised in admitting foreign companies to do business in our State, and I have therefore taken great pains to ascertain the financial standing as well as the business reputation and methods of all applicants for admission, and in several cases I have felt compelled to decline to grant licenses.

DEPOSITORS AND DEPOSITS.

The number of depositors in all Savings Banks and Trust Companies in the State, June 30, 1895, was 97,486, an increase in the number in one year of 5,247.

Of this number, 86,502 are residents of Vermont and had to their credit June 30, 1895,	$25,617,419 83
An increase during the year of	1,988,903 39
Non-resident depositors numbered 10,984, and had to their credit June 30, 1895	4,785,844 60
An increase during the year of	447,505 58
Making a total increase in deposits for the year of	2,436,408 97

Of this, resident depositors' increase has been eighty-two (82) per cent, and non-resident, eighteen (18) per cent, while of the total amount of deposits, eighty-four (84) per cent is owned by resident depositors and sixteen (16) per cent by non-residents.

The total amount of deposits in all banks is	$30,403,264 43
An increase in one year of	2,436,408 97
The average amount of deposits to each depositor is	311 88
An increase in average amount for the year of	8 68
The average amount to the credit of resident depositors is	296 14
And to non-resident	435 72
Showing an average of $139.58 more to non-resident depositors than to resident depositors.

There are 2,031 of the $1,500 class of depositors who had to their credit June 30, 1895,	4,148,502 48
Or an average to each of	2,042 59

On the 5th and 6th of July, I assisted the State Auditor in the annual settlement with the State Treasurer, Hon. Henry F. Field.

Proper vouchers were found for all the money paid out, and the cash on hand and in banks was verified and found correct. Books and accounts of the office are properly kept and the several funds held in trust by that officer were examined in detail and were found correctly set forth in the statement of the same in the books of that department.

I also, on the 12th and 13th of July, examined the books and papers of the State Auditor, to the close of the fiscal year, and found vouchers for all orders drawn on the State Treasurer, and proper books of account have been kept by that officer.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED. E. SMITH,

Inspector of Finance.

STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, } ss.

I, H. F. Morse, secretary of the aforesaid association, do solemnly swear that the foregoing statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief.

H. F. MORSE, Secretary.

Signed and sworn to before me this 17th day of July, 1895.

FRANK W. FRENCH,
 Notary Public.

NOTE.—Upon invitation of the managers of the Granite State Provident Association, I met with representatives of the banking departments of the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and New York, at Manchester on the fourth day of June last, and began the examination of the association as of the first day of June, 1895.

Expert accountants were employed to make a careful, detailed examination of the books and accounts of the association, and the result of their investigations showed the books to be practically accurate, and the book-keeping of the association in competent hands.

After examination of the assets, and a careful consideration of the items which entered into the statement of its affairs, I deemed it right and just to deduct from its

Real estate owned.....	$9,115 34
Real estate in foreclosure.....	13,427 61
Securities in its guarantee fund.....	2,300 00
Accrued interest and premium account.....	7,932 75
Loans on shares.....	295 00
Accounts receivable.....	6,325 00

Making the sum of$39,395 70

And to add to its liabilities, for dividends accrued, (estimated)....$12,500 00

For liability to shareholders in excess of book-value of shares outstanding..... 10,000 00

Or a total sum of$61,895 70

I also find that the account of accumulations and profits includes about $60,000 of unearned premiums, which is not a profit for the purpose of paying dividends at the present time.

Many of the methods of the association met the disapproval of all the commissioners, and at their suggestion, and the insistence of the board of bank examiners of the State of New Hampshire, several changes in its plans and practices have been adopted, tending to a clearer understanding by the shareholder of his contract and his rights, and a more equitable distribution of profits, and generally to more conservative management.

While I find from the best information I could obtain of the association's assets and business, that it is solvent, I am fearful that many shareholders who have been led, or permitted, to believe their shares would mature in eight years, will be disappointed in the association's ability to mature them in so short a time.

REPORT.

STATE OF VERMONT.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR OF FINANCE, }
NORTH SPRINGFIELD, VT., August 17, 1896. }

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont :

In accordance with law, I herewith submit my annual report as Inspector of Finance, showing the condition of the Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Savings Banks and Trust Companies in this State at the close of business June 30, 1896, including the Brandon Investment and Guarantee Company, the Burlington Building and Loan Association, the Essex Co-operative Savings and Loan Association, and the Queen City Co-operative Building and Loan Association. Also the several statements of the Foreign Loan and Investment Companies, and the Building and Loan Associations of other States, licensed to do business in this State, all sworn to by the proper officers and published agreeably to law.

There are now doing business in this State 22 Savings Banks and 18 Trust Companies.

DEPOSITS AND DEPOSITORS.

The aggregate deposits of the Savings Institutions is $32,170,742.88, which is an increase for the year of $1,767,478.45, and for the two years ending June 30, 1896, of $4,203,887.42.

This amount is deposited by 103,281 depositors, an increase in number for the year of 5,795, and an increase for the two years ending June 30, 1896, of 10,042. The number of depositors who are residents of this State is 91,184, an increase in one year of 4,682, and an increase in two years of 9,104.

The depositors resident in this State have deposits of $26,796,305.63, an increase in one year of $1,178,885.80, and an increase in the past two years of $3,167,789.19.

There are 12,097 non-resident depositors, an increase of 1,113 during the year, and an increase of 1,938 for the two past years.

The non-resident depositors have deposits amounting to \$5,374,437.25, an increase in one year of \$588,592.65, and an increase in two years of \$1,036,098.23. In the last two years the deposits of residents of this State have increased about 11 $\frac{2}{3}$ per cent., and the deposits of non-residents about 19 $\frac{1}{4}$ per cent.

The average amount of deposits to each depositor is $311.48, a decrease in average amount of $0.40 (forty cents) for the year.

The average amount to the credit of resident depositors is $293.87, and to non-resident $444.27, showing an average of $150.40 more to non-resident than to resident depositors.

There are 2,411 of the $1,500 class of depositors, who had to their credit June 30, 1896, $4,898,890.99, an average to each of $2,031.89.

LOANS AND INVESTMENTS.

The amount loaned on mortgages of real estate in this State is $6,613,133.53, an increase during the year of $542,952.66. Amount loaned on real estate elsewhere, $11,085,427.91, an increase of $526,188.67.

Loans on personal security, $2,809,002.64, showing a decrease of $12,698.74. Loans with bank stock as collateral security, $244,759.65, an increase of $32,330.38. Loans on other collateral security, $1,074,827.24, an increase of $171,154.93. Loans to towns, villages, etc., $508,214.03, an increase of $60,042.81.

United States bonds owned, $787,031.00, an increase of $391,715.00. State, city, county, town, village and other bonds owned, $8,946,373.77, showing a decrease of $126,403.38.

Real estate owned for banking purposes, $296,987.11, an increase of $31,765.35. Real estate acquired by foreclosure, $424,512.88, an increase of $60,770.35 during the year, and an increase of $137,828.92 for the past two years.

Bank stock owned, $410,485.00, an increase of $2,080.00. Miscellaneous assets, $299,321.59, an increase of $153,542.51.

Municipal warrants and premiums on bonds are included by some of the banks under this head, which accounts for a large share of the increase. Cash on hand and on deposit in banks June 30, 1896, $1,491,270.55, an increase of $87,273.08. Quite a proportion of the cash on deposit in banks draws interest at a fair rate.

The percentage of assets in the several classes of investments held by all the banks from 1888 to 1896, inclusive, will be found in the following table.

SURPLUS, TAXES AND EXPENSES.

The surplus reserve fund required by law to be set aside and held to meet losses and depreciation of securities by all the Savings Banks amounts to $906,221.08, an increase of $4,001.76.

The total accumulations in all the Savings Banks and Trust Companies, including the lawful reserve and interest, is $1,766,389.01, an increase during the year of $111,661.97.

It will be noticed that apparently the reserve fund has increased but little, while the total accumulations have made a very large gain. I understand that a portion of the increase of total accumulations properly belongs to the reserve fund, but that in some cases the treasurers have reported "surplus fund reserved," under the head of "surplus" or "other surplus."

The Savings Banks and Savings Banks and Trust Companies have paid taxes to the State during the year to the amount of $207,575.78, an increase over 1895 of $16,239.23, and an increase for the past two years of $22,378.02.

The expenses of all the Savings Banks and Savings Banks and Trust Companies for the past year, including taxes, have been $361,425.94, an increase for the year of $24,468.58.

DIVIDENDS.

The depositors in Savings Banks have been credited with interest on their deposits for the year to the amount of $919,760.44, an increase over last year of $45,946.87.

Fourteen banks have paid four per cent, one bank has paid four and one-fourth per cent, seven banks have paid four and one-half per cent.

Sixteen of the Trust Companies have paid dividends to their stockholders amounting to $53,095.15, an average of something over six and one-half per cent, two have made no dividends to stockholders, one has paid 3 per cent, ten have paid six per cent, one has paid seven per cent, two have paid eight per cent, two have paid 10 per cent.

The amount of interest paid depositors by Trust Companies, as well as the rate per cent, is not reported, excepting by the Proctor Trust Company, which reports dividends paid depositors of four and one-half per cent for the year, amounting to $5,813.47.

TABLES.

Farther on will be found tabular statements showing as follows:

No. 1. Statement of the aggregate resources and liabilities of all the Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies in the State, June 30, 1896.

Nos. 2 and 3. Names of the Savings Banks, Savings Institutions and Trust Companies, and statement of their assets and liabilities, and number of depositors in each, June 30, 1896.

No. 4. Amount of dividends paid, rate per cent, amount of state tax, expenses for the year, and amount of deposits by residents and non-residents of the State.

No. 5. Miscellaneous statistics.

No. 6. Summary of the growth of Savings Banks and Trust Companies in Vermont from 1850 to 1896, inclusive.

WESTERN MORTGAGES.

The amount invested outside of this State in mortgages, largely in the west, from 1886 to 1896, inclusive, and the increase or decrease each year, is shown by the following figures:

1886	- - - - -	$5,466,271 64

Our Savings Banks are growing more and more conservative in purchasing western loans, and look much more carefully at the location of the property, not only its present, but its prospective value, the parties through whom and to whom they loan, than they did a few years since; and make the rate per cent of interest which they are to receive secondary to the security of the principal. It would be useless, and would not be true, to say, that none of our Savings Institutions have met with losses from western investments. Some have no such investments, and there are several, which have but a small amount. As a rule, however, not only Savings Banks, but private individuals who have had money to invest, outside of their ordinary business, have suffered more or less heavily from western investments, and also from the depreciation in the value of real estate and other property nearer home. It is probably a fact, that no class of investors in our State, when the amount invested is taken into consideration, are meeting with so few losses as our Savings Institutions. In most cases they are better situated to look after loans than private individuals, and can do it at less expense, and I think they, as a rule, are managing their defaulted loans and real estate, which has come into their possession, in the best possible manner and are doing all that can profitably be done at the present time. Very few new loans are taken in localities where there have been losses from loans heretofore made. Experience is a thorough teacher—her lessons sometimes are expensive, but in the long run, they are valuable. A good understanding of geography is essential in making loans in the west. Had some of those who have suffered from losses of money loaned in certain sections remembered that in the geographies of some years ago the farms of which they have taken mortgages were not only on the border of the Great American desert, but in some cases near its centre, they would have placed their money elsewhere.

FOREIGN CORPORATIONS AND COMPANIES.

The following named Loan and Investment Companies and Building and Loan Associations have been licensed to do business in this State for the year ending December 31st, 1896.

LOAN AND INVESTMENT COMPANIES.

Farmers' Trust Company, Sioux City, Iowa.

Iowa Loan and Trust Company, Des Moines, Iowa.

New England Loan and Trust Company, Des Moines, Iowa.

Pierre Savings Bank, Pierre, South Dakota.

Vermont Loan and Trust Company, Grand Forks, North Dakota.

Vermont Savings Investment Company, Topeka, Kansas.
Special license.

In justice to the last named Company, I would say that it was licensed to do business in this State last year, but this fact was, I understand, unintentionally omitted from the report of last year. The report of its standing at close of business June 30th, has been received, and may be found in its appropriate place.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATIONS.

Connecticut Building and Loan Association, Hartford, Ct.
Iowa Central Building and Loan Association, Des Moines, Iowa.

United States Savings and Loan Company, St. Paul, Minn.

No statement has been received from the last named company, showing its condition at close of business, June 30, 1896, but elsewhere in this report may be found the sworn statements of the Loan and Investment Companies and the other Building and Loan Associations, showing their condition at the close of business June 30, 1896.

The Granite State Provident Association was licensed to do business for the year ending December 31, 1895, but did not apply for license the present year. On the 16th day of April there was served upon me as Inspector of Finance, and consequently agent of said association, the complaint of Charles A. Smith and others, with subpoena, order notifying said association to appear and show cause, if any, why a receiver should not be appointed, and an injunction enjoining the National Bank of Barre from paying over to said association or its agents, any funds held by said bank, until otherwise ordered. Judge Ross, chancellor, Washington county, September term, 1896. On the 12nd of April I mailed a copy of said complaint, subpoena, order and injunction to the said association according to law.

BOND HOUSES.

The firms named below are authorized to sell municipal bonds in Vermont.

GENERAL REMARKS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

I am convinced that the time has come when our Savings Banks should be limited to four per cent. dividends. There are a few banks which can possibly pay four and one-half per cent for some time yet, but some are paying it that can hardly afford to. The tendency almost everywhere is toward lower rates of interest, and unless there is an improvement, this change must surely come. Some of our strongest banks are considering the matter of reducing dividends to four per cent., and I am inclined to the opinion that most, if not all, will do so. Still, I think it the better policy for the State to make the reduction for this reason, that in case a part should reduce their rate of dividends, and others should not, it would naturally create a feeling that these banks which had made the reduction had either made new losses, or were not being managed well and the result would probably be, the withdrawal more or less of deposits and putting the money into banks which had not reduced their rate of dividends, thus not only injuring the banks from which the money was withdrawn, but working detrimentally to certain sections of our State by taking money which legitimately belongs in one place, and putting it where perhaps it is not needed. In case dividends are reduced to four per cent., the balance of earnings, if any, after setting aside a proper amount for surplus, could and should be used in purchasing a higher grade of securities.

In regard to the investment of the capital stock of Trust Companies, there is some difference in opinion as to how the law should be construed. I think the State should say, that the capital stock of such companies should be invested in the same kind of securities as the deposits. If the capital stock of such companies is for the security of the depositors, and no surplus is required to be maintained, then it seems but just and proper for the State to have something to say as to how it should be invested. In fact, I think quite a share of the Trust Companies concede this, and invest only in the same classes of securities as they invest their deposits. If, however, it is not thought expedient for the State to say this, I would suggest that the Trust Companies be required to furnish the Inspector of Finance with a list of the securities in which their capital stock is invested.

The matter of bonds of treasurers of Savings Institutions is being more or less discussed at present. It may be regarded as somewhat ultra, but I have about come to the conclusion that the bonds of treasurers should be furnished by the banks. Very likely the State and the banks are not ready for the change, but in the way of bonds of this kind and of a similar nature, Surety Companies are largely taking the place of individuals. The banks, no doubt, would regard, and perhaps justly, the expense as a great objection. This feature could be partially taken into account in the compensation paid the treasurer. One or two of our banks have already adopted the plan.

Some of the objections to individual bonds are these. First: As a rule, a poor man, no matter how competent or worthy, unless he has wealthy relatives or friends, hardly has the courage to ask for a position as treasurer, because he knows it will be almost impossible for him to furnish a satisfactory bond.

In the second place the bond of a good surety company is deemed better security than an ordinary individual bond, for in case of a defalcation, a surety company expects to pay what it has promised to pay, while experience has proved that individuals as a rule intend to get rid of paying.

The chances are that out of a half dozen individuals on an ordinary bond, in case of a loss, one half of the number would be found to have little or no attachable property, and those of the others, who had property, would have so little of it, that much of a defalcation would mean ruin to them, and then sympathy for the unfortunate bondsmen might result in the banks sharing the loss with them, rather than incur the criticism of the community by enforcing collection. Beside these reasons, most of the bondsmen are unknown to the Inspector of Finance, and consequently he is obliged to rely largely upon general information as to the pecuniary ability of the parties, and this very frequently is misleading.

I recommend that the law be so changed, that the salary and expenses of the Inspector of Finance be paid by the state, instead of by the banks. This may be regarded as an act of justice to the banks, and would also, I understand, be in line with the policy of other states. This change would not affect this officer, but would relieve other officials of considerable labor, as the salary and expenses of this officer now are collected from forty institutions, in proportion to their deposits.

I do not think there is any necessity at this time for enlarging the limits for investment.

The managers of our savings institutions seem to realize the responsibility of their positions and apparently were never doing more faithful and conscientious work than now.

In all cases where Savings Banks and Trust Companies are doing business in offices with National Banks and over the same counter, the examinations have been made at the same time as the examinations of the National Banks, and I would acknowledge the courtesy of Hon. Elisha May, national bank examiner, for so arranging the dates of his examinations as to have made this possible.

On July 7, 1896, I assisted the State Auditor in the examination of the accounts of Hon. Henry F. Field, state treasurer. Vouchers were found for all money paid out, the trust funds in his hands duly accounted for, and the books in his office properly kept.

August 10th and 11th at Lunenburg I examined the books and papers of Hon. F. D. Hale, state auditor, and found vouchers for orders drawn upon the State Treasurer, and the books and accounts in his office to have been kept correctly and in a business-like manner.

My appointment as Inspector of Finance was made to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. Fred E. Smith, which took effect November 30th, 1895.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED G. FIELD,

Inspector of Finance.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

Commissioner of State Taxes

FOR THE YEARS

1895-96.

REPORT.

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

I have the honor to submit this, my biennial report, for the last biennial period.

The total amount of taxes assessed under the provision of Chapter 81 of the Vermont Statutes, during the biennial period, is $782,758.37, an increase over the amount assessed during the preceding biennial period of $40,607.19. Nearly all of this amount has been paid into the treasury. The only corporation refusing to pay the tax assessed against it is the Brattleboro Street Railway Company, which denies its liability therefor. Negotiations are in progress looking toward a speedy settlement of the controversy.

The law relating to license taxes should be so broadened as to extend its application to mutual companies, such as Building and Loan Associations and Mutual Insurance Companies. And in this connection I repeat the suggestion of my predecessor, that the Commissioner, with the approval of the State Treasurer, should be given the discretion to remit this tax in the case of corporations that have suspended business.

The following is a statement of the taxes assessed during the biennial period:

REPORT

OF THE

Adjutant and Inspector General

FOR 1895-96.

STATE OF VERMONT.

ADJUTANT AND INSPECTOR GENERAL'S OFFICE, }
BURLINGTON, August 1, 1896. }

To His Excellency,

URBAN A. WOODBURY,

Governor and Commander-in-Chief:

SIR—I have the honor to submit my report for the two years ending July 31, 1896, as follows:

The National Guard of this State as shown by the annual returns for the year ending June 30, 1896, consists of 68 officers and 680 enlisted men, organized into one three-battalion regiment of infantry, one four-gun battery of light artillery, and the Norwich cadets, designated by statutes, the Section of Artillery.

PERSONNEL.

The personnel of the command is excellent. During the past two years, the system of examining officers upon a plan proposed by the officers at their school two years ago, has been inaugurated, and its effect has been beneficial to the service. Study among those holding and aspiring to commissions has been increased, and the status of those positions leading up to a commission has been correspondingly improved. Many of the companies have instituted examinations for non-commissioned-officers, and the service generally is attracting an intelligent class of young men, ambitious in military directions.

TARGET PRACTICE.

During the past three years there has been marked improvement in rifle firing. Competitions have been conducted which have stimulated rifle practice at the home stations of companies, and rifle firing has also been made a prominent feature of the annual encampment. Artillery as well as infantry are able to show an effective use of their weapons, at the usual battle ranges.

DRILL.

The inspections show that the officers and men of the companies are well drilled in the school of the soldier and company and are able to effectively apply this elementary instruction to battle tactics, which have been introduced as a prominent feature of the annual encampments. In fact within the past few years the scope of National Guard instruction has been broadened and the tactical movements indicate effective military discipline within the companies.

ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

The infantry arms are the breech-loading Springfield rifles, cal. 45, and while the United States Government has recently adopted the magazine rifle, which is being issued to the regular troops, it is at present in an experimental stage, and the time has not yet come when it seems advisable to attempt any change for the troops of this State, particularly as they now have the latest model, single loading gun made by the government, a weapon whose superiority has not yet been fairly challenged by the short test of service given to the new magazine gun.

The 3-2 inch breech-loading rifles of the light battery are of the latest government model, the same as those in use by the regular artillery, and they are kept in excellent condition.

During the past year, the infantry companies have been equipped with the Mills Field belts, and the use of black leather belts and cartridge boxes has been dispensed with.

UNIFORMS.

The troops are uniformed like those of the United States Army, except that the distinctive State buttons and badges are worn. All clothing is in good condition, and the inspections show a marked improvement in the fit and soldierly neatness of uniforms.

OFFICERS' SCHOOL.

The annual meeting for instruction of commissioned officers authorized by statutes was held at Burlington in February, 1895, and in January, 1896. The meetings were well attended and evinced their growing popularity among the officers. This school is of great benefit to the service, as here early in the winter the practical work for the companies during the year is systematically outlined to all the officers both line and the staff. The two days sessions are so conducted that regulations and tactics are thoroughly gone over to see that officers know the duties pertaining to their grades, and are also prepared to properly instruct those under them. The attendance and hearty co-operation of the officers of the United States army serving in the State enables the assimilation of our methods of instruction with those of the regular service, so that our National Guardsmen are able to shape their service in accordance with the modern methods of warfare.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT.

The annual encampment authorized by law was held at Brattleboro in August, 1894, and at Fairlee in August, 1895, with Brigadier-General Julius J. Estey in command. His detailed reports are hereto appended. I was present during these encampments, and made very careful inspection of troops and witnessed all their manoeuvres. It has been my pleasure to inspect the troops and encamp with them for many years, and a careful consideration of every feature of the last encampment induces me to report that our troops have attained a soldierly proficiency in directions which formerly we did not even attempt instruction, and the policy of inviting regular troops to encamp with us and the methodical progressive course of instruction which has been followed, under the direction of an army officer, detailed by the War Department, for duty under the Governor of the State, have done much towards the accomplishment of this result. For two years Capt. Stone's Company of the 21st U. S. Infantry has encamped with the State troops, and at the last encampment Major Lewis T. Morris with Capt. Hardie's troop of the 3rd U. S. Cavalry, were also with us in camp, Lieut. Dickerman of the 3d U. S. Cavalry, Lieut. Gatchel of the 4th U. S. Artillery and Lieut. Keene of the 24th U. S. Infantry have assisted Captain Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry, the officer regularly detailed for duty with the National Guard, in executing the details of instruction at these encampments. So fortunate have we been in all of these assignments that our troops desire a continuance of such associations with the regular service.

PERMANENT CAMP GROUND.

The purchase of a permanent camp ground, adjoining Fort Ethan Allen, as authorized by the Legislature at its last session will give new impetus to the present flattering prosperity of our National Guard. This ground has been graded and seeded and will be ready for use by another year. It was very fortunately secured adjacent to this U. S. Post, which has a perfectly equipped target range that the War Department will place at our disposal during the week of camp; an opportunity rarely enjoyed by National Guardsmen.

Our patriotic citizens who purchased and donated the land on which this post was built, our senators and congressmen and the officials of the War Department, have been fully alive to the interests of our troops in locating this garrison of regular troops in our State, and their presence has already greatly increased the military spirit.

The policy of the War Department to assist and improve our militia will be greatly facilitated, the general staff of the State will be relieved of many perplexing alternatives in arranging for our annual encampments, and the State and companies save transportation money when we become permanently located on these grounds.

MILITARY COLLEGES.

The students of three educational institutions in the State have military instruction under an officer of the U. S. Army, detailed by the War Department as professor of military science and tactics, and the army regulations require the names of the three graduates most proficient in military subjects to be reported to the Adjutant General of the Army, and also to the Adjutant General of the State.

The following were so reported:

University of Vermont, Burlington, by Captain Herbert E. Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry, professor of Military Science and Tactics:

1. Thomas H. Canfield, Jr., Burlington, Vt.
2. Sidney F. Weston, Cascadeville, N. Y.
3. Norris D. Blake, Eden, Vt.

Norwich University, Northfield, by 1st Lieut. Henry W. Hovey, 24th U. S. Infantry, professor of Military Science and Tactics:

1. James L. Averill, Northfield, Vt.
2. Charles S. Carleton, Cumberland Mills, Me.
3. Herbert T. Clark, Northfield, Vt.

Vermont Academy, Saxton's River, by 1st Lieut. S. M. Foote, 4th U. S. Artillery, professor of Military Science and Tactics:

1. Willifred E. Hunt, North Charlestown, N. H.
2. Ernest H. Gilbert, Penacook, N. H.
3. David A. Fox, Jr., Clinton, Conn.

VERMONT SOLDIERS' HOME AT BENNINGTON.

Although the management of the Soldiers' Home does not come within the jurisdiction of this office, it seems appropriate to speak of the excellent work that is being done there where the disabled veterans of the war for the Union are receiving the best care possible at the hands of a grateful people.

This Home was organized by an Act of Legislature during the session of 1886, on the 18th of May, 1887, since which time it has received within its doors 286 soldiers; of this number, 68 have died and 127 have been discharged, leaving a membership of 91 present or absent on furlough. The hospital has a capacity of 26 beds, and 21 men are at this time cared for, six of whom are over eighty years of age.

The new addition to the main building of 40 x 32 feet will make it 140 feet long, and three stories high, with a dining room having a seating capacity of over one hundred; there is also a large smoking room, a reading room, and 33 additional beds. As I understand, this addition is being built from the funds received from the sale of land by the trustees.

The National and State Soldiers' Homes all have the largest membership now since their organization, and from the present outlook the high water mark has not yet been reached, nor will it be for some years to come. It is gratifying to know that during the past year more interest than ever has been shown in the prosperity and maintenance of the Vermont Soldiers' Home; this is not confined to the veteran soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic, to the Woman's Relief Corps, or to the Sons of Veterans, but includes the people who do not forget the men who helped to save the Union. Under the management of Colonel Robert J. Coffey, superintendent, and his estimable wife as matron, the comforts of our Vermont soldiers are well looked after.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

In my former reports I have advised increasing our National Guard, and especially advised adding a troop of cavalry, but since the coming of a squadron of the U. S. Cavalry in our midst the necessity for such increase is to some extent obviated. I do not this year recommend any material increase, but there should be legislation authorizing a small hospital corps, consisting of two hospital stewards and ten privates. This is simply in keeping with the change in army organization. Formerly the U. S. Army regulations provided for the hospital attendants being supplied by men detailed from companies according to our present custom, but the regulation now prescribes that extra men be especially enlisted for hospital service.

The cannoneers of the light battery have no defensive weapons. Pistols are their proper small arms and should be provided to complete the equipment of the Battery. It is also important that each man of both infantry and artillery be provided with the half of a shelter tent. It is a part of his necessary equipment for field service, not only at night for a cover but by day to form with his blanket a roll to take the place of the blanket bag, which our troops do not have and which I do not at present advise procuring, as the government is considering a change in the matter of the "soldier's pack." As soon as the allotment for arms will allow, the State should have at least one small Gatling or a similar machine gun for use with infantry. It need not entail any new organization, as it should be given to one of the infantry companies.

In closing this report I desire to thank your Excellency for the consideration shown me in the performance of my duties; the officers of the Staff for many courtesies received at their hands, my assistant at the Montpelier office, Mrs. James S. Peck, whose faithful and painstaking attention to the many perplexing details pertaining to the interests of Vermont veterans is worthy of the highest commendation; the officers and men of the Vermont National Guard for their hearty co-operation, steadfastness, and patriotic zeal, in a work which requires so much time, patience and energy; the officers of the United States Army serving within the borders of the State, and especially Captain Herbert E. Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry, Assistant Inspector General upon your Staff, whose untiring energy, diligence and persistent work have in a large degree been the means of the decided improvement in the National Guard of this State.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

THEODORE S. PECK,

Adjutant General.

STATE OF VERMONT.

OFFICE OF THE QUARTERMASTER GENERAL, }
FAIRLEE, June 30th, 1896.. }

To Major General T. S. Peck, Adjutant and Inspector General.

SIR:—As directed by law, I have the honor to submit the biennial report of the current expense of the Quartermaster General's department for the two years ending June 30th, 1896.

The duties of the Quartermaster General include also those of Commissary General, Paymaster General and Chief of Ordnance.

I visited all the organized military companies in the state in June, 1895 and 1896, examined their uniforms and equipments, and all state property in their possession. Found the uniforms in good condition; very little, if anything, missing of state property.

The service arm of the state is the Springfield rifle, calibre 45, and the condition of those in possession of the several organizations of the National Guard was pronounced by the Inspector to be good, and serviceable for actual service.

During the two years there has been a great improvement in the armories and an addition of expense in rent accordingly. The insurance rates in the state having been increased, has tended to increase the insurance fully one third or more.

February 8, 1895, the armory at St. Albans was destroyed by fire. The property of the state in hands of Company B was a total loss. We held an insurance of $1,200 upon this property. Six hundred and seven dollars has been expended in partially uniforming the company. The balance remains in my hands to finish the equipments.

April 12, 1896, the armory at Newport was destroyed by fire, rendering a total loss of all state property in the hands of Company I, upon which we held an insurance of $1,500. That is yet due from the insurance companies. Soon as received will be expended in new uniforms and equipments.

Extended and itemized reports of annual encampments, June drills, officers' schools, and target practice, Ft. Ethan Allen, will be made by Adjutant and Inspector General T. S. Peck and Assistant Inspector, Capt. H. E. Tutherly, U. S. A.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

W. H. GILMORE,

Quartermaster General.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE,
VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,
BRATTLEBORO, Vt., Aug. 27, 1894. }

Gen. T. S. Peck, Adjutant and Inspector-General.

SIR—I have the honor to report that in compliance with G. O. No. 23, A. G. O., dated June 27th, 1894, the First Brigade, Vermont National Guard, was encamped at Brattleboro, Vt., from Monday, August 13th, to Saturday, August 18th, 1894, inclusive.

The grounds selected for the encampment were the same used during a part of the war as a rendezvous for the Vermont troops before going to the front, and the camp was named Camp Governor Holbrook, in honor of our war governor, Hon. Frederick Holbrook, who was commander-in-chief during the days when the troops were rendezvoused on this ground, and who is now the only living war governor.

In ordinary times the ground is an excellent one for such an encampment, but owing to the extreme drouth which has prevailed in this section for the last two months, it had become very dry and was extremely dusty.

Camp was made by Co. I, 1st Regiment Infantry, in compliance with G. O. No. 4, June 30th, from these headquarters, and as reported by the Brigade and Regimental Quartermasters, was pitched with less trouble and friction, and in equally as good if not better shape than ever before, and they were unanimous in the hope that future encampments might be pitched in the same manner, by some one company of the brigade.

The troops arrived in camp on schedule time, Monday afternoon, at about two o'clock. The regular routine of duty was carried out after the first day, with the exception of Wednesday, when the entire 1st Regiment of Infantry were detailed to escort His Excellency, the Governor, to camp, and a slight shower interfered with the continuation of the battalion drill for that afternoon. The companies, however, were drilled in their own company streets nearly the entire time for the afternoon drill.

On Thursday morning, Aug. 16th, the several teams from the different organizations of the brigade reported to Maj. Nelson, Brigade Inspector of Rifle Practice, at the range, to compete for the centennial trophy, which resulted in its again being won by Co. I, who have held it during the past two years, with a slight improvement in the total score, as will be seen by the report of the Inspector of Rifle Practice. The wind was very treacherous or a very much better score would probably have been made by the several teams.

In the afternoon of the same day the range was occupied by individual competitors for the three prizes offered by the several Inspectors of Rifle Practice, which resulted in the first prize being won by Private Thos. Caswell of Co. E, Barre, with a score of twenty-three out of a possible twenty-five; the second prize by Private W. P. Springer of Co. F, Northfield, with a score of twenty-two out of a possible twenty-five; and the third by Private Horace French of Co. I, Brattleboro, with a score of twenty-two out of a possible twenty-five. The competition was based on the same provision as last year, that each competitor be obliged to show a record of sixty out of a possible seventy-five during the practice season. For full report I would respectfully refer you to the report of the Inspector of Rifle Practice, which is herewith transmitted.

During the drill hour Friday morning the whole command was carefully and minutely inspected by Capt. H. E. Tutherly, 1st Regiment Cavalry, U. S. A., especially detailed by the War Department for this purpose, details of which, I have no doubt, will come to your office in due season.

During the drill hour Friday afternoon the brigade was reviewed by His Excellency, Governor Levi K. Fuller, Commander-in-Chief, with the addition of Co. F, 21st Regiment Infantry, U. S. A., who were formed on the right of the brigade. The whole brigade made an excellent appearance, and were highly complimented both for their steadiness and appearance.

Immediately after the review, the trophy and the individual prizes were presented by the Governor, as well as the service medals to the different members of the brigade who were entitled to the same, after which the 1st Light Battery gave an exhibition of target practice, details of which are given by Capt. Weld in his report herewith transmitted.

Owing to quite a dense fog, Saturday morning, the general reveille was not sounded, as had been intended, so that camp was struck as the tents became dry. The companies left camp in season for the trains leaving the station for the first section at 10 o'clock, which embraced Companies D, E, F, G, H, and L, and the second section at 10:30, taking Companies A, B, C, K, and M. The State property was all loaded on board the cars in good condition before 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The weather was delightful, and had it not been for the dust it would have been, I think, the pleasantest camp we have had in years. As it was, I think better work was done by the entire brigade than in any previous year. I am very sure that the State of Vermont has an organized force which would be ready to meet any emergency at very short notice.

The percentage of attendance, as shown by the consolidated morning reports for the entire encampment, was 97.8 per cent. The largest attendance on any one day was on the 16th, when there were reported 730.

The daily reports of the sanitary inspection by the Brigade Surgeon were so much better than in any previous encampment that I feel great pride in submitting report of one of the days of the encampment, which you will find herewith.

No little credit for the appearance of the troops, I feel, is due to our friend, Capt. Tutherly, who has been untiring in his efforts during the past year and a half to bring our National Guard up to the highest possible efficiency.

We are also under very great obligations to the War Department for kindly permitting Co. F, 21st Infantry, U. S. A., from the Plattsburgh barracks, to encamp with us. Both the example and deportment of the men of this command were such as I am sure will be a permanent object lesson to every member of the National Guard. I wish to acknowledge through you to Capt. and Bt. Col. E. W. Stone, and his lieutenants, as well as the men, our appreciation of their efforts in our behalf.

We are also greatly indebted to 1st Lieut. G. W. Gatchell, 5th Artillery, U. S. A., and 1st Lieut. H. C. Keene, Jr., 24th Infantry, U. S. A., for their services, which were invaluable during the entire encampment.

I herewith transmit the reports of Col. Kinsman, Capt. Weld, Maj. Nelson and Brigade Surgeon Jenne.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Brigadier General Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS 1ST REGIMENT, VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD, }
RUTLAND, August 25th, 1894. }

GENERAL JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Commanding 1st Brigade, V. N. G.

SIR:—I have the honor to report that in obedience to General Order No. 23, Adjutant General's Office, and No. 4, Brigade Headquarters, the several companies comprising the 1st Regiment, Vermont National Guard, rendezvoused at Brattleboro, Vt., August 18th to 18th instant, inclusive, for the purpose of discipline and instruction.

The companies arrived promptly on schedule time and were marched to camp by Lieutenant Colonel Geo. H. Bond, preceded by the Brattleboro military band and the bugle corps of the Regiment.

Guard mounting was held as soon as dinner was over and dress parade was held at the hour designated in the routine of duty promulgated and published from Brigade Headquarters.

Commencing Tuesday morning at reveille the routine of duty was closely followed throughout the entire encampment, and the amount of work done and the improvement noted from day to day was very marked, and at the close of the encampment the universal opinion was expressed that the National Guard were never before in as good a state of efficiency as now.

The consolidated morning reports show an average attendance of about ninety-eight per cent. of the entire strength of the command present for duty.

The Surgeon's report shows a larger percentage of sickness than for several years, but nearly all the cases treated were for temporary ailments directly traceable, no doubt, to the change of living, the extreme heat during the day and exceedingly cold nights.

Friday morning, at the regular hour for drill, the battalion were inspected by the Adjutant and Inspector-General, T. S. Peck, and Capt. H. E. Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry, and in the afternoon the regiment joined in the review of the Brigade by His Excellency, Governor Fuller, when the correct alignments of the several companies and the soldierly appearance of the men was freely acknowledged by all.

I am pleased to report that the conduct of the men during the entire encampment could hardly be improved upon, each company striving by all honorable means to excel.

The improvement over former years in guard duty and military courtesy was especially noticeable and also the personal conduct of the men.

The benefits derived from one extra day were so plainly visible that I trust hereafter that the encampments will be of not less than eight days duration, and that before another year we may be located in a permanent camp and that the troops may be supplied with everything necessary for field equipment, including canvas leggings and service belts.

I desire to acknowledge the benefit derived from the exhibition drills given by Co. F, 21st U. S. Infantry, who were camped near us and whose almost faultless drill and fine soldierly bearing could not fail of being a valuable object lesson to the entire command.

I desire also to express my grateful thanks to Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry, Lieutenant Gatchell, 1st Artillery, Lieutenant Kean, 24th U. S. Infantry, Captain and Bt. Colonel Stone, and Lieutenants Parmenter and Lanton, 21st Infantry, for valuable assistance rendered myself and command.

To the faithful and efficient work of the field officers and my personal staff and to the careful and painstaking work of the entire command during the past year I attribute much of the success of the encampment.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

C. C. KINSMAN,

Col. Comd'g Reg't.

BURLINGTON, VT., August 20, 1894.

GENERAL J. J. ESTEY,

Commanding 1st Brigade, V. N. G.

SIR:—I have the honor to report that in compliance with General Orders No. 23, A. G. O., dated June 27th, 1894, and General Orders No. 4, from Brigade Headquarters, dated June 30, 1894, the Battery under my command went into camp at Brattleboro August 13th to 18th, inclusive, upon the grounds known as the Old Camp Grounds, made historic in the days of the rebellion by being the rendezvous of the Vermont troops. It is about one mile south of the station upon an elevation of about two hundred feet, and overlooks the Connecticut River Valley and Wautastaquet Mountain.

The camp was known as Camp Governor Holbrook in honor of the war governor who bears this name and who still resides in Brattleboro.

The first four days the Battery went through the usual routine of duty performed by light batteries. The discipline of the men was excellent and they performed their duty with promptness. Owing to the long drouth the nature of the ground was such that but few rapid movements were undertaken as the dust was so dense it made it unsafe for both men and horses.

Friday the Battery was inspected by His Excellency, assisted by Captain Herbert E. Tutherly, 1st U. S. Cavalry; in the afternoon with the brigade we were reviewed by the Governor and staff.

Immediately after review the Battery participated in target practice, fixing at a target 8 x 12, placed upon Wautastaquet Mountain, at a distance of a little over two thousand yards, and with excellent results.

While in camp new fixtures were put in the limber chests by a representative of the U. S. Ordnance Department so that fixed ammunition could be carried with less danger from explosion. I had the guns and carriages thoroughly inspected by this gentleman, who pronounced them in the best condition of any he has inspected, considering the amount of service they had seen.

I desire to call your attention to the limber chests. I do recommend that those I have be exchanged with the U. S. Government for their later improved, as they are much stronger and safer. I urge this matter and sincerely hope it will be acted upon at once.

Thanking yourself and all officers for valuable instruction given and courtesy shown,

I remain,

Your obedient servant,

FRED D. WELD,

Capt. Commanding 1st Lt. Battery.

Camp Gov. Holbrook, Brattleboro, Vt.,
August 18th, 1894.

Lieut.-Col. and Brig. Surgeon.

BURLINGTON, VT., September 18, 1894.

ADJUTANT-GENERAL OF VERMONT,

SIR :—Having been designated by the War Department, upon the application of the Governor of Vermont, to inspect the National Guard of Vermont at the annual encampment held at Brattleboro from August 13 to August 18, 1894, and having made an extensive report to the War Department according to prescribed forms, I respectfully submit a copy of that report as the most appropriate report to present to you while acting in the dual capacity of inspector for the National and State Governments. The report contains all that I should say in a separate report, and in addition formulates information that may be useful in your office. It is as follows:

“BURLINGTON, VT., August 23, 1894.

Officer in Charge, Military Information Division, War Department, Washington. D. C.

SIR:—In compliance with instructions from the Adjutant-General of the Army, conveyed to me by your letter of June 23, 1894, I have the honor to submit the following report of my attendance at the annual encampment of the National Guard of Vermont at Brattleboro, Vt., August 13 to August 18, 1894.

I arrived at Brattleboro August 18, on the same train with the companies that came from other towns, and observed the exercises of the encampment until the departure of the troops to their homes, August 18.

All the companies from other towns arrived at Brattleboro at 12.30 p. m. on Monday, August 18, the first day designated for the encampment. The entire National Guard of the State was, therefore, practically mobilized at this place, in the south-east corner of the State, between the hours of 4 A. M. and 12.30 P. M. of the same day, the two special trains bearing them arriving within a few moments of each other.

The conduct of the troops in transit was orderly, and their disembarkation from the train and march to camp expeditiously and systematically conducted.

(1-2) OFFICIAL DESIGNATION AND STRENGTH OF TROOPS.

The State troops are officially designated the National Guard of Vermont. The 'organized' strength is the maximum strength authorized by law, consisting of the Governor's staff (13), one Brigadier-General, Staff and Non-Commissioned Staff (11), one Battery of Light Artillery (80), one Regiment of Infantry (637), and the Norwich Cadets—an independent command of the organized militia—(49); the aggregate organized strength being 790 officers and enlisted men. Ninety-eight per cent. (98%) of this force have been in camp this year. The Norwich Cadets, however, encamped by themselves at Northfield in June last. Nine hundred and seventy-eight (978) per cent. of the aggregate strength of the Brigade were present at the encampment at Brattleboro, August 18th to 18th.

There are 44,164 men in the State liable to military duty, according to the census of 1890.

(3) NUMBER, ORGANIZATION AND STATIONS OF TROOPS.

The headquarters of the Governor and Commander-in-Chief are at his home in Brattleboro, and his Staff numbers thirteen officers, including the heads of Staff Departments. The heads of Staff Departments have their offices at their homes, viz. :

1 Adjutant and Inspector-General, rank Brigadier-General, Theodore S. Peck; office, Burlington.

1 Quartermaster-General, rank Brigadier-General, William H. Gilmore; office, Fairlee.

1 Judge Advocate-General, rank Brigadier-General, F. E. Alfred; office, Newport.

1 Surgeon-General, rank Brigadier-General, Daniel P. Webster; office, Brattleboro.

1 Inspector of Rifle Practice, rank Colonel.

7 Aides-de-Camp, rank Colonel.

1 Military Store-keeper, rank Captain.

The troops of the State constitute one brigade, officially designated the 'First Brigade,' with headquarters at Brattleboro, Brigadier-General Julius J. Estey commanding.

The Brigade Staff and Non-Commissioned Staff consist of

- 1 Assistant Adjutant-General, rank Lieutenant-Colonel.
 - 1 Assistant Quartermaster-General, rank Lieutenant-Colonel.
 - 1 Brigade Surgeon, rank Lieutenant-Colonel.
 - 1 Provost Marshal, rank Major.
 - 1 Inspector of Rifle Practice, rank Major.
 - 2 Aides-de-Camp, rank Captain
 - 3 Non-commissioned Staff officers, rank Sergeant.
- Total, 11.

There is one regiment of infantry (First Vermont), with headquarters at Rutland, Col. C. C. Kinsman commanding, and Lieutenant-Colonel George H. Bond, residing at Brattleboro. It consists of three battalions of four companies each, each company having three officers and 48 men. Total, 637.

There is no band in the enlisted strength of the Regiment. An excellent band from Brattleboro was hired for the encampment.

The Regimental Field and Staff consist of:

- 1 Colonel, 1 Lieutenant-Colonel, 3 Majors.
 - 1 Adjutant, rank 1st Lieutenant.
 - 1 Quartermaster, rank 1st Lieutenant.
 - 1 Inspector of Rifle Practice, rank Captain.
 - 1 Surgeon, rank Major.
 - 2 Assistant Surgeons, rank 1st Lieutenant.
 - 1 Chaplain, rank Captain.
- Total, 12.

The Regimental Non-Commissioned Staff consists of:

- 1 Sergeant Major, 1 Quartermaster Sergeant, 1 Hospital Steward, 1 Drum Major, 1 Chief Bugler, 2 Color Sergeants. Total, 7.

There are three Battalion Adjutants, with the rank of 2nd Lieutenant, and three Battalion Sergeant Majors. Total, 6.

The companies are assigned to three battalions according to territorial proximity. The First Battalion, commanded by Major John H. Watson, of Bradford, consists of Company B, St. Albans (Captain J. H. Mimms), Company G, Bradford (Captain H. B. Chamberlin), Company L, Newport (Captain J. F. Lambert), Company D, St. Johnsbury (Captain C. M. Bonett). The Second Battalion, commanded by Major C. W. Evans, of Bennington, consists of Company C, Brandon (Captain J. W. Symons), Company A, Rutland (Captain H. E. Dyer), Company M, Burlington (Captain F. R. Wells), and Company K, Bennington (Captain H. D. Fillmore). The Third Battalion, commanded by Major O. D. Clark, of Montpelier, consists of Company E, Barre (Captain F. B. Mudgett), Company H, Montpelier (Captain A. G. Eaton), Company F, Northfield (Captain F. L. Howe), and Company I, Brattleboro (Captain J. G. Estey).

There is one Light Battery, officially designated 'First Light Battery,' located at Brattleboro (Captain Fred D. Weld). It is a four-gun battery, completely equipped with horses, available at short notice, and has 8 officers and 72 enlisted men. Total, 80.

(4) GENERAL OFFICERS.

The State has one Brigadier-General of the 'Line,' who is elected by the Legislature biennially, and commands the First Brigade. (Four other general officers named under the heading 'Staff Departments'.)

(5) BRIGADE, REGIMENTAL AND BATTALION FIELD AND STAFF.

(Manner of Appointment.)

The Brigade Commander appoints his Staff subject to the approval of the Governor.

The Regimental Field Officers are elected by the company officers. Assignments of majors and companies to battalions are made by the Brigade Commander. The Regimental Staff are nominated by the Regimental Commander, subject to the approval of the Governor, and the Regimental Non-Commissioned Staff are appointed by the Regimental Commander. The Battalion Staffs are similarly selected by the Battalion Commanders.

(6) COMPANY OFFICERS.

Captains and lieutenants of companies are elected by the enlisted men of the company in which they are to serve. There are no examinations for officers.

(7) STAFF DEPARTMENTS.

(Rank and duties of officers, etc.)

The General Staff consists of an Adjutant and Inspector-General, Quartermaster-General and Judge Advocate-General, who are elected biennially by the State Legislature, and a Surgeon-General appointed by the Governor. These officers have the rank of Brigadier General, and are the administrative officers on the Governor's Staff, acting as chiefs of their respective departments. The Adjutant-General also performs the duties of Inspector-General, and the Quartermaster-General provides all supplies—ordnance, subsistence and medical supplies—as well as those usually pertaining to the Quartermaster's Department of the Army.

These staff departments are very efficiently and economically managed. It would be difficult to apply the small amount of money expended for the military service of Vermont with better results. This is largely due to the continued services of especially competent men at the head of the Adjutant-General's and Quartermaster-General's departments, who have carried the work along through the various administrations without change of policy or plans. The officers of the medical department, consisting of a Surgeon-General, Brigade Surgeon, three Regimental Surgeons and one Battery Surgeon, have few official duties except in camp, but the sanitary condition of the encampments under their supervision are very nearly perfect. The average number on daily sick report was less than one per cent. of the command, and the sick received prompt attention and skillful treatment.

The Judge Advocate-General has few duties to perform strictly pertaining to his department. Military discipline is in such a healthy condition that the Court Martial is a tribunal almost unknown in the State.

(8) AMBULANCE AND HOSPITAL CORPS.

The State has no ambulance corps or equipment, and no distinct hospital corps.

One sergeant and twelve privates were detailed from the First Regiment to drill daily under the Regimental Hospital Steward while in camp, as bearers. They also served as hospital attendants.

The equipment consists of three hospital tents, new; eight cots, poor; twelve blankets, good: set of litters, old style, poor; one operating case containing as far as possible what is required by United States regulations; one supply chest; one oil stove; one lantern; one lamp. The hospital service in camp was efficient.

(9) The State has no signal corps.

(10) I have been the Regular Army officer detailed on duty with the State troops, at the request of the Governor of the State, during the past year and a half.

(11) There is no Military or Advisory Board.

(12) ENCAMPMENT.

The State owns no camp ground. It has been the custom to encamp, by turn, in the towns where there are companies. The Brigade encamped for six days, from August 13 to August 18, 1894, on private ground hired for the occasion, about one mile south-west of the town of Brattleboro. The camp was named 'Camp Governor Holbrook' in honor of the State's only surviving 'War Governor.' This ground was the place of rendezvous of ten regiments of infantry and three batteries of artillery during the War of the Rebellion. It is a high plateau, overlooking the Connecticut River, healthful and in every respect adapted to the purpose, except from the drought of this unusual season the dust became oppressive during the last days of the encampment. Water was supplied by pipes from the town. Sinks were well located and properly attended to. Holes were dug near the kitchens for the refuse, and the whole camp was kept thoroughly 'policed.' Inspections were made each day by medical officers, and company rivalry created by publishing each evening at parade the marks given companies by the inspecting officers. The camp was arranged according to United States drill regulations for battalions in column of companies, with tents of each company in two lines facing each other.

Governor Fuller and Staff encamped with the Brigade, and Brigadier-General Julius J. Estey commanded the camp.

Upon application of the Governor of the State, and in compliance with orders from the War Department, Company F, 21st U. S. Infantry, stationed at Plattsburg Barracks, New York, came into camp August 11, two days in advance of the State troops, and remained until August 20, two days after the State camp was broken. The company was commanded by Captain and Brevet Lieutenant-Colonel E. W. Stone, 21st Infantry, and consisted of 3 officers and 51 men. The State troops being especially desirous to pattern after the Regular Army, the presence of this Company became a valuable object lesson, and owing to the judicious manner in which this Company was handled, the excellence of its drills and the deportment of its individual members when out of ranks, the State troops as well as visiting citizens have been inspired with renewed interest and desire to have the United States Army regulations and customs adopted for the State National Guard, even to the manner of living in camp.

(13) MOBILIZATION.

(a) The points of concentration for service in the State would be, for the First Battalion—stationed in the north part—at St. Albans or St. Johnsbury, depending upon which side of the mountain service was required. For the Second Battalion—stationed in the east part—at Montpelier, Brattleboro or White River Junction. For the Third Battalion—stationed in the west part—at Rutland or Burlington. Or if the entire force was required it would naturally assemble at St. Albans, Burlington, Rutland or Bennington, if required on the west side of the mountain, or at St. Johnsbury, Montpelier, White River Junction or Bellows Falls, if required on the east side of the mountain.

(b) The points of concentration for service out of the State would be: On the north, Swanton, Richford or Newport; east, St. Johnsbury, Wells River, White River Junction or Bellows Falls; south, Brattleboro or Bennington; west, St. Albans, Burlington or Rutland.

(c) The Infantry regiment could concentrate for service within the State in about twelve hours, and for service without the State, at any of the border towns mentioned, within twenty-four hours after orders were received. The Battery could be ready to take the field in seven hours.

(d) A General Order has been published from the Adjutant-General's office of the State, providing for an 'emergency call' (copy enclosed marked 'A'), and there is a general understanding between staff officers and company commanders concerning rations for field service. A supply of ammunition is kept in each company armory. Reserve ammunition, blankets and tentage are kept at the arsenal at Montpelier, which could reach the points of concentration as soon as the troops. There are no written strategical plans for State service on file.

(e) Probably 95 per cent. of the present strength would turn out for sixty days service.

(14) STATE APPROPRIATIONS.

No specific appropriations are made. The law authorizes per diem pay for each officer and enlisted man, one day in June, and during such other periods, not to exceed eight days per year, as the Governor may order the troops out for drill and instruction, and the necessary expenses therefor, for armory hire, and the preservation and repair of implements and munitions of war are paid by the State Treasurer upon estimates made by the Quartermaster-General and approved by the Governor. These amount annually to about $15,000.

(15) NATIONAL APPROPRIATIONS.

The State allotment for the year ending 1893 was $3,486.48.

(16) ARMAMENT (CAVALRY, ARTILLERY AND INFANTRY).

There is no cavalry in the State, and no armament therefor, except a few cavalry sabres, which are kept in the arsenal at Montpelier. The Light Battery is armed with sabres and four new 3 2 inch steel B. L. rifle guns, with carriages, caissons and implements complete. All in excellent condition.

The Infantry is armed with the Springfield B. L. rifles, cal. 45-100.

The Infantry guns are serviceable ; 90 per cent. are well kept, 10 per cent. are more or less rusty. A marked difference was noticeable in the condition of the guns of the different companies.

(17) EQUIPMENT—CAVALRY, ARTILLERY, INFANTRY.

The State has no cavalry equipments except a few saddles, bridles and saddle cloths, kept in the arsenal for the use of the Staff officers. The Artillery is equipped with sabre belts and full battery equipments, in good condition. The Infantry have black leather belts, Vermont State belt plates and old-style black leather cartridge boxes, generally in poor condition because much worn, steel bayonet-scarbards with Hoffman attachment, in good condition, haversacks, canteens and tin cups in good condition, but no blanket bags. Three companies have the old-style frame knapsack, and one company has the Mills field cartridge belt, new.

(18) CLOTHING.

The uniform of the Artillery and Infantry is practically the same as that of the same 'Arms' in the United States Army (with the State buttons), consisting of helmet, dress-coat, trousers, overcoat, blouse, forage cap, campaign hat (drab), and white gloves. Two companies have brown leggings. All have woollen blankets issued for the encampment, but at other times stored at the arsenal at Montpelier. There are no uniform shoes. The clothing is in good condition generally. Surplus clothing is not kept on hand, beyond what is required for a selection of sizes.

(19) HORSES.

The State owns no horses. They are hired as occasions require. By a good arrangement, the Battery secures nearly the same horses for the teams each year, their habitual teamsters going with them as drivers, and the officers and sergeants are able to secure nearly the same horses when required, so that the battery can turn out for a drill, or to fire a salute at a very short notice, and with almost as little confusion as a battery of the regular army. Governor Fuller, the present Executive of the State, has for nearly twenty years, previous to his becoming Governor, commanded this Battery and displayed great tact and genius for keeping up a National Guard Battery. By keeping along the same horses and drivers, and drilling the sergeants and drivers in an armory with a complete set of miniature carriages and caissons, he has kept a well drilled battery without incurring expense to the State for horses, except on the days appointed for ceremonies and encampment. The same system is now continued in the Battery, and it is in excellent condition.

With the exception of a few private saddle horses brought to the encampment, the 'mounts' of field and staff officers are poor, as it is impracticable to hire horses suitably broken for such occasions at the various towns where encampments are held, under the itinerant system.

(20) AMMUNITION.

(a) Thirty rounds of service ammunition are habitually kept with the Light Battery, and 3,000 rounds of ball cartridges with each Infantry company.

(b) Seventy rounds of artillery and 35,000 rounds of infantry ball ammunition are kept in the arsenal at Montpelier to be sent to any point required to meet troops.

(21) CAMP AND GARRISON EQUIPAGE.

(a) The State has axes, spades and hatchets, and a full supply of 'wall tents' and three hospital tents, so that each four men are quartered in a wall tent. This tentage is in excellent condition. The State has no conical wall, common or shelter tents. The companies had tent floors, mattresses, gun racks and lockers, canvas awnings over the street, and street lights. These, however, are owned by the companies.

(b) The State owns no field mess outfits. The mess outfits are owned by the companies and are very complete, consisting of crockery and silverware, cook stoves or ranges, and house cooking utensils, portable cook houses and large marquees for dining tents. These are not adapted to regular field service, as it would not be practicable to transport them.

(22) PROPERTY ACCOUNTABILITY.

All State property is issued by the Quartermaster-General upon requisitions, and company commanders make returns annually. The regulations pertaining thereto seem to be complied with.

(23) SUBSISTENCE (RATIONS).

The State does not furnish rations for the regular encampments of instruction. It only gives per diem pay. Companies usually contract with a 'caterer' to supply their meals in camp. The tables were abundantly supplied with well cooked food. The companies have had no actual experience in cooking field rations. The law of the State provides for furnishing subsistence according to the regulations of the United States Army in case the troops are called out for service.

(24) PAY AND ALLOWANCES.

Each officer and enlisted man receives $2.00 per day while on duty on June drill day, and at the annual encampment, but no other money allowances or subsistence. The State pays the railroad fares and for transportation of baggage, and furnishes fuel and straw, and the required horses and their forage. In case troops were ordered out for actual service, their pay and allowances would be those specified in the regulations of the United States Army.

(25) STORES.

(a) Military stores are purchased by the Quartermaster-General upon the order of the Governor, except those received, under allotment, from the national appropriation.

(b) To enable the Command to take the field for sixty days, supplies would be required, in addition to those on hand, about as follows: 600 brown canvas leggings, 700 shelter-tents (halves), 700 jointed poles for shelter-tents, 2,100 shelter-tent pins, 80 camp kettles (large), 80 mess pans (large), 50 hatchets and helms, 24 axes and helms, 12 hand hammers, 3 hand axes, 2 hand saws, 2 nail pullers, 200 lbs. 10d. nails, 24 long-handled shovels, 2 jack screws, 24 short-handled shovels, 2 sledge hammers, 24 pick axes, 6 crow-bars, 4 ambulances, 13 company litters (new style), 12 tarpaulins, 25 wagon covers, 150 wagon bows, 100 galvanized iron buckets, 200 feet picket rope (1½ inch), 200 feet rope (1 inch), 12 cavalry horses for non-commissioned staff officers and orderlies, 12 sets of cavalry horse equipments (complete), 12 pistols and holsters, 12 sabres, 12 sabre belts, plates and slings, 12 sabre knots, 12 pairs spurs and straps, 700 meat ration cans, 700 knives, 700 forks, 700 spoons, 650 Mill's field cartridge belts (for cal. 45 cartridges) with hook attachment for bayonet scabbard, 100,000 ball rifle cartridges (cal. 45), 5,000 ball pistol cartridges, 100 rounds of ammunition for 8-2 inch B. L. rifles (half shells), 1,000 friction primers, 2 small Gatling guns (cal. 45), 70 Buzzacott ovens (or Dutch ovens) large, 10 butcher knives, 2 meat axes, 2 meat saws, 2 platform scales and weights, 2 counter scales and weights. Wagon transportation would best be hired from citizens in the vicinity where required, and rations, fuel, forage and straw, stationery, medicines and commissary stores for sales would have to be purchased in open market or sent from depots as required by the nature of the service, according to the judgment of the Commander or authority organizing the expedition, the supply tables of U. S. Army Regulations governing as to quantities.

(26) DRILLS AND CEREMONIES.

(a) During three days of the encampment there were company and battalion drills both forenoons and afternoons, lasting two hours each. The Infantry companies usually drilled for about an hour and then formed and drilled by battalions. There was a guard mounting each morning and a regimental parade each evening for five days. Escort duty was performed once by the Infantry regiment in escorting the Governor to camp. There was also a brigade review before the Governor of the State. The Infantry troops were inspected by me in company with the Inspector-General of the State, by battalions, and the Battery inspected separately with both the Governor and Inspector-General.

(b) The Infantry company drills in close order, and the manual of arms were very good throughout the encampment. The battalion drills were at first poor, but improved rapidly during the encampment, and the ceremonies during the last days of camp, including review, parades and inspection, were all very well conducted. The Infantry regiment at its last parade made an excellent appearance. The Battery review, inspection and drills, including firing, were conducted in a very creditable manner.

(c) There were no field exercises attempted.

(27) PERSONNEL AND DISCIPLINE.

The personnel of the Command as a whole is very good. It has greatly improved during the past year. A class of young men, many of them students and graduates of colleges and high schools, and others filling responsible business positions, have been attracted to the ranks, and both officers and men have seemed to awaken to a new military spirit, reaching almost to enthusiasm in some of the companies. The discipline of the camp was excellent, and attention of the men to military courtesies noticeable. Having been an observer at two succeeding encampments, I think the marked improvement in the personnel and discipline worthy of especial mention.

(28) THEORETICAL INSTRUCTION.

Officers' schools were held evenings during the encampment. Officers have a two-days' meeting for theoretical instruction each winter, and most of the companies hold company schools in their armories during about three months of the year.

(29) GUARD DUTY.

The ceremony of guard mounting was, at first, executed poorly, but was improved each day and was well executed on the last two mornings of the encampment. Guard duty was generally well performed. There were noticeable exceptions, but officers, non-commissioned officers and sentinels generally, showed that attention had been given to this instruction in most of the companies before coming to camp. There was no outpost duty.

(30) TARGET PRACTICE.

(Cavalry, Artillery, Infantry.)

There was artillery practice at the encampment with solid shot from the 3-2 inch rifle B. L. guns of the Battery, at a little over 2,000 yards. Twenty shots were fired with very good results. The first shot struck very near the target, three hit the target, and all but two struck very near the target, it being placed on a steep side hill where the points of impact could be noted.

There was a rifle competition at camp between the companies for what is known as the Centennial Cup. Each Infantry company and the Battery furnished a team of five officers and men and each member of the team fired five rounds at 200 yards. There was also an individual competition for three medals at 200 yards.

The average of the scores was good, and the best individual score was 28 out of a possible 25.

Rifle practice in gallery and on the outdoor ranges is held by all the companies at home stations. They all have at least 200 yard ranges, and in June there was a competition in each company to determine the four best men at drill and target firing, and these four men from each company and battery were sent to Fort Ethan Allen for a State competition, where firing was held at 200, 300 and 500 yards. The scheme was put in operation last June, and bids fair to awaken great interest in rifle practice. It is a part of the plan to bring the State team thus selected each year into competition with similar teams from the military colleges of the State. All practice is conducted according to Blunt's Small Arms Firing Regulations, except as regards classification. There is a system in operation by which officers and men of the companies are classified according to merit each year, and receive buttons as 'marksmen' and badges as 'sharpshooters.' There has been no pistol practice as yet.

(31) TRANSPORTATION.

No wagons or ambulances are owned by the State. Wagon transportation is hired as needed.

There is a through line of railway travel from Albany, N. Y., to Montreal, Canada, along the east side of Lake Champlain, via Bennington, Vt., Rutland, Vt., Burlington, Vt., Essex Junction, Vt., St. Albans, Vt., and Swanton, Vt., over the Central Vermont R. R.; from St. Johns, Canada, to Rutland, Vt., and from thence to Albany, N. Y., over the Bennington and Rutland, Fitchburg, and Delaware and Hudson Company R. R.

There is another through line of railroad travel from Springfield, Mass., to Montreal, Canada, along the east side of Vermont up the Connecticut River, via Brattleboro, Vt., Bellows Falls, Vt., White River Junction, Vt., Wells River, Vt., St. Johnsbury, Vt., and Newport, Vt. (on Lake Memphremagog), over the Boston and Maine R. R. system and connecting lines.

The Central Vermont R. R. has branch roads crossing the State of Vermont diagonally, and joining these two main north and south lines from Rutland to Bellows Falls, and from Essex Junction, via Montpelier, Vt., to White River Junction, Vt. There is also a cross line connecting Montpelier, Vt., with Wells River, Vt., a town on the Connecticut River. Another cross line connects Burlington, Vt., and St. Johnsbury, Vt., and still another connects Newport (on Lake Memphremagog), Vt., and Swanton, Vt., near the northern extremity of Lake Champlain, which leads west, via Rouses Point, N. Y., to Ogdensburg, N. Y.

During the summer months, from May to October, inclusive, there is steamboat transportation connecting with railways from Ticonderoga, N. Y., at the south end of Lake Champlain, north to Burlington, Vt., and across the lake to Plattsburg, N. Y. There is also water transportation by canal boats from the Hudson River to Montreal, Canada, through the waters of Lake Champlain, and those leading north and south from this lake.

Lake Memphremagog, partly in Vermont and partly in Canada, has steamboat transportation, but no navigable outlet. (See map of Vermont appended, marked B.)

(32) MILITARY LAW OF STATE.

Section 3777, Revised Statutes of Vermont, 1880, provides for the Governor of the State calling into the service of the United States as many of the militia as may be required, upon the requisition of the President, in case of war or invasion, or to prevent insurrection or invasion. And when troops are so called out for preparation for active service, it is provided that they shall be governed and drilled under the regulation prescribed for the U. S. Army.

(33) REGULATIONS.

The U. S. Army regulations are issued for the use of the National Guard of the State, and also a small pamphlet published in 1885, containing the State legislation affecting the military service, and forms that have been prescribed in accordance therewith from time to time by the Commander-in-Chief.

(34) MAPS.

There are good State and county maps in the Adjutant-General's office. The appended Rand and McNally map, marked 'B,' is the most reliable copy that I can procure. It has the railways of the State complete, and the only navigable waterway, Lake Champlain. I have indicated on this map, as requested in your letter, the location of Brigade and Regimental Headquarters, and the Companies and Battery of the National Guard of the State, and the only arsenal, which is at Montpelier.

(35) ARMORIES.

No armory buildings are owned by the State, but rooms or buildings are hired by the State for each company and the Battery at their home stations.

(36) ARSENALS.

There is but one arsenal, located at the Capitol of the State, Montpelier. It is a large, brick building, adequate to its purpose, located on high and dry ground, apart from other buildings, and the stores therein are systematically arranged and well cared for.

(37) INDEPENDENT COMMANDS.

The Section Artillery (Norwich Cadets) at Northfield, constitute the only separate or independent command of the State Militia, and is a valuable adjunct, as nowhere in the State is military drill and discipline so perfect; and the graduates will, as time goes on, be found in the list of officers of the State troops, and greatly help the service.

(38) RECOMMENDATIONS.

I would advise examinations for officers, the officers having strongly expressed themselves in favor of such examinations, by a vote taken at officers' school last winter. I believe the examination should be made comparatively light during the first year of its operation, and that the standard schedule should go into effect after one year's publication. The examination should be both physical and mental, and the mental examination both theoretical and practical, and comprise the common English branches, drill regulations pertaining to the officer's 'arm' of the service, guard duty and firing regulations.

I would advise securing a permanent camp-ground, on or near the U. S. Reservation of Fort Ethan Allen, in order that the target range at that post may be used by the State troops, and that both services may encamp together and unite for field manœuvres. The troops at Plattsburg Barracks, N. Y., and Fort Ethan Allen, united with the Vermont State troops, would constitute an excellent command for this purpose, and the 600-acre reservation of Fort Ethan Allen an admirable ground to manœuvre upon.

If the weekly armory drills of the companies of the State be kept up enthusiastically during the year, and the year's work systematized, the companies might come to the encampment prepared for field exercises, and men would discover a purpose in their home drills beyond the simple ceremonies of parade, guard mounting and review, and the scope of instruction extended.

I think that companies should be supplied with brown canvas leggings, new black belts and McKeever cartridge boxes, new belt plates (of metal that does not tarnish), shelter-tents (new style with ends), and jointed poles with pins therefor. With these shelter-tents blanket rolls could be formed for field service. As new tents are procured I think it would be well to get the conical wall tents; when bayonet scabbards are procured the 'hook' attachment should be secured instead of the Hoffman attachment, and as fast as practicable the Infantry companies should be provided with the Mills' field cartridge belt, but I think they should have the 'worn' black dress belts and cartridge boxes now in use replaced by new ones first.

The men should have a meat ration can, knife, fork and spoon in their haversacks. The 'Centennial Trophy' cup having been won three times by the same company at 'team shooting,' if the Fort Ethan Allen range be available, I would advise that all officers and men of the companies fire five rounds at 200 yards in the competition, that the company making the highest aggregate percentage be declared the winning company, and that when the cup shall be won three times by the same company in this way it become the property of that company. I think that greater benefits will thus accrue to the companies than by the present 'team' system, as now only a small percentage participate, and these are frequently enlisted and coached simply for this one purpose.

I think that the State should have one small Gatling or Hotchkiss gun, and that there should be target practice with it at every encampment, that troops and citizens may see its effect.

Pistol practice should also be conducted for officers. One small 'mortar' should also be a part of the State armament and its effect shown the troops by firing. The people of the State would gather from all sections to witness the practical work of such an encampment as I have suggested, and more liberal appropriations for the military service would result. There was probably a greater popular interest displayed in the artillery target firing at this year's encampment than any other exercises on the programme.

The subject of riding and 'mounts' for the field and staff officers is one needing the most attention of any in the State service at present. Probably not five per cent. of the young men who enter the service are skilled in horsemanship, and if they are it is not in the direction of military riding. There are no facilities offered for learning to ride after entering the military service. A few officers own and take to the encampment each year fine and well trained horses, but four-fifths of the field and staff officers attempt to ride animals entirely inappropriate for occasions of drill and ceremony, because suitable horses are not available for hire.

The U. S. Cavalry garrison, soon to be stationed at Fort Ethan Allen, will naturally attract attention to this subject, but some measures will need to be taken for supplying trained horses and giving instruction to those who are to be mounted in the service before desirable results will be accomplished in this direction.

There are three educational institutions in the State having military instruction under army officers as a part of their curriculums (the University of Vermont, Norwich University and Vermont Academy), which are now in very harmonious relations with the State National Guard. These institutions graduate more than fifty young men each year, mostly 'Vermonters' who are fast drifting into the State service. A good and effective way to improve the horsemanship in the military service would be to make it a part of the cadet instruction at these institutions of learning, and in connection therewith establish an officers' riding school at the permanent camp ground during the summer months. This can be accomplished very economically in the following way. Let either the State or National government supply about twelve horses (which can be purchased in northern Vermont for $100.00 each), with cavalry equipments, sabres and pistols to use with the horses, and let each of the three educational institutions use, forage and care for the horses three months each per year, and the National Guard do the same during the three months constituting the vacation season of the colleges (June 15 to September 15), keeping them at the permanent camp ground available for an officers' riding school and for mounting field and staff officers at encampments. With this nucleus of trained horses in connection with the private horses now owned and the increased number of private animals that a riding school would stimulate, five or six years time would insure not only the field staff and artillery officers being well mounted at the encampments but a fine cavalry troop would grow out of the stimulated interest.

Vermont has, in times past, been famous for her horses and has now plenty of good stock on her farms. A good cavalry troop with a black or bay 'mount' would not only give spirit to the National Guard service, but would be directly in the interest of one of the leading agricultural industries of the State. I believe that the National government should do more than it does to encourage and assist the mounted service in States. Only a small percentage of the youth of this generation are learning to ride, and there is also need of directing horsebreeders to that class of horses suited to the cavalry service, viz., the intermediate grade between the 'truck horse' and the 'trotter,' what is usually known as the 'business horse,' weighing between ten and eleven hundred pounds, short coupled, active and enduring.

(39) REMARKS.

In this report I have followed the schedule furnished me therefor. In conclusion I may add that the National Guard of Vermont, though small in numbers, may be reckoned as efficient and available at any time for field service. It is made up of an intelligent body of officers and men, loyal to the State and Nation, and to each other, and the military affairs of the State are conducted with method and without friction.

I wish to make acknowledgment to Governor Fuller, and to the officers of his Staff, and to General Julius J. Estey and his entire command for most courteous and friendly treatment, not only at this encampment, but during the eighteen months previous service with them.

I am especially indebted to Adjutant-General Theodore S. Peck and Quartermaster-General William H. Gilmore, with whom official and personal relations have naturally been closer than any others, for generous and valuable assistance and loyal support; to Lieut. H. C. Keene, Jr., 24th Infantry, and Lieut. George W. Gatchell, 4th Artillery, for material assistance in gaining information and giving instruction, and to Col. E. W. Stone, Lieuts. Parmenter and Lawton, 21st Infantry, who encamped with the State troops, and effectively co-operated in acquainting the command generally with army regulations and customs.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

H. E. TUTHERLY,

GENERAL JULIUS J. ESTEY,

SIR:—I respectfully submit my report of the inspection of the First Brigade, V. N. G.

There was a marked improvement in all the commands over the last report. The equipments of all show that greater care has been given to them, which, has shown itself to a great degree. Companies E and M appeared to better advantage with their men wearing the regulation leggins (also M men had the canvas service belt), and I recommend that the other companies be furnished with them as soon as possible.

The guns of all the companies are in good condition, with two or three exceptions.

In all ceremonies performed, and in the battalion, regimental and battery drills a decided improvement was manifest.

The First Battery (Fuller's) equipments and pieces were in excellent condition.

Captain Tutherly, First Cavalry, U. S. A., made a most thorough inspection, by order of the War Department, and to his report I refer you for more minute details.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

FIRST BRIGADE, V. N. G., }
DERBY LINE, August 23d, 1894. }

GENERAL JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Commanding First Brigade, V. N. G.,

Brattleboro, Vt.

GENERAL:—I have the honor to submit the following report of the result of the rifle shooting contests at Camp Governor Holbrook, Brattleboro, Vt., August 16th, 1894.

In accordance with General Orders No. 8, dated Headquarters First Brigade, V. N. G., Brattleboro, Vt., August 15th, 1894, the teams of five men from each of the several companies that were to compete for the Centennial Trophy were ordered to report to me at the range of Company I at 8.45 A. M., but owing to a misunderstanding they did not all reach the range until 10.15 A. M., when the contest was commenced by Company K team, followed in order by Companies I, G, M, L, B, A, H, D, F, C and E. The First Light Battery team completed the contest for the trophy in the afternoon.

I herewith enclose you a detailed copy of the scores made by the company teams in this contest.

Lieut. Geo. W. Gatchell, Fifth Artillery, U. S. A., and Lieut. H. C. Keene, Jr., Twenty-Fourth Infantry, U. S. A., having kindly consented to act, were appointed judges. Lieut. A. L. Parmerter, Twenty-First Infantry, U. S. A., kindly offered to assist me at the range, which offer was very gratefully accepted.

Captain R. E. Lewis, A. D. C., First Brigade Staff, was detailed as official scorer for the Centennial Trophy contest.

Through the kindness of Brevet Lieut.-Col. E. W. Stone, Commanding Company F, Twenty-First Infantry, U. S. A., two men of his company were detailed by him to act as markers, and they were assisted by two men detailed from the First Regiment.

Captain John D. Wyman, I. R. P., First Regiment, superintended the marking at the butts during the contest for the Centennial Trophy.

Lieut. B. C. Senton, Assistant Surgeon, First Regiment, was detailed as medical officer for the day.

Owing to a shifty wind, the scores made were not as large as I expected they would be, but the aggregate and percentage is larger than any previous year, except in 1891, when only eleven companies competed, the percentage of the twelve company teams being this year 66 14-15 per cent, or nearly 67 per cent., as against 65½ per cent. in 1893, 63 per cent. in 1892, about 67½ per cent. (eleven company teams) in 1891, and 59 2-5 per cent. in 1890.

The thirteen company teams made about 66½ per cent. this year. This was the first year that a team from the First Light Battery ever competed for this trophy; their score shows that they are excellent marksmen and are very liable in future contests to make a much better showing.

I am very well satisfied with the showing made by the several teams, taking into consideration the bad wind, light, etc.

The contests for the prizes offered by Col. E. W. Jewett, I. R. P. on the Staff of the Commander-in-Chief, and the Brigade and Regimental Inspectors of Rifle Practice, took place in the afternoon of August 16th, commencing at 2.15 P. M. Captain J. D. Wyman, I. R. P., First Regiment, acted as range officer and I superintended the marking at the butts. Captain J. H. Estey, A. D. C., First Brigade Staff, acted as official scorer. Sixty-two men qualified to compete for these prizes, they having complied with General Orders No. 5, par. 5, dated Brattleboro, Vt., June 30th, 1894, but only forty-six men appeared at the range to compete. The result of the contest was that Private Thomas Caswell, Company E (Barre), won the first prize with a score of 23 out of a possible 25 in five shots. Private W. P. Springer, Company F (Northfield), won the second prize with a score of 22 out of a possible 25 in five shots, and Private Horace French, Company I (Brattleboro), won the third prize with a score of 22 out of a possible 25 in five shots.

The general average of the scores made in the afternoon was better than that made in the forenoon; the reason for this, I think, was because there was less wind and the light on the range and targets was better.

I also herewith enclose a record of the scores, in detail, of the contests for the individual prizes.

I am very glad to be able to report that the interest in rifle practice seems to be rapidly increasing in all the companies; and I would again urge the necessity of a permanent camp-ground where suitable ranges can be secured for all distances up to 1,000 yards, where all the officers and men of the brigade will be able to shoot and qualify in some grade during the encampment week. The importance of a permanent camp-ground, I believe, can not be too strongly urged, and I trust we shall be able next year to have all the men shoot at least five shots at all the ranges in addition to the regular contests for the Centennial Trophy and individual prizes.

The contests passed off without accident, or incident worthy of mention. My thanks are due to the regular army officers heretofore mentioned, to Captains Wyman, Lewis and Estey, to Surgeon Senton and the markers, for their able assistance during the contests.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES E. NELSON,

Major and I. R. P., First Brigade, V. N. G.

To the Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Montpelier, Vt.

GENERAL :—I am directed by par. 1, S. O. No. 168, C. S., Headquarters Department of the East, to proceed to Brattleboro, Vt., and encamp with the National Guard of Vermont from 15th to 18th inst. I shall have to leave here the 11th inst. unless the Quartermaster is able to make arrangements for a special train on Sunday, which is doubtful. Leaving Saturday morning, I expect to arrive in Brattleboro about 3 p. m. I shall be glad to receive any information you may be able to give, which would be of benefit to me, relative to location of camp, transportation for company property from station to camp; fuel, straw and water for company; messing for officers convenient to the camp.

Company strength, 8 officers, 50 enlisted men.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE, V. N. G., }
BRATTLEBORO, VT., August 26, 1895. }

GENERAL T. S. PECK,

Adjutant and Inspector General,

Burlington, Vt.

SIR :—I have the honor to report that, in compliance with G. O. No. 10 from your office, dated June 17th, 1895, the First Brigade, Vermont National Guard, was encamped at Lake Morey at Fairlee, Vt., from Monday, August 12th, to Saturday, August 17th, inclusive. The ground selected was very picturesque and well adapted for our purposes. The camp was named Camp Governor Woodbury in honor of our Commander-in-Chief, Hon. Urban A. Woodbury.

In compliance with G. O. No. 3, dated June 26th, from these headquarters, the camp was pitched by Company G, First Regiment Infantry. The troops arrived a little behind schedule time, but all were in camp soon after 1 o'clock.

The routine of duty as laid down in G. O. No. 3 from these headquarters was practically complied with during the entire encampment. The work done by each battalion of the First Regiment Infantry and by the Battery of Light Artillery showed marked improvement from the beginning, and I think it can be safely said that in the matter of soldierly bearing, set-up of the men, attention to details, and especially in guard duty, better work was never done by the brigade, and I am satisfied that this result was largely attained by the suggested competition for the honor of being the banner company of the regiment.

As will be seen by the report of Lieut.-Colonel C. E. Nelson, Inspector of Rifle Practice, First Brigade, the competition for the Centennial Trophy by the several teams resulted in its being won for the fourth consecutive time by Company I. The competition for individual prizes resulted in the first being won by Private Arthur E. Knight of Company I, the second by Sergeant Springer of Company F, and the third by Sergeant Hopkinson of Company I.

I am satisfied that the work done at the range this year was the most satisfactory in the history of the brigade. For efficiency in this department, as well as in all others, we are under very great obligations to Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. A., for his untiring efforts in our behalf.

The Brigade was inspected on Thursday by yourself, Captain Tutherly and Lieutenant Colonel Lillis, Assistant Adjutant-General on my staff.

On Friday afternoon, the command, including Company F, 21st Infantry, U. S. A., and Troop G, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. A., were reviewed by His Excellency, Governor Woodbury. Immediately after the review the trophy and individual prizes were presented by the Governor, and also the service medals to the different members of the Brigade entitled to them.

Camp was struck by Company G, of Bradford, assisted by Company D, of St. Johnsbury, on Saturday morning. The balance of the command left camp in good order, all, I am sure, feeling that the week had been profitably spent, and that greater progress had been made than in any previous encampment.

The weather was delightful throughout. Sickness in camp was very rare, the policing was admirably done, and taking it all in all, the encampment was very satisfactory.

We are under very great obligations to the War Department for kindly permitting Company F, 21st Infantry, Plattsburg Barracks, and Troop G, 3rd Cavalry, Fort Ethan Allen, to encamp with us. No better object lesson could possibly be had than the work done by these two detachments.

I wish to express through you to Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. A., Major Morris and Adjutant Deekman, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. A., and the officers and men of Company F, 21st Infantry, and Troop G, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. A., our appreciation of their efforts in our behalf.

I herewith transmit the reports of Colonel G. H. Bond, 1st Regiment Infantry, Captain F. D. Weld, 1st Battery Light Artillery, Lieutenant-Colonel C. E. Nelson, Inspector of Rifle Practice, 1st Brigade, Lieutenant-Colonel W. D. Huntington, Brigade Surgeon, and Lieutenant-Colonel J. A. Lillis, Assistant Adjutant-General, 1st Brigade.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Brigadier-General Commanding.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST INFANTRY,

VERMONT NATIONAL GUARD,

BRATTLEBORO, VT., August 25, 1895.

GENERAL JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Commanding First Brigade, V. N. G.

SIR:—I have the honor to report that in compliance with G. O. No. 10, A. G. O., dated July 17th, 1895, and G. O. No. 3, from your headquarters, dated June 26th, 1895, my regiment went into camp at Fairlee, Vt., from Monday, August 12th, to Saturday, August 17th, inclusive.

Camp was pitched by Company G in compliance with your order. Companies D, E, F, H and L arrived in camp before the other companies. The band, Companies A, B, C, I, K and M, with the First Light Battery, arrived at the station at about the same time, and under my command escorted Governor Woodbury to camp.

The routine of duty as laid down was practically complied with during the whole encampment, with the exception of the first day, when in the afternoon only guard mount and dress parade were had, as it took the companies some time to get settled in their quarters.

I ordered that each morning after reveille roll-call, each company should spend fifteen minutes in setting up exercise.

Tuesday morning, the first hour of the morning drill was devoted to drill by company, and the second hour by battalion. In the afternoon, the First Battalion was sent to the range to fire by company, the Second and Third Battalions drilling, first by battalion, then in regimental drill.

On Wednesday morning, the Second Battalion was sent to the range, and the First and Third were drilled in similar manner to the day before. In the afternoon, the Third Battalion was sent to the range, and the First and Second were drilled.

Thursday morning was devoted to team firing, as provided by G. O. No. 4 from your headquarters, immediately followed by the individual competitions. The balance of the regiment was inspected by Adjutant and Inspector-General T. S. Peck, Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. A., detailed from the War Department, and Lieut.-Colonel J. A. Lillis, Assistant Adjutant-General on your staff.

Thursday afternoon, as soon as the individual competitions were finished, the six best shots from each battalion were sent to the range to fire at silhouette targets, and the balance of the command, under their respective majors, were sent to witness the practice. It was very much enjoyed, and, I believe, proved as instructive as any afternoon of the encampment.

Friday morning, in lieu of battalion drill, the same hour was devoted to the illustration of battle movements, which were participated in by Company F, 21st Infantry, U. S. A., and Troop G, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. A., and the Regiment and Battery. I am sure that this drill was very profitable to my command, and of great interest to all who were present.

Friday afternoon, at the hour for battalion drill, the Regiment, with the balance of the Brigade, were reviewed by His Excellency, Governor Woodbury, Commander-in-Chief.

The competition for the honor of being the banner company of the Regiment, as suggested by Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. A., and as provided by S. O. No. 1, dated August 5th, from your headquarters, was won by Company E, of Barre, with a total score of 551.32, with Company I as a close second with a score of 550.15. The banner was presented to Company E on Friday morning by Governor Woodbury. I believe that this competition will prove very helpful, and will tend to induce more careful attention to details.

The several companies left camp Saturday morning in good order, and, I am happy to say, report arriving home safely, and all agree that the encampment was the pleasantest one, and equally, if not more profitable, than any other ever held.

The camp was beautifully located; there was a very small percentage of sickness or men excused from duty, and everything passed off satisfactorily.

I feel that we are greatly indebted to the War Department for the services of Captain H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. A., as we believe he is just the right man in the right place.

We are also under great obligations for the permitting of Company F, 21st Infantry, and Troop G, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. A., to encamp with us. I am sure that their presence not only added greatly to the interest of the encampment, but acted as an incentive to the officers and men to attain the same soldierly bearing, and I hope that we may in all our future encampments be as highly favored as we have been this year.

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. H. BOND,

Colonel Commanding 1st Regiment Infantry,

Vermont National Guard.

"FULLER'S BATTERY," FIRST LIGHT BATTERY, V. N. G., }
BRATTLEBORO, VT., Aug. 22, 1896. }

GEN. J. J. ESTEY,

Commanding First Brigade, V. N. G.:

Sir—I have the honor to report that, in obedience to General Orders No. 10, A. G. O., and General Orders No. 3, Brigade Headquarters, dated June 17th and June 26th, respectively, the Battery under my command went into camp at Fairlee, August 12th to 17th, with full complement of men and horses.

The camp was about one-half mile from station, and near Lake Morey, a very desirable and beautiful location. Owing to delays en route we did not arrive in time for any drill the first day. The weather for the entire week was excellent, and the remainder of the week we put in some hard work. Tuesday afternoon and Friday forenoon we had shell practice, firing at a target 12 x 18 feet, placed upon a hill across the lake, the distance being about thirty-one hundred yards, several of the shell striking the target and all hitting within an estimated circle of less than twenty-eight feet in diameter. Considering the distance, it was very satisfactory to me, and I would recommend that each year, where safe ranges can be had, this practice should be kept up, as it not only creates a greater interest in the battery, but is instructive to the men in gunnery, which cannot be obtained in any other way, and which might at some future time be very essential.

Thursday we were inspected by Adj.-General T. S. Peck and Captain H. E. Tutherly, U. S. A.

Friday afternoon we were reviewed by the Governor, after which the guns were taken to the station and loaded upon the cars.

Saturday morning, at nine thirty, we broke camp, carred our horses, arriving home about three forty-five P. M. But one or two men were excused from duty on account of sickness, and those only temporarily. None, I believe, reported at the hospital.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

FRED D. WELD,

Capt. Com'd'g 1st Lt. Battery.

AUGUST 24TH, 1895.

GEN. JULIUS J. ESTEY,

Commanding 1st Brigade, Vermont National Guard,

Brattleboro, Vt. :

General—I have the honor to submit the following report of the result of the rifle shooting at Camp Governor Woodbury, Fairlee, Vermont, August 13th to 18th, 1895.

In compliance with Special Orders No. 1, dated Headquarters 1st Brigade, Brattleboro, Vermont, August 5th, 1895, the 1st Battalion, Companies A, C, K and M, Major Calvin W. Evans commanding, marched to the range and reported to me at 2.35 P. M., Tuesday, the 13th inst. Company Commanders drew for targets, there being four, each company being assigned to one target. Firing commenced immediately at the 200-yard range, every officer and man, except the men detailed for guard duty, firing five shots. As soon as the men completed their score they were allowed to return to camp.

Wednesday morning, the 14th inst., the 2nd Battalion, Companies I, F, E and H, reported at the range at 9.40 A. M., under command of the Senior Captain, Captain Jacob Gray Estey. Commanders drew for targets, as on the previous afternoon, and the firing was commenced at the 200-yard range, the same program being carried out as that on Tuesday afternoon.

Wednesday afternoon, the 3d Battalion, Companies D, G, B and L, Major J. H. Mimms commanding, reported to me at the range, at 2.45 P. M. Company Commanders having drawn for targets, firing commenced as on previous occasions, every man completing his score at the 200-yard range.

I herewith enclose you the averages made by the companies in the different battalions.

In accordance with General Orders No. 4, dated Headquarters 1st Brigade, Brattleboro, Vermont, July 16th, 1895, the teams of five men from each of the several companies and the Light Battery, that were to compete for the Centennial Trophy, reported to me at the range at 9.15 A. M., August 15th. The several company teams being assigned to targets, the sixth contest for the trophy was commenced.

I herewith enclose you a detailed copy of the score made by the company teams in this contest.

The contest for the prizes offered by Col. Heman W. Allen, Inspector of Rifle Practice, on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, Brig.-Gen. Julius J. Estey, commanding 1st Brigade, and Col. Geo. H. Bond, commanding 1st Regiment, took place Thursday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock. The contest was limited to such officers and men who had complied with paragraph 5, General Orders No. 4, dated Headquarters 1st Brigade, Brattleboro, Vt., July 16, 1895.

The result of the contest was that Private A. E. Knight, Company I, Brattleboro, won the first prize with a score of 21 out of a possible 25, in five shots at the 200-yard range. Private W. P. Springer, Company F, Northfield, won the second prize with a score of 21 out of a possible 25, and Sergeant F. T. Hopkinson, Company I, Brattleboro, won the third prize, with a score of 21 out of a possible 25.

As soon as the contest for the individual prizes was completed, the Regiment was marched to the range to witness skirmish firing, first by six men from each Battalion of the National Guard. Lieutenant J. D. Dickman, 8d Cavalry, U. S. Army, kindly consented to act as range officer during the skirmish firing. The firing proved to be a very valuable object lesson to the officers and men of the command, and I trust all the companies will be able to practice skirmish firing in the near future.

For the first time since the inauguration of rifle practice in the Vermont National Guard we are able to have every man in the command, with possibly a few exceptions, fire five shots at the 200-yard range during the encampment.

Arrangements were made to have all the men fire five shots at the 300 and 500 yard ranges, but the limited amount of time prevented the carrying out of this plan.

All the firing passed off without accident or incident worthy of mention.

Too much praise cannot be given Capt. H. E. Tutherly, 1st Cavalry, U. S. Army, for the work he has done, and the interest he has taken, to bring rifle practice to the front. To him alone should be given the credit of having every man in the command fire at the 200-yard range during the encampment week.

I desire to thank Capt. F. H. Hardie, 3d Cavalry, U. S. Army, and Lieutenant J. T. Dickman, 3rd Cavalry, U. S. Army, for many valuable suggestions. Lieutenant Dickman remained with me on the range nearly all the time, and he being a distinguished marksman of the army, his help and suggestions were of great value to me.

Markers were detailed from the battalions, and they all did excellent work. Capt. John D. Wyman, I. R. P., 1st Regiment, superintended the marking at the butts. The scorers were Colonel H. B. Chamberlain, A. D. C. on the staff of the Commander-in-Chief, Major Charles L. Woodbury, and Captain T. A. Davis, Brigade staff, and Asst. Surgeon B. C. Senton, 1st Regiment.

I desire to thank Captain Geo. O. Webster, A. D. C. Brigade staff, for the able assistance rendered by him as statistical officer.

The results of the tour of duty at Camp Governor Woodbury, so far as my department is concerned, is the most satisfactory to me of any I have ever attended.

I have the honor to be, General,

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

CHARLES E. NELSON,

Lieut.-Col. and I. R. P. First Brigade,

Vermont National Guard.

BURLINGTON, VT., November 7th, 1895.

Adjutant-General of Vermont:

Sir—I have the honor to report as follows concerning the encampment of the National Guard of Vermont, held at Fairlee, from August 12th to August 17th, 1895.

LOCATION.

In accordance with the custom heretofore pursued, the Brigade encamped for six days, from August 12th to August 17th, 1895, on private ground hired for the occasion, about one mile southwest of the village of Fairlee, Vt., a Connecticut River town, on the Passumpsic railroad, eighteen miles north of White River Junction, and about the same distance south of Wells River Junction. The camp was named Camp Governor Woodbury, in honor of the Governor of the State, who encamped with the troops during the week. The ground was admirable in every respect for the simple purpose of camping. It is a level, well-turfed field of sandy loam, located at the south end of the beautiful Lake Morey, which has wooded banks and a sandy beach, suited for bathing purposes, and the troops had excellent water hauled to their kitchens and company streets, by wagons, from a spring on the ground. No more healthful or picturesque spot could have been selected, and the natural features of the country afforded a small-arms target range of 500 yards and a safe range for artillery practice, both ranges being so located that the target practice and drills could be conducted at the same time, under the observation of spectators. Sinks were well located and properly attended to. Holes were dug near the kitchens for the refuse, and the whole camp was thoroughly "policed." Inspections were made each day by medical officers, and company rivalry created by publishing, each evening, at parade, the marks given companies by inspecting officers.

The drill ground was excellent for the mere purpose of close-order drills and ceremonies, but was inadequate in its dimensions for extending-order movements and field exercises, such as large bodies of troops should participate in when meeting together for an encampment. Drills in the manual of arms, accurate alignment, wheeling by fours, etc., being merely the means by which to attain the end of making men practical soldiers, capable of performing field exercise. The scope of such encampments should be battalion and regimental manoeuvres and battle exercises for which home drill in armories and streets are but a preparation, and the wise provision of the Legislature in authorizing the purchase of a permanent camp-ground, adjoining the U. S. post of Fort Ethan Allen, will meet those broader views of military instruction, as well as economy in the accumulation of facilities and saving transportation money both for the State and company treasuries. As this land joins from six to seven hundred acres belonging to the United States government, and as there are other adjacent tracks available for hire, the location can become the theatre for extended battle tactics to be participated in by State and National troops combined, greatly to the advantage of both.

Upon application by the Governor of the State, and in compliance with orders from the War Department, Major Louis T. Morris, Third U. S. Cavalry, with Troop G (Hardie's) of the same regiment, and Company F (Stone's), Twenty-first U. S. Infantry, encamped with the State troops. Lieutenant Dickman of the Third U. S. Cavalry was also present through the encampment and assisted in giving instruction. State and National troops, officers and men, united their hearty efforts in making the week one of interesting and profitable instruction. The consensus of all reports coming to me is that the Vermont troops have never accomplished so much at any previous annual muster and a large measure of this success is attributed to the presence of regular troops as an object lesson, and the harmonious co-operation of regular and national guard troops in the exercises of the encampment.

SIRENGTH PRESENT.

Ninety-six per cent of the National Guard of the State were present at the encampment.

ARMAMENT.

The Light Battery is armed with sabres and 4 new 3.2-inch steel B. L. rifle guns, with carriages, caissons, and implements complete. All in excellent condition. The infantry is armed with the Springfield B. L. rifles, calibre, .45. The infantry guns are serviceable; 90 per cent are well kept, 10 per cent are more or less rusty.

EQUIPMENT.

The artillery is equipped with sabre belts and full battery equipments, in good condition. The infantry have black leather belts, Vermont State belt plates, and old style black leather cartridge boxes, generally in poor condition, because much worn, steel bayonet scabbards, with Hoffman attachment, in good condition; new field belts, Mill's pattern; haversacks, canteens, and tin cups in good condition, but no blanket bags. Three companies have the old-style frame knapsack.

CLOTHING.

The uniform of the artillery and infantry is practically the same as that of the same "arms" in the U. S. Army (with the State buttons and badges). All have woollen blankets issued for the encampment, but at other times stored at the arsenal at Montpelier. There are no uniform shoes. The clothing is in good condition generally.

TENTAGE.

The State is supplied with three hospital tents and sufficient "wall" tents so that each four men were quartered in a wall tent, and field and staff officers each in two larger wall tents, intermediate in size between the hospital tent and the regulation "wall" tent.

This canvas is all in excellent condition. The State has no conical wall or shelter tents. The companies have tent floors, mattresses, gun-racks and lockers; canvas awnings over the streets and street lights. These, however, are owned by the companies. The State owns no mess field outfits. The mess outfits are owned by the companies and are very complete, consisting of crockery and silverware, cook-stoves or ranges, and house cooking utensils, portable cook-houses, and large marquees for dining tents. These are not adapted to regular field service, as it would not be practicable to transport them.

SUBSISTENCE.

The companies generally contracted with caterers to supply their meals in camp. The tables were abundantly supplied with well cooked food. These arrangements were carefully supervised by medical officers, which accounts, to a large extent, for the remarkable healthfulness of the encampment.

DRILLS AND CEREMONIES.

(a) During three days of the encampment there were company and battalion drills, both forenoon and afternoon, lasting two hours each. The companies usually drilled for about an hour by themselves and then formed and drilled by battalions. There was a guard mounting each morning and a regimental parade each evening, for five days. Escort duty was performed once by an infantry battalion of six companies, in escorting the Governor to camp. There was also a brigade review before the Governor of the State, and the troops were reviewed and inspected by the Adjutant and Inspector General, accompanied by the Brigade Inspector and myself.

(b) The infantry companies came to the encampment well drilled in all close-order company movements. The drill hours in camp were devoted to battalion, close-order movement, company and battalion extended-order movement, and target practice. While the first of these drills were naturally imperfect, because battalions had not formed for a year, there was remarkable progress made. At the end of the week there could be little criticism made by those who were marking the companies, upon the manual of arms, the distances or the steadiness of the ranks while at rest at parade. The drill and field manoeuvres indicated that both officers and men were well instructed theoretically, and were only lacking practice in marching, which is necessary to keep lines from wavering. Battalion extended-order movements were fairly well conducted. Battalions went to the target range by turn, and every officer and man fired five rounds at 200 yards, and detachments comprising the best shots in each battalion, practiced "individual skirmishing" between 500 yards and 200 yards, using the silhouette targets, and making very good scores.

(c) There was a field exercise on Governor's day, in which all regular and National Guard troops present participated, executing a simple exercise in battle tactics for a brigade, exemplifying the use of the three "arms" of the service, cavalry, artillery and infantry.

This is the first exercise of the kind that the State troops have had, but it has prepared them for more extended manoeuvres another year.

PERSONNEL AND DISCIPLINE.

The personnel of the command as a whole is excellent; it has greatly improved during the past two years; a class of young men, many of them students and graduates of colleges and high schools, and others filling responsible business positions, have been attracted to the ranks, and both officers and men have awakened to a new military spirit throughout the national guard service in the State, reaching almost to enthusiasm in some of the companies. The discipline of the camp was excellent and attention of the men to military courtesies was especially noticeable.

THEORETICAL INSTRUCTION.

Officers' schools were held each evening during the encampment. Regular officers attended with the others. The errors of the day were pointed out and the succeeding day's work planned and discussed.

GUARD DUTY.

The companies had practiced guard mounting and sentinel's duty in their home armories to such an extent that the ceremony of guard mounting was very well executed throughout the encampment, and guard duty generally was well performed. With but few exceptions, officers and non-commissioned officers and sentinels were well instructed and performed their duties in a soldierly manner. There was no outpost duty.

TARGET PRACTICE.

Every officer and man of infantry fired at least five rounds at 200 yards while at the encampment, their total average percentage being .47. Detachments from each battalion, consisting of the best shots at short range, participated in "individual skirmishing" between two and five hundred yards.

The annual team competition for the "centennial cup" was held, each infantry company and the light battery furnishing a team of five officers and men (total competitors, 65), each member of the teams firing ten rounds at 200 yards. The average percentage in this team-firing was .65 3-13.

There was also an individual competition, at 200 yards, for three medals, in which 48 officers and men participated, each firing five shots, the average percentage being .70 2-3.

Long range practice has not received general attention, some of the companies having practiced at 500 yards, and all are now sufficiently proficient in off-hand shooting so that mid-range and long range practice can be worked up the coming year.

Artillery practice was held at the encampment, and sixteen solid shot fired from the 2-3-inch B. I. guns of the battery, at a target about 3200 yards distant. The results were very good. Several of the shots struck the target, and it was estimated that all of the shots struck within twenty-eight feet of the center of the target.

COMPETITION.

The competition that was instituted at this encampment for the infantry companies for the honor of carrying home a stand of colors—to keep until the next encampment—proved to excite a very commendable spirit of emulation, and now that the companies have nearly a year before them to prepare for the competition, it may be expected that greater proficiency will be displayed in the details of drill and camp duty next year than has ever been witnessed heretofore.

Company E took the flag handsomely this year but the companies are so nearly approaching the same standard of proficiency that any one of them which commences systematic drill early enough is capable of becoming the banner company next August.

REGULATIONS.

The pamphlet of 1885, comprising regulations for the National Guard, is undergoing revision and enlargement to meet the Revised Statutes of 1894, and changes that have been made in the organization and drill of troops generally. It is expected that the new regulations will be ready for issue before the next officers' school.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

I would advise that the State troops be supplied with shelter tents, and jointed poles and pins therefor; that there be issued a meat-ration can, knife, fork and spoon, for each man to carry in his haversack, and that each company keep in its armory the U. S. Army field allowance of camp kettles, mess pans, field ovens, spades, axes, hatchets and frying pans; that companies have occasional short practice marches from their armories, equipped in heavy marching order, and that they proceed to the annual encampment equipped in this way,—disembark from the railroad trains at least three miles from the camp ground, form by battalions and march into camp with advance and rear guard and flankers, as though marching offensively through an enemy's country, and that the Quartermaster's Department cause the necessary wagon transportation to meet each command at its point of disembarkation from the railroad. Thereby troops would have a practical lesson in field service while en-route to camp, which need delay their arrival only one hour.

I would advise that the permanent State's camp ground near Fort Ethan Allen be put in order before snow falls this year, so that the State troops may encamp there next year and avail themselves of the many facilities offered by the general government in its policy looking to the interest of the militia, and the establishment and maintenance of cordial relations between the two services, and save the State and National government much transportation in getting together for joint manœuvres. I believe that the State troops have now reached such a state of proficiency in target firing that the rules for classification laid down in Blunt's Firing Regulations could be applied, and that by so doing a State team can be selected able to compete with teams from other States and from the regular service. The excellent rifle range at Ft. Ethan Allen affords a rare opportunity for such competitions. I would also advise the State to own at least one ambulance, and organize a small hospital corps of 12 men, instead of detailing this number of men from the companies, which are now too small at their maximum strength for extended-order movements.

I would advise that when the State gets new tentage, the conical wall tents be procured, and I think enough Sibley stoves and pipe should be kept on hand at the arsenal to provide at least one battalion, in case winter field service should be required.

I think that the State should have at least one small gatling or Hotchkiss gun and a small mortar, and that firing be had with these pieces at the encampment, that troops may see their effect. I also believe that a good cavalry troop could be maintained in the State, and that it would give new spirit to the National Guard service, namely, poor horsemanship. Such instruction should be encouraged in the country generally, as not 5 per cent of the young men are learning anything about horses or how to ride them, and, as a war measure, it is important that this instruction should be revived as well as that breeding a class of horses suitable for cavalry should be encouraged. There is a dearth of such horses in the market of this country to-day.

REMARKS.

In conclusion, I may add that the National Guard of Vermont, though small in numbers, may be considered as efficient and available at short notice for field service. It is made up of an intelligent body of officers and men, and the military affairs of the State are conducted with method, without friction, and, as nearly as practicable, according to the regulations and customs of the United States Army. The future possibilities are greatly enlarged by locating a permanent camp ground adjoining the military post of Fort Ethan Allen, where not only the State can accumulate property and extensive facilities, but where the United States Government can, without extra expense, offer facilities which the State would never provide.

I am pleased to acknowledge the courtesy and assistance extended by all connected with the State service, and also the hearty co-operation of officers and men of the Army with whom I was associated under similar orders from the War Department.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

H. E. TUTHERLY,

Capt. 1st Cavalry,

A. I. G.

BURLINGTON, VT., July 25, 1896.

GENERAL THEODORE S. PECK,

Adjutant-General of Vermont.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following report concerning the several companies of infantry and the battery and section of artillery constituting the National Guard of Vermont, as observed at their home stations at my two visits of inspection during the year ending June 30, 1896.

A visit to most of the companies was made previous to the annual June inspection, for the purpose of assisting in instruction in guard duty.

I am pleased to report that all of the companies except one, which lost its armory and property by fire, were able to conduct the ceremony of guard mounting, post and relieve sentinels of the guard and perform day and night duty in their armories in a very creditable manner. I would advise that previous to coming to the annual encampment captains have the essential paragraphs of the guard manual pertaining to privates' duty on post as sentinel printed on a sheet of paper that men may carry in their pockets.

JUNE DRILL AND INSPECTIONS.

Upon the appointed days for the annual June drills and inspections I carefully inspected each company of infantry, the light battery and section of artillery (Norwich Cadets).

INFANTRY REGIMENTS.

The twelve companies of the regiment are composed of an excellent class of young men interested in military service and, allowing for the usual percentage of recruits, the men are well set up and execute with precision and correctness all movements in the "school of the soldier and company," in close order. All officers and men of the companies, except when the inspection day was rainy, fired at "short range," and evinced very fair proficiency in off-hand firing. In companies having long ranges practice was held for the best shot at 300 and 500 yards.

There has been a marked and steady improvement in the use of the rifle since the inauguration of competitions, and men are becoming interested in their weapons and how to make them effective. The June competition held for the past two years, after the inspections were completed, has served a good purpose, but I advise its discontinuance in view of the fact that the government range at Fort Ethan Allen, adjoining the State's permanent camp ground, will hereafter be available during the August muster, so that the whole command will be able to fire during that week's encampment without materially interfering with the other exercises, and the new method of competing for the centennial trophy, requiring every man to participate, will, in connection with the target firing involved in the contest for the trophy flag, give every man the benefits of competition that only a few selected men have heretofore had.

ARMS AND EQUIPMENTS.

The Springfield rifles, cal. 45, with which the companies are armed, are, with few exceptions, in serviceable condition, and are excellent weapons; in my judgment they are better for National Guard troops than the new magazine rifles now being issued to the companies of the regular army, until information concerning the latter weapons shall have been tabulated through a few years' test in service.

Great improvement is apparent in the condition of the rifles generally over that of last year. In some of the companies there were no dirty or rusty guns; in some, however, the chambers, and receivers near the chambers, have not received the proper attention. Many were found to be rusty in these parts, while in other respects the pieces were in good condition. The rear sights and some of the front sights need slight repairs, and I would advise having an armorer present at the annual muster in August, when all of the rifles are together, that necessary repairs may be inexpensively made.

Cosmoline or machine oil would be better for rifles that are in habitual use than that now used by most of the companies.

All of the companies have new "Mills" field belts with bayonet scabbard attachments, and I would advise that the companies turn in their black leather belts and cartridge boxes to the Quartermaster-General. A screw driver should be issued for use with each rifle.

I would advise that there be supplied to at least one of the companies of the regiment a small Gatling gun (or similar machine gun), with harness and equipments complete for service. There is but little doubt that such a gun should be a component part of the equipment of each infantry battalion, and infantry troops, while undergoing instruction, should learn their use and effectiveness.

CLOTHING.

The dress and undress uniforms are generally in good condition. Much attention has been paid to the fit of clothing since my last inspection. Clothing was neatly brushed, gloves cleaned and shoes generally blackened for inspection. In these respects, the appearance of the companies was better than at either of my previous inspections. There has been a marked development of soldierly spirit and pride throughout the regiment generally.

LIGHT BATTERY.

The guns, equipments and clothing pertaining to the light battery are in good condition, the personnel is excellent, and the muster and drill of the battery evinced careful attention to the details of instructions.

The cannoneers have no defensive weapons. They should be armed with pistols. These are their proper small arms and they should have them for target practice, as properly as the infantry men have rifles with which to practice and make themselves ready for field service. The practice heretofore held by men of the battery with the infantry rifle cannot be viewed as in the line of actual requirements of the service.

SECTION OF ARTILLERY (NORWICH CADETS).

This body of students at Northfield, averaging about sixty in number, is constantly under the instruction of an army officer detailed by the War Department, and is a portion of the National Guard, which, if fostered and properly utilized, may prove of great benefit to the State service. These students are able to execute every movement in infantry drill regulation, and as far as practicable without horses, artillery movements, with a correctness and precision not to be expected of any other body of troops in the State.

As they are in ranks and under discipline daily throughout the college year, and their annual encampment held at the close of the college year in June in connection with a theoretical course in military science, thoroughly acquaints them with the general regulations and customs of the service.

From ten to fifteen young men of the State graduate here annually, and the companies in the various towns where they live would do well to invite them to their ranks.

The uniforms provided by students themselves, and the guns and equipments furnished by the United States Government are kept in excellent condition. Lieutenant Hovey, of the 24th U. S. Infantry, has charge of the military instruction and discipline, which are conducted in a manner highly creditable to him as well as to the institution, which gives the officer as commandant entire control of discipline, and allows one-third of the students' standing to be based upon pure military acquirements.

COMPETITION FOR THE TROPHY FLAG.

I find that the competition between infantry companies during the August encampment for the honor of carrying home a trophy flag to hold for one year has stimulated interest in drill and a very commendable military spirit generally.

The companies this year will make close strife for this honor, and I advise inviting three officers of the Regular Army to constitute a board to decide upon the points involved in the competition.

It has given me much pleasure to notice steady progress in soldierly attainments throughout the National Guard service upon each of my succeeding visits, and however high last year's muster may be rated, I have reason to expect that the troops will exceed that proficiency when they come together for muster this year.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

H. E. TUTHERLY,

Captain 1st U. S. Cavalry, A. I. G.

NORWICH UNIVERSITY,
NORTHFIELD, VT., June 30, 1896. }

The Adjutant General, State of Vermont, Burlington, Vt.:

SIR:—I have the honor to report as follows on the year's work of the Military Department of this institution:

Infantry drills, from school soldier to end of Com-

In camp five days, during which a guard was continually maintained and all cadets carefully and practically instructed. Full report made at close of encampment.

During the year twelve lectures have been delivered on guard duty, advance guard duty, outposts, fire discipline, and a great many on drill regulations, customs of service, camp or post duties, of which no record has been made.

Seniors, Juniors and all Sophomores holding non-commissioned offices have recited in drill regulations weekly during the spring term, the two upper classes reciting also during the winter term. Each one of these recitations was, in fact, a lecture, because I explained in detail the reasons why the movements were performed, as directed in regulations

I do not believe much in theoretical instruction, except where it may be added to illustrate the application of practical work already performed. Theory is excellent where it can be made of concrete value, and as a means of padding up a record of work accomplished it has a great value, but it is sterile before the cold trial of practical application, and is a positive disadvantage where there are already insufficient means of thoroughly grounding students in the work of the military profession.

Target practice has received much attention, fifty-six cadets firing, all of them at least twenty, most of them forty rounds, at 100 and 200 yards, under the rules governing the army.

The one great and urgent need of the University is a suitable drill hall for work during the winter months. Five months are now lost which might be utilized in advanced drill, and in gymnastics, which are now recognized as constituting as important a part of the soldier's education as the drill in use of firearms, and as the young men who are to be graduated from the institution are theoretically supposed to be able to officer volunteers, they should have the advantage of training in this so they may not feel handicapped in the race for professional standing, and in the effort to advance their commands towards proficiency as soldiers.

It is to be regretted that the state cannot see its way to provide an inexpensive hall, because some of the young men may one day be called upon to officer Vermont volunteers, and as this admirable institution gets no money from the Government, and but very little aid from private sources, the State might well spend enough money for a drill hall and feel assured that every dollar would be returned many hundred fold in case of active duty.

The corps has manifested much interest during the year, the discipline has been good and the results satisfactory as far as condition would permit.

The three cadets of the Senior class who, in my opinion, have shown the greatest general proficiency in the military department, are:

James L. Averill, Northfield, Vt.

Charles S. Carleton, Cumberland Mills, Maine.

Herbert S. Clark, Northfield, Vt.

The total number of cadets instructed during the year was 63.

At the opening of the fall term any further changes will be reported. The corps has been indebted during the year to Captain F. L. Howe, commanding Co. F, 1st V. N. G., for many courtesies which have materially aided in the work, and it is but due that some official recognition should be made. I therefore take pleasure in making it of record.

Enclosed is a copy of the report of Captain James Fornance, 18th U. S. Infantry, who inspected the corps May 12, 1896, under orders from the War Department.

Congratulating the State upon having within its borders an institution whose past is a hostage for its future efforts in behalf of military excellence, I am, very respectfully,

HENRY W. HOVEY,

First Lieutenant, 24th U. S. Infantry,

Professor Military Science and Tactics.

Inspector General, U. S. Army, Washington, D. C.:

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the report of an inspection of Norwich University, Northfield, Vt., made by me May 12, 1896, pursuant to letter from A. G. I., dated March 20, 1896. This is a purely military institution, the regulations being similar to those of the U. S. Military Academy.

The Professor of Military Science, First Lieutenant Henry W. Hovey, 24th Infantry, judging from the results obtained and the statements of the officials, is well suited for his position and perfectly satisfactory.

I examined the annual report to the Inspector General and found the data contained therein to be correct.

The attitude of the college authorities is in every way favorable to the department. The officer is in every way fully supported. The military organization consists of a battalion of two companies, which was paraded for review and inspection in full dress uniform. The appearance, bearing, steadiness and behavior were excellent. The conditions of the arms and equipments, for which each cadet is held responsible, was all that could be desired. The only uniformity I noticed was in the helmets.

The following is the return of the battalion as paraded:

	PRESENT.				ABSENT.		Present & Absent.
	Capt.	1st Lts.	2d Lts.	No. Co. and Privts.	No. Co. and Privts.	Officers and No. Co. and Privts.
Staff.....		2		1		2	1
Co. A ... 1	1	1		24	1	3	25
Co. B.... 1	1	1		22	3	3	25
Total.....	2	4	2	47	4	8	51

The uniform was changed for drills to the blouse and forage cap, the battalion being divided into four companies. The movements comprised about all possible with such small companies in the close order school of the battalion. The command was then consolidated into one company for extended order drill; an attack was made, the formation being as prescribed in the drill regulations, the distance being greatly reduced owing to the limited space. This completed all the subjects in which they had been practically instructed. I was informed, however, that the organization being part of the National Guard of the State, it would go into camp from June 8 to June 13, when the instruction would be given in guard duty and minor tactics.

I examined the Government property and found it to be serviceable and well cared for. The cadets of the graduating class were assembled and questioned as to the theoretical instruction they had received; it was not satisfactory.

I was very favorably impressed with the general condition of the military department, and believe that its continuation is warranted by the benefits produced. I would recommend that some means be taken to have indoor practical work, so that greater scope may be given to this part of the instruction. The officer is employed from four to five hours daily in work entirely military, consisting of drills, practical exercise, lectures and the general duties of a commandant, the quality of which is satisfactory.

Very respectfully,

Your obedient servant,

JAMES FORNANCE,

Captain 13th Infantry.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

SUPERVISORS OF THE INSANE

OF THE

STATE OF VERMONT,

FOR THE YEARS

1895-96.

Supervisors' Report.

To His Excellency the Governor and the General Assembly:

The Board of Supervisors of the Insane respectfully submit the following report of their work for the biennial period ending July 1, 1896:

BRATTLEBORO RETREAT.

During the last two years the Retreat has been visited regularly each month, and deeming the duties imposed upon your Supervisors by the law of the State to be of sufficient importance to demand it, a majority of the Board have been present at each meeting.

During the last biennial period the Board has discharged as not dangerous forty-two (42) patients. Nineteen (19) of these discharges were unconditional and twenty-three (23) conditional.

It is sometimes a delicate question to decide whether insane persons are or are not dangerous to themselves or to others. Your Board have always been careful to examine thoroughly every patient whom they have been asked to discharge, whether they have either homicidal or suicidal tendencies, and also to obtain the history of the patient both previous to and while being in the Retreat, before pronouncing them "Not dangerous;" as a result no accident has occurred from any of the forty-two patients discharged during the past two years. Indeed, we are not aware that any mistake has been made in this respect during the last twelve years.

Patients having the suicidal tendencies often change suddenly and unexpectedly to the homicidal—also the reverse often occurs. Of the large number admitted to the Retreat during the past two years twenty or more have had the suicidal tendencies and a large number the homicidal propensity. The Retreat has been fortunate in that no accident from this source has occurred for several years. Of the forty-two patients discharged during the biennial period by your Board as "not dangerous" very few have been returned.

In our regular monthly visits at the Retreat we have had every facility for making a thorough examination of the management of the institution. We have uniformly found the establishment in good order, the rooms well warmed, well ventilated, neat and pleasant. We have made it a point to see and talk freely with all the inmates, hear their complaints, if they have any, see them at their meals, while engaged in their work, in their amusements and in their daily routine life.

It has afforded us pleasure to observe the improvements in many ways in the management of the institution from year to year. No efforts or means are spared to keep every part of the establishment in perfect order. Since most of the State patients have been removed to Waterbury the halls have been thoroughly repaired, the rooms made larger and fitted up in homelike shape to make a pleasant and quiet home for private patients with which the institution is being slowly filled.

VERMONT STATE ASYLUM.

During the last two years your Board have made monthly visits to Asylum at Waterbury. It gives us great pleasure to report a more satisfactory condition of affairs here than we were able to two years ago. Then only one wing of the institution was built and this was overcrowded with patients, causing much inconvenience and making it impossible to properly classify the patients. Owing to this condition the managers have labored under great disadvantages and have not been able to do as satisfactory work as they could wish. But now with the asylum completed these difficulties are done away with. The building is a beautiful and commodious structure. Its interior is well arranged and seems just adapted to its purpose. Its halls are well lighted, well ventilated and each is exposed to the sunlight a good part of the day. Its bedrooms are large and comfortable. Its dining rooms and kitchen are well arranged, and the latter has all the modern improvements for cooking and is kept neat and fresh.

When the grounds surrounding the asylum shall have been graded and laid out in walks and lawns, as they will be in the near future, this institution will compare very favorably with like institutions in other states, and our State may well be proud of it.

At our monthly visits to the Asylum, which were unexpected, we have had every facility for making a thorough inspection into the management of the institution, having free access to all its parts. We have mingled freely with the inmates, talked with them, heard their complaints, if they had any, and made investigations. We have visited the different dining rooms at meal time and seen the inmates at their meals and have found the food wholesome and abundant. We have often visited the kitchen and bakery and found everything neat and orderly.

Many of the male patients work on the farm. One patient has had the care of and has driven a pair of horses for the past year in all kinds of farm work without loss of time. He has been an inmate of an asylum for several years. When he has had lucid intervals the Board would discharge him and in a few months at most he would be returned in an excited condition from which it would take weeks for him to recover. The last time he was away only a few weeks and came back very bad indeed. So we have thought it best to retain him. The women work in the sewing room, in the laundry and kitchen. Patients are not compelled to labor, but are encouraged to do so, believing that it is far better for them to be employed in some way than to remain in idleness.

THE CRIMINAL AND CONVICT INSANE.

The criminal and convict insane number thirty-four, thirty men and four women. These people are sent from the different courts in the State, from the prison and the House of Correction.

Many of them are dangerous people who need special care and treatment. We are happy to report that there is connected with the asylum a ward built and arranged especially for this class of cases. It is separated from the main asylum by a corridor and has a yard connected with it surrounded by a high board fence where the less dangerous ones can go out and spend a part of the day in the open air. No doubt in the near future some arrangements will be made, by shade trees or otherwise, for shielding them from the hot rays of the sun while in the yard.

The law requires that this class of people shall be kept separate and apart from the rest of the world, either in prison or a place sufficiently strong to prevent their escape. We are glad to report that such a place is provided and that it is both safe and healthfully located; that its inmates are receiving kind and patient treatment, which is their due.

Preaching services are held in the beautiful chapel every Sunday by the different clergymen of the Village of Waterbury. Lectures and amusements of different kinds are being introduced from time to time for the benefit and entertainment of the patients.

During the last two years your Board has given twenty-two (22) conditional discharges. By a conditional discharge is meant one that can be revoked if necessary by the Supervisors without the trouble and expense of new papers. Five of those who were so discharged have relapsed and had to be brought back. Seventeen are still enjoying their liberty with friends. These patients are given to understand that if they are troublesome at home they will be returned to the asylum, and this fact acts as a restraint upon them. No harm has come to our knowledge from patients so discharged and the saving to the State has been considerable.

DR. CLARK'S RETREAT.

The private institution, "Lake View Retreat," at Burlington, is owned and managed by Dr. J. M. Clark, a man of large experience in the treatment of insane people. He holds a license from this Board to keep insane patients for private treatment. This institution is very pleasantly located on a bluff on the shore of Lake Champlain, commanding an extensive view of the Green Mountains on the east and the Adirondacks on the west. The buildings and grounds are well adapted for the purpose and the records show a very healthful condition of the inmates. Admissions to it have been restricted to the milder forms of mental derangement.

Your Supervisors would not close this report without making reference to the death of the Hon. Homer Goodhue, the President of the Board. Mr. Goodhue passed to his reward at the ripe age of 84 years, the first of June, 1896. Nearly all his life had been devoted to the welfare of the insane in different departments of the work, commencing at an early age as an attendant in the Somerville asylum, Massachusetts. There he remained nearly twenty years, being raised from one department to another, filling each with credit to himself and for the best interest of those whom he served.

He gave to his native State, as supervisor of insane, the latter part of his life, ripe in the experiences of the practical working of the asylum and of the needs of its inmates. No one beside the medical officers of the Asylum understood the special needs of this unfortunate class of people better than he did.

He made in his will a very munificent bequest to the Brattleboro Retreat for the welfare of its inmates. The State has lost a valuable man and the insane a most earnest and warm friend. "He has ceased from his labors and his works do follow him."

Dr. E. H. Pettengill of Saxtons River was appointed his successor.

Individual members of the Board of Supervisors have occasionally visited an insane criminal in Orange County who, by a decree of the Judge of the Supreme Court, is confined in a suitable building built by his friends, and found to be in very good condition.

All of which is respectfully submitted by the Board of Supervisors.

Trustees' Report.

To His Excellency, Urban A. Woodbury, Governor of the State of Vermont.

The Trustees of the Brattleboro Retreat herewith present their report for the biennial term ending June 30, 1896.

Owing to the transfer of two hundred and fifty patients to the State asylum in May and June, the number remaining under treatment at the close of the period is less than at any previous time since 1844, being one hundred and sixty-two, of which forty-six are still supported at the expense of the State, and one hundred and sixteen by private means.

The number of state patients admitted in the two years exceeds that of the last period by sixteen, while the number of private patients was seven in excess.

A total of five hundred and fifty-seven were under treatment, and the number of discharges was three hundred and ninety-five.

The mortality has been low and the percentage of recoveries rather above the average.

It is gratifying to note that the affairs of the institution have gone on without unpleasant incident, and the general health of the household has been exceptionally good.

Considerable has been accomplished in the way of improvements as appears by the superintendent's report appended herewith.

A material addition has been made to the already abundant water supply of the institution by the recent purchase of a valuable spring, located about one thousand feet from the main supply pipe, with which it has been connected.

The death of Hon. Homer Goodhue, chairman of the State Board of Supervisors of the Insane, will be appropriately alluded to by the present Board.

The following clause in his will is quoted, however, as an evidence of his loyalty to and kindly interest in that large class of sufferers to whom his life was principally devoted:

WHEREAS, During my long experience in the care of the insane I have considered entertainments, diversions and employments as important factors in the care and cure of the insane, therefore I do hereby will and bequeath to the Brattleboro Retreat the sum of ($1,500) fifteen hundred dollars to be held as a fund by the trustees of said institution to be known as the Homer Goodhue Amusement Fund.

It is my wish and will that the annual interest or income of said fund be used in defraying the expense of entertainments, amusements and diversions for the patients at the Brattleboro Retreat for all coming time.

The number of admissions for the two years just closed exceeds that of the preceding period by twenty-three, viz., ninety-five men and ninety-one women—total, one hundred and eighty-six.

One hundred and sixty-five were suffering from the first attack, eighteen from the second, and one each from the third, seventh and fourteenth.

The prevailing forms of disease were delusional insanity, acute mania, chronic mania, and acute melancholia.

Heredity was acknowledged as a cause in twenty-five per cent of those admitted, masturbation in eighteen per cent, while intemperance and epilepsy together amounted to nineteen per cent.

Fifty-seven per cent had passed into a condition of chronic insanity and were regarded as incurable at the time of commitment.

Eighty-eight per cent were residents of Vermont, and sixty-seven per cent were born in the State.

The average age of those admitted was forty-four years.

Seventy-three were supported by private means and one hundred and thirteen at the expense of the State.

The whole number of patients treated in the two years was five hundred and fifty-seven, viz., three hundred and five men and two hundred and fifty-two women.

Two hundred and fifty patients, supported by public means, were transferred to the State Asylum as follows :

May 14, 1896, thirty-six men and one hundred and fourteen women.

June 12, one hundred men.

The total number of discharges in the two years was three hundred and ninety-five ; recovered, sixty ; improved, one hundred and twenty-three ; not improved, one hundred and fifty-four ; died, fifty-eight.

The percentage of recoveries on the whole number admitted was—men, twenty-five per cent ; women, forty per cent ; the latter being more than double that of the last period.

The average duration of insanity before admission in those discharged recovered, was one year five months and twelve days.

Of those discharged improved thirty-two per cent were men and twenty-five per cent women.

The percentage of deaths on the whole number under treatment was : men, twelve per cent ; women, eight per cent.

This comparatively low death rate could be materially reduced by excluding several who were admitted in the very last stage of maniacal exhaustion.

The average length of residence of those who died was five years and two months, the average age being fifty-eight years.

During the past year the administration department, including the main hall, offices and reception rooms, have been painted, decorated, recarpeted, and the parlors furnished with upholstered oak furniture of handsome design, and a brick fire-place with oak mantle built in each.

A most substantial fire-proof vault of ample capacity for safely storing valuable records of the institution, which have been accumulating during the past sixty years or more, has been built on the east side of the administration building, and connected with the superintendent's office by means of a doorway, guarded by heavy steel doors with combination locks.

The three wards adjoining the centre building, west, are at the present time undergoing radical improvements. The bath-rooms have been doubled in size, the floors laid with white marble tile, porcelain enameled bath tubs with shower attachment are in use, and the plumbing has been made in every respect modern, sanitary and substantial.

The dining-rooms connected with these wards have also been doubled in size and an extra large window in each admits abundant light.

The food elevator has been entirely rebuilt and rendered fire-proof.

The window guards on each floor have been removed and the recess and end windows greatly enlarged.

Parlor hall has been fitted with an embossed steel ceiling of handsome design; the doors, casings and wood-work throughout are of quartered oak, the floor covered with Brussels carpet, and the ward supplied with the Wakefield rattan furniture.

The south front of the main building has been painted a light cream color, and rendered much more homelike in appearance by the addition of blinds to the windows.

Both summer cottages and all the outbuildings have been given two coats of paint and placed in good repair.

Considerable landscape gardening has been done at the summer cottage for women, and a large amount of ornamental shrubbery planted about the grounds.

The cottage barn, which formerly obstructed the view south, has been moved to the rear and is practically hidden from view.

During the past six months nearly two miles of roadway have been built through the most densely wooded section of our Hillside Park, a greater part of the distance being through a growth of stately chestnuts, pines and hemlocks. This most recent addition brings to completion nearly nine miles of roadway and paths within the Retreat grounds.

An orchard of five hundred apple trees was planted this spring, and it is our purpose to introduce other fruit trees from time to time.

The usual number of indoor entertainments and outdoor recreations have been provided for both sexes, while the present number of parole patients is greatly in excess of that at the date of our last report.

The cottages continue to afford a most pleasant change for many who are able to make a sojourn during the summer months, and camping parties are sent out weekly as heretofore.

We are under obligations to Mrs. Draper for the generous gift of a phaeton.

To Mr. George Dowley for a whaler's iron kettle of unusual size and shape; a decided curiosity in these parts. It is now placed on the lawn and devoted to use as a flower vase.

To numerous friends of the institution for contributions of magazines and periodicals of various kinds.

After a service of three and one-half years, Dr. Leslie T. Page resigned the position of second assistant physician to engage in general practice. He was succeeded by Dr. H. Nelson Jackson, who also resigned in October, 1895. Dr. Thomas Howell, a graduate of Dartmouth Medical College, was appointed to succeed Dr. Jackson, and continued in service until the transfer of patients to the State asylum, when he accepted an advanced position at the Medfield (Mass.) insane asylum.

Respectfully submitted,

S. E. LAWTON,

July 1, 1896.

Superintendent.

ADMISSION OF PATIENTS.

Blank forms necessary for the admission of patients will be furnished on request, and it is especially important to remember that medical certificates are not valid, under the present law, if executed more than ten days prior to bringing the patient to the Retreat.

Patients can be received only when accompanied by physicians' certificate of insanity complete in all particulars.

Those seeking admission from without the State, and those brought with defective papers, may be examined by physicians residing in this town, after their arrival at the institution.

The terms for private patients vary according to the accommodations and attentions demanded.

The ordinary rates include one room, medical attendance, medicine, board, nursing, and the service of attendants at all times. Handsomely furnished suites can be had at moderate rates. A bond for support is required to be executed at the time of admission.

Applications for admission of patients and letters of inquiry should be addressed to the superintendent.

DR. S. E. LAWTON,

Brattleboro, Vermont.

To the Governor and General Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of the Vermont Statutes, we have the honor as Trustees for the Vermont State Asylum for the Insane, to submit this, our Fourth Biennial Report.

There has been no change in the Board of Trustees during the present term, except that W. N. Platt, of Shoreham, was appointed by Governor Woodbury to fill the vacancy caused by the death of William H. Hunt, of St. Albans.

In the Third Biennial Report, the Board of Trustees announced that the Central or Administration Building had been completed according to the modified designs adopted by the Board of Trustees, including the various offices and living rooms of the resident staff with a commodious chapel, well adapted to religious services and containing everything necessary for a literary, musical or dramatic entertainment; a kitchen, bakery, etc., of sufficient capacity to accommodate the entire plant when the same should be completed; the building of a new boiler and engine-house and the fitting of the old power-house for a laundry.

The Board of Trustees also reported that the appropriation of 1892 was not sufficient to build the rear ward of the south wing, as contemplated by the Act making the appropriation, and recommended that all the buildings be completed, after the modified and revised plans adopted by the Board, and brought into full service as early as possible. The estimated expense of fully completing the buildings according to the original design, with the modifications that had been adopted by the Board, was $150,000.

After a full consideration and examination of the recommendations contained in the Report of the Board of Trustees, the Legislature of 1894 appropriated the sum of $150,000, to complete and carry out the original plans, with such modifications as should be adopted by the Board of Trustees and Lieutenant Governor, to erect a suitable building detached from the other buildings of the Asylum, for a mortuary, and to purchase a tract of meadow and pasture land containing about forty or fifty acres adjacent to the Asylum grounds, at an expense not to exceed $7,000, to be used for a farm colony where the convalescent inmates could be employed.

As soon as said appropriation was available, the Board of Trustees purchased the tract of meadow and pasture land mentioned in the foregoing paragraph, at the expense of $7,000. Upon the property so purchased and in close proximity to the Asylum Buildings, situated on the main street in the village of Waterbury, was a large brick dwelling house containing eighteen rooms; this property was well adapted to the care of the harmless and convalescent patients, and when properly fitted and furnished would comfortably accommodate twenty-five or thirty patients. To render it suitable for this purpose, it was necessary to provide a system of plumbing, heating and lighting, a part of which has been already completed and a contract made for the heating apparatus, and same will be soon ready for occupancy and will relieve the Asylum Buildings proper to that extent.

The farm barns connected with the property of said Asylum were located upon different parts of the property, and were small in comparison with the needs of the institution and inconvenient of access.

After due consideration, the Trustees decided that the necessities of the institution required the erection of a barn of sufficient size to accommodate the present and future needs of the institution. They therefore procured plans and have built such a structure at an expense of about $10,000, which is a model of convenience and fully sufficient for any future needs of the institution.

The Trustees take pleasure in reporting that they have completed the south wing of the Asylum Buildings, consisting of one three story ward, two circular wards and two rectangular wards, with all the necessary connecting corridors, and have completed the south wing by the erection of one additional rectangular ward, thus carrying out the original design with such modifications as have suggested themselves to the Board of Trustees as being desirable. As completed, the north wing is substantially a duplicate of the south wing. These buildings are substantial in character and we believe that they will compare favorably with other institutions of a similar nature, especially in the matter of expense and in the adaptability to the purposes for which they were designed.

To accommodate the necessary heating and lighting of the buildings erected, extensive additions were necessary to the power-house, and an addition of eight feet the entire length of said building was made, and also an addition to the engine room of twelve feet in width by twenty-four feet in length, to provide room for the engine and dynamos needed in furnishing light for the new wards. The steam pipes which were carried upon upright posts and covered to protect them from the air were removed, and a subway was constructed from the engine and power-house to the Central or Administration Building, and all the steam pipes and nearly all the electric wires for the lighting of the entire plant, were carried through this subway. This furnishes a safe and secure conduit and is more economical as the steam pipes are not exposed to the air and there is less danger on account of the electric wires.

The old engine house, which was utilized as a laundry, has been made to answer the purposes of the institution until the completion of the buildings and the removal of the patients from the Brattleboro Retreat. To provide sufficient accommodations for the increased amount of machinery and power, an enlargement will be necessary to meet the requirements of the additional number of patients in the Asylum. It is now contemplated, out of the appropriation of 1894, to build an addition of about seventy feet to said laundry to furnish proper and sufficient accommodations for washing, ironing and drying rooms and the necessary machinery and power.

The dwelling houses situated in front of the Asylum Buildings and a portion of the farm barns standing between the Asylum and the street have been removed; two of the dwelling houses were found sufficiently valuable to be preserved and were moved on to a portion of the land purchased out of the appropriation of 1894, and situated a little further south upon the same street. The remaining buildings were demolished as not being of sufficient value to pay for their removal and preservation. We have expended of the appropriation of 1894, $145,891.08. The details of this expenditure will be found in the Report of W. H. Giddings, Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, following the Report of the Superintendent of the Asylum. This sum represents the amount paid for the construction of the new buildings and covers all expense of the new buildings, except a balance of about $1,900, due on the contract for heating.

There remained in the hands of the Treasurer of the Board of Trustees, from the appropriation of 1892, $1,621.58. We have used, of this sum, for moving the old buildings, $598.13, and we have expended for furnishings, $876.82; leaving in the hands of the Treasurer, a balance of this appropriation of $146.63.

Early in May, 1896, the buildings were so far completed as to be in a situation for occupancy, and at the direction of the Trustees, under authority of law, the Superintendent of the Asylum began the removal of the patients from the Brattleboro Retreat. Two hundred and fifty patients have been removed from Brattleboro to Waterbury at an expense of $939.95. There now remain in the Brattleboro Retreat, forty-eight State patients. This number were left at the time of the removal of the others in May and June, some at the time being too feeble to be moved and others in such a condition that it was feared that the excitement consequent upon their removal might retard their progress towards recovery. In view of the fact that the removal of all the female patients to the north wing would require certain repairs to be made to fit that portion of the south wing, vacated by them, for the male patients, it was deemed best to leave these patients at the Brattleboro Retreat, until such time as the cottage should be fitted for the reception of patients and the necessary repairs could be made in the wards vacated by the female patients. As soon as the cottage is fitted and the repairs made, there will be no reason for delay in removing the balance of the patients from the Brattleboro Retreat.

In addition to the amount hereinbefore reported as expended in the construction of the new buildings, we have made permanent improvements upon the older buildings, and have expended in so doing, the sum of $9,424 60. This sum is expressed in the Treasurer's Report as amount paid for extraordinary expenses, and was paid from funds drawn for the current expenses of the institution. Of this amount, there was expended in the repairs upon the engine and power-house, $3,175.91; in the completing of the change of the heating system in the south wing to a two-pipe system, as was stated in the Report of 1894, we found it necessary to do, $2,348.21; for beds and bedding we paid $1,174.92. The balance of the expenditures were for smaller amounts and a full statement thereof will be found in the Report of our Treasurer submitted herewith.

The number of patients in the Asylum July 1, 1894, was 208; admissions during the Biennial period, 162; whole number treated during the two years not including those received from the Brattleboro Retreat, 370; number discharged and died, 121; number in Asylum June 30, 1896, including those transferred from Brattleboro, 498; excluding the patients from the Brattleboro Retreat, the daily average number of patients treated for the Biennial term, was 241.

The cost to the State for all legitimate expenses connected with the support and care of these patients, for the Biennial period ending June 30, 1896, has been $67,781.82. Excluding the private patients, this gives the average cost for the two years for each patient, as $300.58 or an average weekly per capita expense of $2.89.

In our Report for 1894, we recommended that some provision be made in the buildings for an operating room for the use of the Medical Staff and the training of nurses; that this room should be equipped in all respects with all the improved medical and surgical apparatus necessary to the most skillful treatment of nervous diseases. We herewith renew this recommendation and would respectfully urge that a small appropriation be made or that the Trustees be authorized to expend the amount necessary for this purpose. We believe this to be necessary and essential for the best interests of the institution and that in addition thereto, a small amount should be at the disposal of the Trustees yearly, for the purpose of purchasing necessary books, charts, etc., and to found a library of sufficient proportions to enable the Physicians to keep abreast with the times and to be enabled to pursue their studies in this specialty, thereby rendering them better equipped for the duties devolving upon them.

The needs of the institution at the present time, for which some provisions should be made without delay, are fire protection, an additional amount of tillage and mowing land and the grading and improvement of the grounds in the immediate proximity of the Asylum.

We are at present carrying an insurance of about $300,000 upon the property at an expense of about $700 per year. We are informed that adequate fire protection would certainly reduce this amount one-third and possibly one-half, and this protection can be obtained at an expense of about $3,000. It would probably be the duty of the Trustees to provide this protection without express authority from the Legislature, and they have taken action looking to this end, but have not yet made the expenditure therefor. The village of Waterbury are just completing a system of water supply for the village, and there is an opportunity to connect with this system at a very reasonable expense.

The State now has an abundance of pasturage, but is short of mowing and tillage land. The land in the immediate vicinity of the Asylum Buildings will soon be utilized for purposes of recreation and exercise for the patients, and other land for garden purposes. Up to this time we have been able to provide for the needs of the Asylum in abundance, but in consequence of the more than doubling of the number to be supported, and the increased number of attendants required, our resources for the production of vegetables and other products, especially hay, are inadequate to supply our necessities.

We therefore recommend that the Trustees be authorized to purchase such additional amount of tillage and mowing land, in the vicinity of the Asylum property, as will be sufficient for the present uses of the Asylum. This will enable us to more conveniently maintain those to be cared for by the State, and also furnish employment for those able to labor. That a reasonable amount of exercise and employment is beneficial to a large number of the inmates, especially in the open air and in cultivating the soil, is no longer an open question. Many of our patients have been accustomed to labor in out of door employment; when physically able to do so, their condition both mentally and physically is benefited by such healthful occupation, and so far as we are able to do, we encourage them in pursuing such occupation as is suited to their condition.

A large part of the grading and improvements about the buildings can be done without extra expense to the State, but there is need of a reasonable amount of funds to plant trees and shrubbery, construct walks and roads, and gradually to adorn and beautify the grounds. This work should be commenced at once, as the sooner the surroundings are beautified and made attractive the sooner nature can assist the physician in his effort to heal the disordered mind. We believe it is the intention of the State to make this Asylum a model institution of its kind, equipped in all respects equal to the requirements of the present day; and we confidently look to the Legislature to make provisions to carry this intention into effect.

We refer to the Report of the Superintendent for all matters of detail in the management, expenses and changes in the medical staff, and for all information, and the same is submitted herewith.

We do not feel that we can close this Report without a few words in memory of our associate, William H. Hunt, of St. Albans, who died in the spring of 1895. Mr. Hunt had been a member of the Board of Trustees for several years and was devoted to the interests of the unfortunate class committed to his charge. He was broad minded in his consideration of everything that tended to their welfare, full of sympathy for their unfortunate condition and earnest in his endeavor to ameliorate their situation. He gave much time and thought to the means best adapted to secure this result, and suggested many beneficial changes in the construction of the buildings for their occupation. In his judgement, realizing their helplessness and utter dependence, the best was none too good. He never shirked responsibility, or failed in the courage of his convictions. He had great pride in his State and its public institutions and served them faithfully and well. Just at the full of manhood, with a bright future opening before him, well equipped for the strife to come and eager for the contest, "God's finger touched him and he slept."

Respectfully submitted,

Dividing this sum by the average number of State patients for the two years, 225 $\frac{1}{2}$, gives the biennial cost.....	\$300 58
An average weekly per capita expense of.....	2 89

There are now remaining in the Brattleboro Retreat forty-eight state patients, which number, owing to feeble health, requests of friends etc., were not not transferred in May and June. As soon as the cottage, recently purchased, is fitted for their reception, there will be sufficient capacity in the asylum to accommodate those, and they may be transferred when the Trustees shall so direct.

ATTENDANTS.

The regular corps of attendants includes twenty-two men and twenty-nine women, one to ten. As a fact the attendants are necessarily unevenly distributed, the excited and dangerous classes requiring more supervision than the quiet and chronic cases.

Owing to the largely increased number of patients many new attendants have been employed, and there have been several changes in the corps, yet as a rule their duties have been faithfully and humanely performed.

EMPLOYMENT.

We have found no reason to change our views in the matter of employment, and a large amount of work is still performed by patients with excellent results from an economic point of view, and also of moral treatment.

SANITARY CONDITION.

There has been no epidemic of any kind during the the last biennial term. Every precaution is taken to render the institution and its surroundings as free from any disease-producing condition as possible.

ELOPEMENTS.

Two patients have eloped. They were harmless patients and no accident has followed their elopement.

DEATHS.

Twenty-nine patients have died during the two years, the morality rate being seven and 8-10 per cent. of the whole number treated for the two years exclusive of those transferred from Brattleboro.

There has been no suicides or serious accident of any kind during the two years.

NEW BUILDINGS.

Extensive additions have been made to the capacity of the Asylum during the last biennial period, consisting of the entire north wing, which consists of five wards, divided into twelve halls, and one ward connected with the south wing, consisting of three halls, which renders the two wings symmetrical, and enables us to classify our patients in a much more satisfactory manner than could be done under previous arrangements. The buildings are built in a substantial manner, and are of a class that will compare favorably with other institutions of a like character. I have visited a large number of institutions in New England and New York, and I regard these buildings as the best I have ever seen for the amount of money invested in them.

IMPROVEMENTS.

The biennial term which has just closed has been a very busy one, more so than any other in the history of the institution.

The results of the active, untiring efforts of your honorable Board of Trustees, to add to the comfort and welfare of this unfortunate class, and the proper care of this large property, shows throughout its entire management that the duties and responsibilities of your trust have been faithfully and efficiently discharged. Extensive additions have been made to the power house, necessitated by the largely increased amount of heat and lighting capacity required by the institution. The entire roof being relaid, and an addition of eight feet in width to the entire length of the power house, also an addition to the engine room of twelve feet in width by twenty-four feet in length to provide additional room for the engine and dynamo needed in furnishing additional light for the new wards. Also the supports for steam pipes connecting power house with Asylum buildings have been removed and a permanent and durable subway has been built which furnishes a safe and permanent conduit for all steam pipes, electric wires, etc., and is more economical in the matter of heating, as the steam pipes are not now exposed to the air as they were necessarily in the elevated trestle formerly used.

Since my last report, I am pained to chronicle the death of one of our Trustees, W. H. Hunt of St. Albans, which took place in the spring of 1895. Just in the prime of life, without an enemy, with a large circle of devoted friends, he spent his life contributing pleasures, and never pain, to those whom he knew, and as an official of this institution was very liberal in his views, and ready at all times to do that which the well being and comfort of the inmates demanded. We miss him greatly, and his memory will be cherished by the officers of this asylum. He was succeeded by Dr. W. N. Platt, whose appointment meets with favor by all.

Much additional help has been necessarily employed in excavating, grading, and use of teams, which has made quite a large addition to the expense account of the institution, which additional expense it is difficult to separate from the ordinary running expenses, as men and teams were employed in part on the farm and also in making the above mentioned improvements.

An accurate account of all running expenses of July and August, 1896, since the largely increased number of patients have been supported in the Asylum, together with an average allowance for fuel, insurance, and clothing, and the actual amount used in legitimate running expenses, for the two months is $9,675.08.

There has been an average of over five hundred state patients for these two months, which gives a per capita expense of two dollars and eighteen cents per week for each patient.

After a careful estimate for all legitimate expenses of the institution for the next biennial term, it is my opinion that the per capita expense will not exceed two dollars and fifty cents per week for all state patients supported in the Asylum, which sum will be materially lessened if an additional amount of tillable land is provided, as before recommended.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

We are under obligations to many of the friends of the institution for favors during the two years. The Burlington Free Press Association for weekly packages of the Free Press, Barre Enterprise, Northfield News and Vermont Watchman for papers. Rev. L. H. Elliott, Rev. W. M. Newton, Rev. A. J. Covell and others for magazines, papers and flowers.

FARM AND GARDEN.

The farm and garden, under the efficient management of James F. Shipman, has been reasonably productive, and has furnished us an abundant supply of vegetables and milk, for the past needs of the institution, but considering the largely increased numbers who are to be supported by the institution in the future, it seems that an additional amount of tillable land situated in the vicinity of the Asylum property is much needed, as a very much larger quantity of milk as well as other products of the soil will be needed to economically maintain those that are to be cared for in the Asylum, as also to furnish employment for those who are much benefited by the exercise obtained in cultivating the soil.

CONCLUSION.

Dr. H. E. Ballard after nearly two years service as 2d assistant Physician resigned his position April 1, 1895, to enter general practice in Burlington. He has the best wishes of all, for his success in his new field of labor. Dr. J. B. McKenzie, a graduate of the medical department U. V. M. Class of 1895, with one year's experience in the Fanny Allen Hospital, was elected to the position made vacant by the resignation of Dr. Ballard. The affairs of the medical department have been conducted harmoniously. My assistants are faithful in their work, and the interest taken by them in the Hospital is gratifying to me. To employees of various departments who have been faithful in performance of duty I wish to express my gratitude,

Thanking your Board for courtesies received at your hands this report is Respectfully submitted.

REPORT
OFFICERS
STATE PRISON
FOR 1895-96.

SUPT. HOUSE

OUTSIDE — EAST WING — WINDSOR PRISON

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY URBAN A. WOODBURY,

Governor of Vermont:

The undersigned, directors of the State Prison, submit their report for the biennial term ending June 30, 1896, in accordance with the laws of the State.

We have examined and adjusted the accounts of the superintendent, E. W. Oakes, for said term, and inventoried the property of the State on hand at its close.

This inventory amounts to $12,215.44, divided among the different departments as follows:

Expense account.....	$6,273 10
Fuel and lights ..	988 38
Clothing	3,396 33
Subsistence.....	965 13
Board.....	202 86
Improvements and repairs.....	267 38
Boilers and engine	122 26

$12,215 44

For an abstract of the inventory, as required by statute, we respectfully refer you to the report of the superintendent attached hereto.

We submit a list of subordinate officers of the prison, with the salary of each as established by us, as follows:

- E. D. Harpin, keeper, $75 per month and board.
- Harry E. Craven, steward, $30 per month and board.
- A. J. Archer, shop-keeper, $35 per month and board.
- H. L. Sanderson, shop-keeper, $30 per month and board.
- E. S. Hartshorn, shop-keeper, $25 per month and board.
- J. G. Oakes, guard, $25 per month and board.
- William T. Britton, guard, $25 per month and board.
- C. E. Hackett, guard, $20 per month and board.
- Edward Q. Burr, guard, $20 per month and board.
- Robert A. Case, guard, $20 per month and board.
- Fred H. Richardson, guard, $20 per month and board.
- John H. Fellows, guard, $20 per month and board.
- William H. Case, guard, $20 per month and board.
- F. A. Gardiner, engineer, $40 per month and board.
- Edwin Coyle, night engineer, $30 per month and board.
- Miss S. J. Durkee, matron, $25 per month and board.
- John D. Brewster, M. D., physician, $200 per year.

The directors held their first meeting in December, 1894, and organized with Egbert C. Tuttle, of Rutland, as chairman, and Marsh O. Perkins, of Windsor, as secretary. The prison accounts have been audited each month, and frequent meetings of the board held since its organization.

The exhaustive report of the superintendent contains, as usual, much of especially interest, and attention is respectfully called thereto and to the reports of other officials connected with the prison. From the report of Mr. Oakes it will be seen that the institution has been self-sustaining during the past two years, the income, which was $38,487.84, having exceeded the expenses by $678.58. It is believed that this point has never before been reached in the history of the Vermont State Prison, and is equaled by few, if any, in the United States. That it can now be reported is due not only to a large increase in the daily average of prisoners and the favorable contract for the labor, but also to the purely business-like methods with which the affairs of the prison have continued to be administered by Superintendent Oakes.

The prison physician, Dr. J. D. Brewster, reports no deaths among the inmates during the biennial term, and but very few cases of severe illness. This speaks volumes for the cleanliness and sanitary condition of the prison and humane care of those confined therein. That their moral welfare is not neglected will be found in the report of the faithful chaplain, Rev. Joseph Wassall, who also calls attention to the usefulness of the prison library, and its excellent care by O. T. Walter.

We join with Superintendent Oakes in highly commending the efficient services of the keeper, E. D. Harpin, and of the matron, Miss Durkee, and other officers. One can readily gather from the several reports that the spirit of harmony and faithful attention to every duty by all connected with the prison have been most important factors in securing and maintaining the high state of discipline that prevails in the institution.

The extraordinary repairs and improvements during the two years include the laying of new hard wood floors in the shoe shop and cook rooms, at an expense of about $400, most of the work being done by the prisoners; a new steam pump, and receiver with automatic steam pump, at an expense of about $325; a thorough repair of the reservoir of the water supply, and an introduction of a complete system of shower baths at an expense for all of about $1,000.

A change of contractors for the prison labor occurred May 1, 1896, when W. E. Brackett & Co., of Boston, Mass., who had held the contract for fifteen years, were succeeded by A. E. Mann & Co., of the same city, and engaged in the same business, viz: shoe manufacturing. The price paid per day per man under the old contract was fifty cents. Under the new contract it is seventy two cents, and the prospects are favorable that the institution will continue to be self-supporting for several years to come.

The old factory building on the prison grounds, outside the walls, owned and occupied by Messrs. Brackett & Co., having been moved away by them, Messrs. Mann & Co. have erected a larger building on practically the same site as that occupied by the old one. The new building is of wood, mill construction, 132 feet long, 40 feet wide, and two stories high. It is to be heated by steam, and equipped with the Walworth sprinkling and the electric thermostat fire-alarm systems. The erection of the new building and the setting up of their machinery in the shops during the month of May rendered it impossible for Messrs. Mann & Co. to set all the men at work before the first of June. By the terms of their contract they were required to pay for the labor of such men only as they could work to advantage before that date. Since then the State has been receiving the contract price for all the able-bodied prisoners, except the few reserved by the State for other work.

Desirous of having their property each side of the prison wall equally well protected against fire, Messrs. Mann & Co. made the proposition to equip the State shop with sprinkling and fire-alarm systems, provided the State would pay $600 towards the equipment. The proposition has been accepted with the condition that the company shall assume all responsibility for the respective systems during the period of their contract, and at the expiration thereof turn the same over to the State without additional expense to the latter. Further protection will be had by placing a hydrant by Messrs. Mann & Co. near the outside shop, and another by the State within the prison yard. It is believed that the saving in rates of insurance on the prison buildings, to say nothing of their greatly increased protection against fire, will make of this expenditure an excellent investment for the State.

Messrs. Mann & Co., using much more machinery than their predecessors, require much more power. The engine and boilers in use for several years have been adequate thus far to all demands upon them, but lately at the expense of economy in fuel, and attended with a questionable degree of safety to life and property. The contractors are about to erect more machinery, and with the engine and boilers already heavily taxed for power, there remains but little, if any, boiler capacity for providing steam with which to heat the several prison buildings. To meet the deficiencies, and to be prepared for any emergency, the directors are about to close contracts with the Putnam machine company of Fitchburg, Mass., for a sixty-five horse-power engine, and the Wilcox & Babcock company of New York for an eighty-five horse-power safety boiler. It is estimated that the expense for both, set and ready for use, will be about $3,200.

Three appropriations were made by the last legislature for the increase of prison property, viz: $1,000 for the purchase of pasture land, $2,500 for the purchase of meadow land in the rear of the prison, and $2,500 for the purchase of a house for the use of the keeper, or assistant superintendent, of the prison. But one of these has been expended, viz: That for the purchase of the pasture, whereby the State has come into possession of a valuable piece of property, comprising forty acres, or thereabouts, favorably located for its purposes, and abundantly supplied with running water. The purchase of the house and meadow has not been consummated, the appropriation for the latter having proved insufficient.

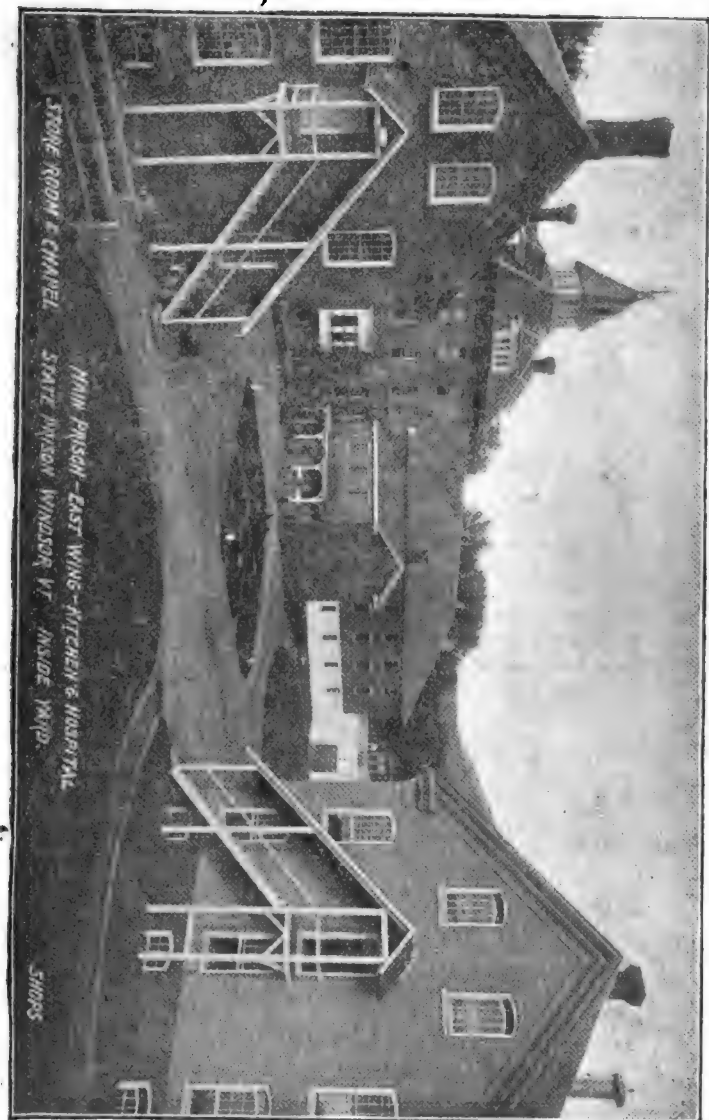

This land should be owned by the State, and adequate quarters near the prison, as in other States, should be provided for the official, whose responsibility in maintaining discipline, etc., is exceeded by that only of the superintendent of the prison. It is hoped, therefore, that a sufficient appropriation may be had this year to secure the land, and that a favorable opportunity may present itself to provide a responsible officer with appropriate quarters, either by purchase or by the erection of a new house near the prison.

In conclusion we would formally express our thanks for your aid and counsel in the discharge of our official duties, and courteously request your approval of our official acts.

Respectfully submitted,

REPORT OF SUPERINTENDENT.

—: o :—

To the Honorable General Assembly of the State of Vermont :

GENTLEMEN—I hereby respectfully submit to you my report of the Vermont State Prison for the biennial period from July 1, 1894, to June 30, 1896.

In connection with this report are given statements showing the financial transactions of the prison; the reports of the prison physician and prison chaplain; tables showing the number of convicts pardoned, conditionally discharged, removed to other institutions, or released by the Supreme Court; statistics relating to the convicts, with the rules, regulations and by-laws for their government and discipline, together with a list of the convicts, with the dates and lengths of their sentences.

FINANCIAL.

The accompanying statements show the income and expenses of the prison for the two years.

Statement A shows the account of the prison with the State.

Statement B shows income and expenses in the several departments.

It is very gratifying that the income has exceeded the expenses by $678 58, as shown by these statements. The total income of the prison has been $38,487 74. The income for the last two years is much larger than for the two preceding years, and is due to the large increase in the number of prisoners.

DAILY AVERAGE.

The daily average of prisoners during the two years has been 154½, a larger increase than there has been before for many years. The minimum number during the time was 124; the maximum number was 176. At the present time, July 1, 1896, the total number is 159.

DISCHARGED CONVICTS.

To discharged convicts I have paid, during the two years, $2,405.00. This amount includes $25.00 paid to John Harrison and $20.00 paid to Frank Hatch, who were transferred to the insane asylum. Their sentences having expired, they have been discharged from the asylum.

Of the eighty-six discharged on account of expiration of sentence, seventy have, under the act entitled "an act to aid and encourage discharged convicts," gained all the time and money which could be gained by good conduct, having never been punished during their confinement. Of the remaining sixteen, eight were only punished once.

IMPROVEMENT AND REPAIRS.

During the two years, besides the usual minor repairs, painting, plastering, whitewashing, etc., it became necessary to lay new floors in the shoe shops and prison cook-room. This was done during the month of May, when the labor of the prisoners could be largely utilized, and when, on account of the change of contract, they would have otherwise been idle. It was deemed advisable to use hard wood lumber for these floors, the expense of which was about five hundred dollars.

BOILERS AND ENGINE.

During the period covered by this report, I have purchased a new steam pump, at an expense of $125.00, to take the place of the old one which was worn out. I have also purchased, at an expense of nearly $200.00, a receiver, with automatic pump attachment, for returning the hot water from condensed steam to the boilers, which has heretofore been wasted.

HEALTH.

The general good health of the inmates of the prison has been due largely to the careful attention given to the prison water supply and a constant watchfulness in all matters relating to proper sanitary arrangements and sewerage. During the last two years the reservoir and head source of water supply has been thoroughly repaired at a considerable expense. Also, new porcelain-lined pails have been purchased for the prison cells, and the prison bath-room has been furnished with a complete system of shower baths.

There have been no deaths during the last two years, and but few cases of serious illness.

For further particulars, I refer you to the report of the prison physician, Dr. J. D. Brewster, who has been very attentive to the needs of the sick.

INSANE.

During the last two years eight prisoners were adjudged insane and were transferred to the insane asylum at Waterbury. Of this number, two have been returned to the prison, and three have been discharged from the asylum after the expiration of their sentences.

DISCIPLINE.

The usual good discipline has been maintained among the inmates of the prison, with as little trouble as possible to the officers.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Rev. Joseph Wassall continues to fill the position of chaplain of the prison in a satisfactory manner. In his ministrations to the spiritual wants of the inmates he has always been zealous and devoted in the discharge of his duties.

I refer you to his report for further information concerning his work, and the condition of the prison library.

CONCLUSION.

In conclusion, I wish to express my sincere thanks to Governor Woodbury and the honorable Board of Directors for their interest and devotion to the successful management of the affairs of the prison. The visits of the Board of Directors have been frequent, and their good judgment and advice has always been of great assistance to me in the discharge of the difficult duties of my office.

The keeper, Mr. E. D. Harpin, has long experience, good judgment and common sense in dealing with criminals, and is thus able to discharge his duties most acceptably.

Miss S. J. Durkee continues to discharge her duties as matron of the prison in a highly satisfactory manner. Her long and successful experience has ably fitted her for her responsible position.

There is the best spirit of good feeling among the officers, and all have discharged their several duties in a prompt and faithful manner.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

EDWIN W. OAKES,

Superintendent.

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1896.

Chaplain's Report.

To the Directors of Vermont State Prison:

GENTLEMEN—The following is the biennial report of my labors as chaplain of the Vermont State Prison:

Preaching services have been held in the chapel every Sunday.

I wish to repeat what we said in our last report—"That no congregation outside the prison, presents, from Sunday to Sunday, a more attentive, reverent or orderly class of hearers."

Visitors have often remarked on the manifest interest and good behavior of the convicts during divine service. The choir continues to render efficient help in my Sunday labors. It consists of Miss Jennie Penniman, organist; Daniel Payson, chorister; and Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Huggins and Dr. Burbridge.

It gives me great pleasure to be able to report that the prison library is in excellent condition. Through the generosity of the State and the ever watchful care of the superintendent, we have at the present time over 1000 volumes, which are eagerly sought and read. They are all books carefully selected and suited to the mental, moral and religious needs of the prisoners. One hundred and thirty new books were added last year and the old ones renovated, and some made as good as new. Much credit is due to the librarian, C. T. Walter, for the splendid condition in which the library is kept.

I make frequent visits to those who need special counsel and consolation. The sick and the dying are well cared for. None, according to the best of my knowledge, are ever neglected.

In company with my wife, I still hold regular services in the matron's room for the female prisoners. My thanks are due to Miss Durkee for her valuable assistance.

Permit me again to express my grateful obligations to Mr. Oakes, the superintendent, and Mr. Harpin, the keeper, and the other officers for their uniform courtesy and kindness.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH WASSALL,

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1896.

Chaplain.

Physician's Report

To the Superintendent and Directors of Vermont State Prison:

GENTLEMEN—I hereby present to you the following, my biennial report of the health of the convicts, and the sanitary condition of the State Prison.

Although a much larger number of convicts, the per cent of illness is not materially increased. The only cases of any serious nature, during the past two years, were four cases of enteric fever. The first two had been inmates of the prison but two or three weeks, and doubtless contracted the disease before entering. The other two were more or less exposed by the first cases. That the disease did not arise from any local conditions is easily shown by the few cases and the short period of its duration, all the cases occurring within a few weeks.

There has been the usual number of cases of colds, neuralgia and rheumatic troubles, but no more than would naturally occur among an equal number of persons having their liberty.

The simple fact of there being no deaths among so many people in two years, speaks well for their general well being.

The hospital furnishes a comfortable accommodation for those who are confined to their beds, giving more freedom for the care necessary for such a condition.

The water supply, as stated elsewhere, has been thoroughly investigated and, without doubt, is not excelled anywhere, coming from springs carefully covered and protected, situated on high ground, away from all possible sources of contamination.

The ventilation is as perfect as can be obtained. Each cell is ventilated directly from the roof of the building, and the iron-grated doors of the cells allow free currents of air from the corridors.

The food is of good quality, is varied from day to day, and each person is supplied with all he wishes. It is only necessary to visit the cook room, after the bread is removed from the oven, to judge of its excellent quality.

The cases are rare that a man leaves the institution in a worse physical condition than when he entered. This, with the majority, is due to regular hours, diet and habits.

INSANE.

Eight persons have been adjudged insane, during the two years, and sent to the Waterbury asylum: John Keenan, who was returned from the asylum June 20, 1894, again transferred September 13, 1894; Frank Hatch, September 13, 1894; Ed. Shiner, September 13, 1894; William Smith, November 13, 1894; Alexander Bisette, February 13, 1895; John Harrison, April 2, 1895; Charles Como, September 25, 1895; Videl Lessor, December 4, 1895.

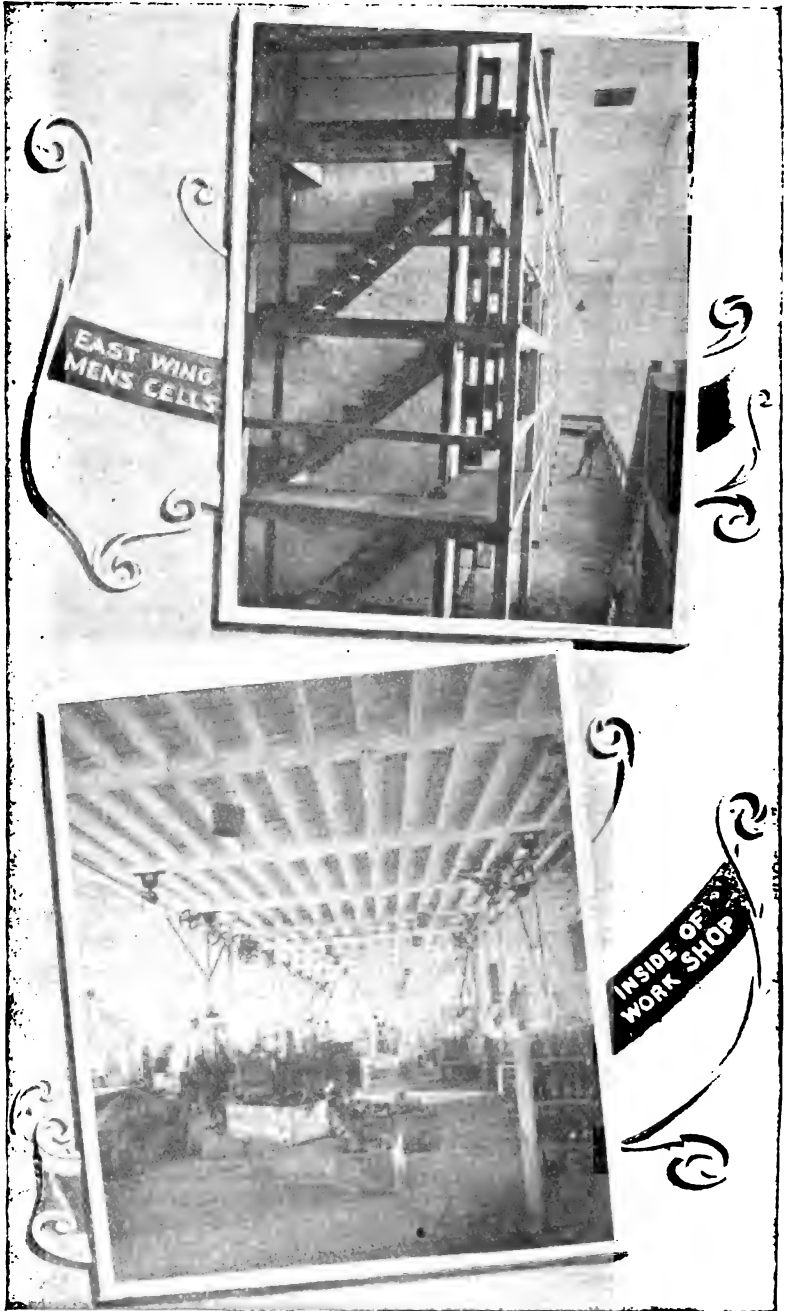

Of this number, two, Ed. Shiner and Alexander Bisette, have been returned. Three have been released directly from the asylum, their term of sentence having expired.

I wish, in conclusion, to express my thanks to all the officers of the prison for the uniform kindness and assistance I have always received while discharging my duties as prison physician.

DR. JOHN DENSMORE BREWSTER,

Windsor, Vt., July 1, 1896.

Prison Physician.

Rules, Regulations and By-Laws

FOR THE

OF THE

VERMONT STATE PRISON.

———:0:———

DUTIES OF THE KEEPER.

The keeper is the principal assistant of the superintendent.

It shall be his duty to attend to the opening and closing of the prison; to be present during divine service; to have a constant care and oversight, under the direction of the superintendent, of the internal affairs of the prison; to see that every subordinate officer strictly performs his duty; especially to attend to the police and discipline; to see that the rules and regulations of the institution and the directions of the superintendent are enforced.

He shall constantly be moving about the interior of the prison, inspecting the cells, yard, shops and other apartments; take every precaution for the security of the prison and prisoners; see that the shop-keepers and guards are vigilant and attentive to their duties, and report to the superintendent every neglect of duty and all impropriety of conduct on the part of any of the officers.

He shall attend to the clothing of the convicts, see that it is whole, properly changed and in order.

He shall see that the cells, shops, yard and all other apartments of the prison are kept in a proper state of cleanliness; that the rations are such as are allowed and required to be delivered to the convicts, and that they are properly cooked and served. He shall, morning, noon and night, see that all the convicts are locked in their cells before dismissing the officers from the hall or giving the signal calling the guards from the walls. And, in the absence of the superintendent, all the duties and powers of the superintendent so far as the same relate to the discipline of the prison and the safe keeping of the prisoners, shall devolve upon and be executed by the keeper.

He shall see that the persons visiting the prison are treated with attention and politeness, and that they are admitted and conducted through the several departments at all proper times.

He shall see that the guards on night duty are vigilant and faithful, and report to the superintendent all delinquencies of any of the officers.

DUTIES OF THE SHOP-KEEPERS.

The shop keepers and other officers shall act as the immediate agents of the superintendent and keeper in enforcing the police and discipline of the prison, and carrying into effect the provisions of the law for the government and punishment of convicts, and at all times while in the employ of the State are to be subject to the rules and regulations adopted for the government of the prison, and are to govern themselves in strict conformity thereto. They shall take charge of the shops and remain there during the working hours; and in no case shall they be allowed to leave the shop during the time the convicts are therein without being relieved by the keeper or guard. They shall require from the convicts a uniform, industrious, sober and orderly deportment. It shall be their duty to instruct them in all the rules of the shop and prison necessary for their government, and shall admonish them upon the least appearance of insubordination, and report them to the keeper whenever they shall refuse to obey the rules. They shall not allow them to leave their work or shop without permission, nor shall they be allowed to speak or to look at visitors, and no correspondence or conversation shall be allowed between them. The shop-keepers shall act as turnkeys, and in no case shall they leave the prison until dismissed by the keeper.

No shop-keeper or any other officer shall receive any present or purchase anything from, nor shall they deliver to, any convict any paper, book or other articles without permission from the superintendent or keeper.

No shop-keeper will be allowed to read any book or paper, or do any writing, except to make the necessary entries, nor to engage in any other employment calculated to interfere with constant watchfulness and vigilance; neither shall he hold any conversation with contractors or others in the presence or hearing of the convicts, while on duty, other than relates to the business under his care and management. No officer shall beat, strike or punish corporally any prisoner except in self-defense or defense of others.

When prisoners refuse to obey the orders of any officer firmness coupled with evenness of temper and impartiality shall be exercised in such a manner as shall secure instant and silent obedience.

DUTIES OF THE GUARD.

It shall be the duty of the guards to be at the prison during the whole time, day and night; to be vigilant and active; and when not on duty on the wall to repair to the guardroom, and there remain ready to relieve the shop-keepers when sent for; to show visitors through the prison; to attend to opening and closing the gate, and to perform all other duties and services as they shall be directed by the superintendent or keeper, at all hours of the day or night.

They shall at all times maintain towards each other, and all persons visiting the prison, a gentlemanly deportment. They shall not allow any person to go upon the wall without permission of the superintendent or keeper; nor shall they allow, under any circumstances, any intoxicated or riotous person to pass into the prison.

They are not to leave their posts on any pretext without being relieved, and are not to suffer a convict to pass through the gate or guardroom except in charge of a proper officer; and it shall be their duty to keep the arms clean and in good order, ready at all times for use, and they are to prevent, at all hazards, any convict from making his escape. No guard shall be allowed to hold any conversation with a prisoner except to direct him in his duty, nor shall he receive from or deliver to a prisoner any article or thing without the knowledge or consent of the superintendent or keeper.

It shall be the duty of the guard having charge of the hall while the convicts are in their cells, either at meal times or during the night, to use his utmost endeavors to suppress noise of any kind, and to report to the superintendent or keeper any violation of the rules of the prison by the convicts while in their cells. He shall examine the doors after the turnkeys have left the hall, and see that all are secure. He shall suffer no convict to speak to him except to make known his immediate wants, and, while on duty about any part of the prison, the guard shall keep a strict and vigilant observance of the convicts and not for a moment have his attention abstracted from the object of his charge, but be in readiness at all times for an exigency.

No person shall be admitted into the prison while the convicts are in the cells, save the officers while on duty.

DUTIES OF THE CHAPLAIN.

It shall be the duty of the chaplain to conform in all cases to the general rules and regulations of the prison, subject to the superintendent as to his intercourse with the convicts. It shall be his duty to see that each convict is furnished with a Bible or Testament; to preach to the convicts every Sunday, or, when necessarily absent, to engage some regularly ordained preacher to fill his place. It shall be his duty to visit the sick and minister to their spiritual wants.

He shall have the liberty of visiting any prisoner who wishes to see him at any time, subject to the control of the superintendent. He is to use his best exertions to promote the moral and religious welfare of the prisoners, as well as the harmony and general interest of the institution. He shall not furnish the prisoners with any information or intelligence in relation to secular matter except by permission of the superintendent. Nor shall he have any intercourse with the prisoners other than such as shall be necessary and proper in teaching them the branches of education authorized by law, and imparting such moral and religious instructions as are best calculated to promote their subordination, reformation and spiritual welfare.

He shall have charge of the prison library and report to the directors the condition thereof in his biennial report, or oftener, if required to do so.

If any prisoner desires communication with the minister of his particular faith, on proper application to the superintendent and at his discretion it shall be allowed, under and in conformity with the general regulations of the prison, but such minister, on such occasion, must in all things conform to the rules and regulations for the government of the chaplain.

CONTRACTORS.

Contractors, their agents or foremen, shall hold no intercourse with any convict other than those employed or superintended by them, nor upon any subject whatever other than the business carried on by them.

They shall not be permitted to deliver to or receive from a convict any letter, paper, package or parcel whatever. They are to confine themselves strictly to their business, and are not to leave the shop where their business is carried on to visit any other part of the prison.

They are not, under any circumstances, to inflict any punishment; neither shall they apply any opprobrious epithets to convicts, nor use any profane language in their presence, but shall report to the shop-keeper having charge of the convicts in their departments all violations of the rules and regulations of the prison. No foreman shall be employed by contractors, within the prison, without first obtaining the consent of the superintendent.

Teamsters or other persons in the employ of the contractors, who occasionally visit the prison, shall not be permitted to speak to, deliver to or receive from a convict any package or parcel whatever without permission from an officer. All scraps, shavings, chips, sticks and other waste must be disposed of each day, either for fuel or by removal from the prison grounds. No old trash or other material not necessary to carry on the business of the contractors may be permitted to accumulate within the yard or shops or on the prison grounds. All officers are expressly charged with the execution of the above orders, and directed to report any neglect or violation of the same.

VISITORS.

All persons not connected with the prison, except contractors, their foremen and employees and such persons as are authorized by law to visit the prison, are regarded as visitors and subject to the same rules. Visitors will not be permitted to enter the prison unless accompanied by an officer or guard, and when in the prison will be under the surveillance of the officer or guard accompanying them. Visitors will have no intercourse whatever with the convicts, and, when passing through the prison, will conduct themselves in a quiet and orderly manner, loud talking, laughing and personal allusions to convicts, by remarks, pointing or otherwise, being positively prohibited. Visitors must enter and depart through the guardroom.

It shall be the duty of any officer or guard when persons are found within the prison contrary to or in violation of any of the above rules, to see that they are at once stopped and leave the prison.

DUTIES OF THE CONVICTS.

The first duty of the convict is obedience, and it will be for his interest, as it is his duty, to be respectful and obedient to the officers, and conform to the rules and regulations established for his government.

At the ringing of the morning bell, he must turn out, dress, wash and comb, make up his bed neatly, sweep the cell and be ready for going out. At the signal he will open the door gently to the wall and march as directed.

On entering the workshop they will go directly to their several places of labor, and commence at once; and must be industrious and faithful in doing the work assigned them. In shops and other places of labor, they are to obey all orders promptly, exhibit no ill-temper when admonished by an officer; must not indulge in laughter, have no conversation whatever with another convict, nor communicate any intelligence in writing or by looks or signs, nor stare at visitors, nor speak to or answer them, nor receive from nor give to them anything whatever. They must approach their keepers in a respectful manner and be brief in their communications; they are not to speak to them on ordinary topics, nor address them except when it becomes necessary in relation to their work or their necessary wants. He must not leave or go out of his place of labor without permission, and, when permitted to go to any other department, will take the "pass" and go and return directly without unnecessary delay. If sick or unable to labor, he will make it known to his officer and act as he may direct. At the signal from the officer, and not before, without permission, they will leave their work, wash and take their places in divisions, for marching, as directed by their officers, and in passing the tables will take the first dish the hand is put upon and be careful not to spill or drop the food.

On entering the cell he must close the door and stand with his hands through the bars until the count is made.

He must be cleanly in person, clothing and cell, and must be quiet, orderly and decent in his behavior and never indulge in profanity, vulgarity, nor be guilty of any kind of indecency whatever; must use the spittoon when necessary and not spit on or through the door, nor on the wall or floor; must not wilfully or carelessly injure his work, tools or wearing apparel, nor mark or in any way mar or disfigure the cell, nor injure, mark or misuse any book, dish or other article whatever allowed in his cell; nor work in his cell without permission of the superintendent, given through the keeper, or make any change, either by bringing in or carrying out any article from the cell contrary to regulations; nor call the guard except in case of sickness or absolute necessity; nor pass any article or thing to another convict while in prison without permission. At the ringing of the bell at night every convict shall go to bed immediately and observe a profound silence from that time until the ringing of the morning bell.

They shall always march in such order as may be designated by the officer in charge. While in the cells and while marching and at all other times, all unnecessary noise must be avoided. No convict shall sleep with his clothes on, but shall lay each article separately, that the guard on duty can see if this rule is complied with. All convicts are required to attend religious services in the chapel on Sunday, unless they are sick or excused by the superintendent.

Before entering the chapel they must remove from their mouths any tobacco or gum they may have in it; and when in the chapel will take seats as directed by the officers in charge, and while there give strict and silent attention to the services. All disposition to cough, as far as possible, to be suppressed, and no shuffling with the feet, spitting on the floor or movement of the body calculated to disturb the order and quiet of the chapel to be indulged in. Whenever the convicts are turned out, all whose cells are unlocked must go out, unless they are sick or excused for other reasons.

Convicts obeying the rules will be allowed to see their relatives who wish to see them, and also such of their immediate friends as the superintendent shall, for any reason, allow them the privilege.

Interviews of relatives or friends with convicts shall not be oftener than once in four weeks, except for some special reason, and must be in the presence of an officer and not exceed twenty minutes at one time. At such interviews convicts must sit apart from their visitors and their conversation must be distinct, so that the officer can see or hear whatever is done or said, and he will allow no article to be passed from one to the other except it goes through his hands. Each convict, if he obey the rules, will be allowed to write to his friends once in three months at the expense of the State and but one letter per week at his own expense, except by special permission of the superintendent. All letters to be sent unsealed to the superintendent's office, with the name the writer is known by, signed in full. And convicts will write as distinctly as possible, so that their letters can be easily read before mailing; must never write between or across the lines and never on more than four pages of note or three pages of letter paper in any one letter. No correspondence for publication will be allowed, and all letters containing profane, obscene or disrespectful language, false statements, or misrepresentations will be destroyed, withheld or returned at the discretion of the superintendent; and the writer hereof forfeits the privilege of writing or receiving letters, and may be punished as the superintendent may direct.

Convicts will be allowed to receive such newspapers, periodicals or magazines from the office of publication and such transient papers as the superintendent may permit, but they will not be allowed to send them out to be taken away from the prison.

On being discharged, convicts will not be allowed to take away with them any letters, newspapers or pamphlets they have received, nor any writing or memorandum they have made while in prison. Any money a convict may have when he enters the prison, or that he may receive afterwards from his friends or other sources, must be placed in the hands of the superintendent, an account of which will be kept, and if well behaved will be allowed to draw against it to pay for such articles as convicts are allowed to use, and the balance, if any, will be paid to him on his discharge. No convict will be allowed to use tobacco who had not contracted the habit of using it before coming to the prison; and only such an amount of tobacco will be allowed to any convict as the superintendent shall direct.

Any one detected in receiving or sending out letters, papers or any writing by any person, or in any other way than through the superintendent's office, forfeits the privilege of writing or receiving any letters or papers; or if detected in whistling, talking, or in any way making a disturbance in his cell, or in defacing these rules, or any book which he has been furnished with, will be deprived of privileges or be punished therefor as prescribed by the superintendent.

For all violations of any of the above rules, convicts will subject themselves to severe punishment. It is the duty of officers in charge of convicts to see that the rules are promptly observed, as no officer except the superintendent has authority to suspend them or excuse their violation. Convicts should not forget that in proportion as they conform to these rules will they be likely to receive the "deductions" and "discharge money" allowed by the State of Vermont, printed below.

Section 26, Chapter 123, of the Revised Statutes: "If any person in the State Prison for a limited time shall escape therefrom, and shall be retaken and returned to the prison, the term for which he was sentenced to be confined shall be deemed as commenced at the time he is so returned, and he shall be confined after his return the whole term for which he was sentenced."

An act in relation to the discipline of the State Prison.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

SECTION 1. All persons who have been or shall be hereafter convicted of any offense against the laws of this State, and confined in the State Prison in execution of the judgment or sentence upon such conviction, who shall so conduct themselves for any month of such sentence that no charge for misconduct shall be sustained against them for such month, shall have a deduction of five days for every such month made from the term of their sentence, such deduction to be reduced five days whenever in any month such charge for misconduct shall be sustained against them, and shall be entitled to their discharge so much the sooner, upon the certificate of the superintendent of the prison, with the approval of the governor.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved Nov. 21, 1867.

An act to aid and encourage discharged convicts:

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

SECTION 1. Every person who has been or shall be hereafter convicted of any offense against the laws of this State, and confined in the State Prison in execution of the judgment or sentence upon such conviction, who shall so conduct himself or herself for any month of such sentence that no charge for misconduct shall be sustained against him or her for such month, shall have paid to him or her at the time of his or her discharge from such confinement, by the superintendent of the prison, in case such discharged convict is poor and destitute, the sum of one dollar for every such month; but such sum shall be reduced one dollar whenever in any month a charge of misconduct shall be sustained against him or her, provided that the sum paid to any such discharged convict shall not exceed one hundred dollars; and the State treasurer, on the order of the said superintendent, shall furnish the moneys required for the carrying out of the provisions of this act.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved Nov. 24, 1874.

An act in relation to the State Prison:

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

SECTION 1. If any person employed in or about the State Prison or House of Correction as officer, guard or employee in whatever capacity, shall wilfully or negligently suffer any prisoner confined in such prison or House of Correction to go at large, or be visited, conversed with, comforted or relieved within the prison, or shall convey to or from any prisoner any communication, newspapers, matches or any article without the approbation of the superintendent, he shall on conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding one thousand dollars or by imprisonment in the State Prison not exceeding ten years.

SEC. 2. Section twenty of Chapter 223 of the General Statutes is hereby repealed. Approved Dec. 8, 1880.

OF THE
OFFICERS
VERMONT
HOUSE OF CORRECTION
RUTLAND,
FOR 1895-96.

VERMONT HOUSE OF CORRECTION, RUTLAND.

Directors' Report.

HOUSE OF CORRECTION, RUTLAND, VT.

TO HIS EXCELLENCY, URBAN A. WOODBURY,

Governor of Vermont :

In fulfilling the duties imposed upon us by the laws of the State, the Directors of the House of Correction at Rutland respectfully submit this their biennial report for the two years ending June 30, 1896.

We organized at the beginning of our term of office by the election of Egbert C. Tuttle of Rutland, Chairman, and Marsh O. Perkins of Windsor, Secretary.

ACCOUNTS EXAMINED.

We have examined and audited the accounts of the Superintendent of the House of Correction regularly, and we submit a table showing abstract of accounts examined for two years. For a full and detailed statement of all matters relating to this institution, we refer you to the statistical report as made by Mr. D. L. Morgan, Superintendent. The Board of Directors caused to be made in 1894, for the first time, comparative tables showing the workings of the institution for twelve years, and those tables are continued in this report. We commend them to your consideration, as they show the history of this institution as complete as possible, and convey at a glance valuable information.

GENERAL REMARKS.

The labor of the board for the last biennial period has been more than the usual routine work. Although the Superintendent has relieved us of most of the details. We have purchased a new Erie steam boiler of 70 horse power and placed it beside the other, so that the shop does not have to shut down in case of accident to the old boiler or connections. Our new boiler house is forty by thirty-eight feet, and we have moved the engine so that the marble dust and dirt from the rubbing bed and molding machine do not cause us the trouble they formerly did.

We have built the north wing extension to the main building, which addition is ninety-five by thirty-three feet, and gives us fifty-eight new cells for men, including four dark cells; in all making 134 regular cells for men. We have raised the building devoted to women, or a portion of it, making it three stories, thirty by twenty feet, containing twelve double cells, thus enabling us to take down that part of the old building which was so objectionable in the center of the yard, and which obstructed the view of the guards. It has been the cause of a good deal of trouble heretofore in many ways.

We have put in laundry machinery, consisting of steam washer, wringer, steam drying racks, etc., etc., and we wonder how the institution got along without them before. The matron occupies a room now in the new building so as to be there in case of a night call from any of the women inmates. We have a hospital room for females conveniently situated in the new building. The recent changes made are a great improvement in the facilities for the care and management of the entire institution.

The new wall on three sides adds not a little to the security of the grounds, as it displaces an old wooden stockade which has been condemned by many former boards, and was at best only a makeshift for protection; prisoners were constantly getting over, and through it, and every gale threatened to raze it to the ground. Our new wall is built of marble and brick combined, its total length is about 760 feet, height 14 feet 6 inches above the foundation and 30 inches thick. We have protected the top with marble coping and placed a hand-rail of iron pipe, three feet high, on the top, so that the guard can walk the whole length of wall in any kind of weather. On the west side is a large gate for teams which is operated by a guard stationed in a sentry box on top of the wall immediately over the gate. When the wall was started, we decided to enclose more yard space to provide necessary room for the storage of marble and for a dump inside the wall for waste from the shop. We have one more officer on guard, as the large number of prisoners could not be conveniently handled with our old force.

We have maintained the night school and an average of 18 young men receive the benefit of the same. Our former matron, Miss Chatterton, resigned, and we have employed since December, 1895, Mrs. Allen St. John, who appears to be successful. After the decease of the former chaplain, Rev. J. W. Guernsey, we filled the place with supplies as best we could until January, 1896, since which time Rev. E. M. Haynes has very creditably filled the position as regular chaplain.

We overhauled the heating and sanitary arrangements of the institution, adopting the Williams Vacuum System of steam heating manufactured by Warren Webster & Co., Camden, N. J., which system is used in the Eastern Penitentiary at Philadelphia, and is highly recommended. We use only the exhaust steam from our shop boiler in ordinary weather.

The Board has completed all the repairs and changes in the House of Correction contemplated by it at the beginning of the present biennial term, and if the General Assembly of 1894 had not wisely passed new laws governing commitments to this institution, we believe the number would have increased to at least 250 and a still further enlargement of the buildings would have been necessary; but as it is, the State can feel assured that this is one of the best equipped penal institutions in the country, and we hope large enough for many years to come, to hold under proper control those committed to its care and discipline.

It seems to us that at no distant day the "Bertillon System of Identification" should be adopted by the Penal Institutions of the State. New York State has just adopted it, and a translation of Bertillon's book has been made, which work is now in the hands of all prison officials of that State. It is the French system of measurement, and Major Brown, Surgeon U. S. A. at Fort Hamilton, has spent much time in Paris studying the system and has already applied it in the U. S. Army. This system was also introduced in the State Prison at Weathersfield, Conn., in July of this year. A complete record of the description of each person is kept on file, so complete that no one whose description has been taken can avoid recognition. A very considerable portion of the crimes which disturb the order of human society result either directly or indirectly from the apparent impossibility of distinguishing in every case and with unerring certainty one individual from another. It is for this reason, especially, that so many of the professional and habitual criminals who abound in every land have hitherto gone "unwhipped by justice." Men would be unlikely to render themselves liable to the penalties of the law if they knew that wherever they might flee their identity could not fail to be discovered. A sure means of identification would not only have the effect of deterring from crime in general, but would evidently nullify all attempts of whatever kind at a substitution of persons.

EXPLANATION.

The labor of prisoners employed on wall and new buildings could be figured at the same price as shop earnings show, the amount deducted from unexpended balance of appropriation, and to that extent would increase the earnings of prisoners for the manufacturing department; but on the other hand, the employment of these prisoners has saved to the State more than the shop earnings per diem, as they in most cases performed the work of free men who would have been paid $1.00 to $2.50 per day. We think it is better to return to the State Treasurer the amount saved of the unexpended balance of the appropriation and make a plain statement of the facts; in that way the State gets all the benefit accrued in the transaction and, for sake of comparison, an estimate is given in the statement of the manufacturing department, showing what these prisoners would have earned if all were employed in the shop, and we trust this meets your approval.

INVENTORY.

We have a complete inventory of the personal property of the House of Correction, which amounts to $7,167.55, divided as follows:

INVENTORY OF PERSONAL PROPERTY.

House furniture and supplies	$923 15
Prison and laundry furnishings (including 58 new cells) ..	1,731 62
Office furniture and supplies.....	488 17

SUBORDINATE OFFICERS.

As required by law, we report the number of subordinate officers and their salaries as established by us:

W. H. Richmond, deputy superintendent, $60 per month and board.

Daniel Bree, keeper, $28 per month and board.

William Borden, keeper, $27 per month and board.

John Holland, guard, $25 per month and board.

Delbert E. Sanders, guard, $25 per month and board.

Harley M. Chatterton, guard, $25 per month and board.

Mrs. Allen St. John, matron, $25 per month and board.

Mrs. D. L. Morgan, housekeeper, $25 per month and board.

Rev. E. M. Haynes, chaplain, $200 per year.

Dr. Charles S. Caverly, physician, $200 per year.

Teacher for evening school, $5 per week.

REPORTS OF OFFICERS.

The reports of the physician, chaplain and the teacher of the evening school are submitted in another part of the report, and we ask that these reports receive your careful consideration. There has been within the last two years only one death among the prisoners.

We are satisfied with the labor of the Superintendent, Mr. D. L. Morgan, his assistant, Mr. W. H. Richmond, and also with M. R. Brown, of the manufacturing department. They are faithful to the interests of the institution. The matron, Mrs. Allen St. John, performs her duty in a satisfactory manner. We believe the State has also in all the subordinate officers, a staff of faithful workers.

SUPERINTENDENT.

The position of Superintendent requires especially a man who is a good disciplinarian. Mr. Morgan's army experience fits him for this responsible office. His nearly four years service as Superintendent makes him all the more valuable to the State, which has in him a faithful officer.

FINDINGS OF GRAND JURY IN FALL OF 1894.

The Grand Jury of Rutland County made its annual inspection in 1894 of the County Jail and House of Correction, submitting the following report:

STATE OF VERMONT, }
RUTLAND COUNTY, } ss.

Be it Remembered, That at a term of the County Court, begun and holden at City of Rutland, within and for the County of Rutland, on the second Tuesday of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and ninety-four, the Grand Jurors within and for the body of the said County of Rutland, here in court duly empaneled and sworn, upon their oath present—

That pursuant to the requirements of law, they have examined the County Jail at the City of Rutland and find that during the past year, several improvements have been added to the Institution; and the several changes that were suggested by the Grand Jury that preceded us, have been in the right direction, but in our opinion are not adequate to the demands of the Institution. For instance: there are seventy-five cells in the House of Correction. It is our opinion that this number should be increased to one hundred and fifty. There are at present more prisoners than there are cells and we find that during the past year, there have been nearly two prisoners to each cell. We think this matter should be remedied at once.

A high board fence which partially surrounds the Institution has been there for years and is the only means by which prisoners are kept in custody when anywhere in the prison yard. It is our opinion that this wooden fence should be taken down, and a stone and brick wall built in its place, and the sooner this is done the safer it will be for the community.

We also recommend that instead of lighting the House of Correction with gas or other methods that electric light be substituted throughout the Institution, as we think it will be better and safer in an emergency than the lights now employed.

Otherwise the County Jail, in our judgment, is sufficient, safe, convenient, clean, and in every way fit and suitable for the safe and comfortable confinement of prisoners.

H. C. GLEASON,

Foreman.

SUBSEQUENT REPORT.

We call attention to the report of the Grand Jury submitted after repairs were made, also to the report of the State Board of Health, whose report in 1894 called the attention of the Directors to the needed improvements, now completed.

GRAND JURY'S REPORT IN FALL OF 1896.

STATE OF VERMONT, }
RUTLAND COUNTY COURT. }

SEPTEMBER 23rd, 1896.

Report of the Grand Jury, as to the County Jail.

To the Honorable County Court :

The Grand Jurors would report that they have examined the condition of the County Jail and find the same in good and healthy condition, and in every respect fit for the safe confinement of those who are so unfortunate as to be confined therein.

REPORT OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, 1896.

STATE OF VERMONT,
STATE BOARD OF HEALTH. }To the Directors of the House of Correction, Rutland, Vt.

GENTLEMEN—At the request of Mr. Egbert C. Tuttle, Chairman of your Board, we examined the sanitary condition of the House of Correction at Rutland, Friday, Sept. 25, 1896, and beg leave to make the following report. Three years ago at the request of Gov. Fuller we made an inspection of this institution. Our report made after that examination contained several recommendations, looking to the sanitary improvement of the institution.

The first of these was with reference to the ventilation of the cells. We now find that the foul air ducts, with which each cell in each corridor was originally provided, have been collected into flues above each block of cells, and these flues heated with steam pipes. This we understand has recently been accomplished, and there is no doubt that this system will effectually remove the foul air from the cells and corridors. There is however no provision for the introduction of fresh air from outside. The numerous and large windows can of course usually be depended on for this, but in cold weather, especially on Sundays when the cells are occupied all day, great care must be exercised that some of the windows are partially open.

The second recommendation of three years ago in regard to a complete change of plumbing was immediately adopted, and the institution is now well plumbed.

The third recommendation had reference to the kitchen arrangements, and was also promptly adopted. The kitchen is now in a separate building erected about three years ago, and is entirely apart from the rest of the prison. This has manifestly been a great improvement. The preparation and cooking of the food is now entrusted to men selected for this work, those being selected as far as possible whose terms are long and whose qualifications for the work are the best which such material can furnish. The kitchen and store-room are neat and clean, and the food as far as we could judge was of good quality and well prepared. We have examined the dietary of the institution and feel sure that there is sufficient variety of food furnished to meet the needs of healthy men actively employed.

The fourth and last suggestion made by us at the time of our last visit was with reference to the water-supply, which was drawn from the end of an old city pipe. A new connection was speedily made with a new city main, ensuring an abundant supply of city water, which has been shown by repeated analyses to be pure.

Since our last visit, too, many other noteworthy changes, all improvements, have been made here. The north male corridor has been extended, furnishing more cell room; the women's building has been enlarged and is practically new; a large vegetable cellar and refrigerator have been constructed out of the cellar of the old women's building; and the whole institution has been surrounded by a substantial wall. These changes are all noteworthy, for they relieve the overcrowding of the past and furnish room for many needed accessories to a prison, and are really sanitary improvements.

There can be no doubt of the importance of cleanliness to the health of the inmates of such an institution as this. On this point we are pleased to be able to say that every part of this institution is scrupulously clean. The kitchen, corridors, cells, hospital and work rooms, on both sides, are neat and wholesome.

The bath-room provided in the new building furnishes accommodations for six bathers at once. Here once each week every prisoner is obliged to take a shower bath, unless excused for physical disability. It is needless to say that this feature of the institution is a very important one, as regards individual cleanliness and health.

The method of removing slops from the cells and their disposition are perhaps open to criticism. Each male prisoner is required to empty his bucket as he leaves his cell in the morning to go to the shop, into a covered hopper located in a small room at the north end of the north corridor next the shop door. This hopper is vented into a heated flue. The buckets are there subjected to live steam, also the hopper, and later the bucket sare taken up by the men as they return from work at noon.

As long as the details of this plan are carefully watched it will probably work satisfactorily. Any negligence however on the part of those detailed for this work, and failure to promptly and thoroughly clean both the hopper and buckets, must surely result in unwholesome odors reaching the corridors and shop. This will be most likely to occur when the prison is shut up and heated in cold weather.

We think some plan should be adopted by which these buckets could be emptied in a room farther from the living and working rooms of the men and possibly in a separate building, and that the buckets should hang in the open air at least half of each day.

There are certain reasons why unusual attention should be paid to sanitation in such an institution as this. The character of the inmates and the frequent changes among them, lay it especially liable to the introduction of infection. The sick register shows that contagious diseases of various kinds are frequently introduced here. That they do not spread and become epidemic speaks well for the general healthfulness of the institution and for the vigilance of its officers. This would surely result in a dirty or ill-kept prison.

It is but just that we acknowledge the great improvement that the House of Correction has undergone since our last visit. To your Board and the efficient Superintendent, we are convinced great credit is due for these changes. The institution will now compare favorably with similar institutions in other states. We have endeavored in our examination to discover ways of still further improving its sanitary condition. To this end we have offered the above criticisms. The people of the State and especially the State officials should embrace every opportunity to visit these public institutions and acquaint themselves with their work, their appearance inside as well as out. We believe that such an acquaintance with the House of Correction would reveal an institution that is in every way a credit to the State.

Very respectfully submitted,

J. H. HAMILTON, Richford.

SPECIAL REPORTS.

We think it proper to present in connection with this report the special reports made by the committees of the Legislature of 1894, as they have a bearing on the appropriation made and expended by us and on important matters touched upon in our report.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE ON HOUSE OF CORRECTION TO LEGISLATURE OF 1894.

To the General Assembly now in Session:

Your committee have visited the House of Correction, at Rutland, and report as follows:

We are favorably impressed with its management; we found the institution well officered, and the routine work reduced to an excellent system.

We attended Sabbath day exercises in the institution's chapel, which, with the Sunday and evening schools, are exerting a great moral influence on the inmates. The recent improvements of and additions to the buildings render this class of work pleasanter and more efficient.

In considering its existing needs, it must be remembered that the House of Correction is a State institution, the necessities of which must be met generously and justly, yet with the closest economy. Its over-crowded condition calls for immediate action.

At the present time many of the cells, none too large for one person, contain two, there being seventy-six cells, size 5x8, for the accommodation of one hundred and thirty-six inmates, which makes it impossible to secure proper sanitary conditions. It also necessitates the use of the hospital and school rooms for sleeping apartments, which allows communication between inmates, so detrimental to the discipline of such an institution. What we have said relative to these over-crowded conditions applies with equal force to the workshop. The engine house and laundry are too small. We deem a change in the woman's department a necessity. About eight hundred feet of the fence, which forms a part of the enclosure, should be replaced by a brick or stone wall.

The matters above referred to are found in detail in the officers' biennial report, and are not overdrawn. We recommend a careful perusal of the same.

As the result of above report, act No. 146 as printed below was passed by the Legislature of 1894.

LAWS OF 1894—ACT OF APPROPRIATION.

No. 146—An Act to Provide for Certain Improvements and Repairs of the House of Correction at Rutland.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont :

SECTION 1. The sum of twenty thousand dollars is hereby appropriated and set apart, in the hands of the State Treasurer, to be by him paid to the Directors of the House of Correction at Rutland, for the purpose of making such extensions of wings and such necessary additions and changes as will increase the number of cells so as to accommodate the prisoners committed to the institution; also for the purpose of making such changes and extensions of the main building, and taking down and removing any part of the building now appropriated to female convicts, as will admit of the keeping of women prisoners in the main building separate and apart from all others; also to build a brick or stone wall around the prison yard; and for other necessary repairs, including plumbing, heating, lighting and sanitary arrangements.

SEC. 2. The Directors of said House of Correction are hereby authorized and directed to make the extensions, additions and changes, and build the walls, and make the repairs to carry out the purposes named in the first section of this act. The Treasurer of the State shall pay said sum so appropriated, or any part thereof, on the orders of the Auditor of Accounts.

SEC. 3. The Auditor of Accounts shall draw his orders on the State Treasurer from time to time for such sums, not exceeding in the aggregate the amount appropriated by this act, payable to the Directors of said House of Correction, as said Directors shall require. When said work is completed, or at such times as said Auditor of Accounts shall require, said Directors shall submit to him full and complete accounts of all expenditures under this act, with proper vouchers for the same, and said Auditor of Accounts shall examine, pass upon, and allow the same if he approve thereof, and an allowance of any such account by said Auditor of Accounts shall be deemed a full settlement and accounting for any expenditures by said Directors covered by the account so allowed.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved Nov. 19, 1894.

DISPOSAL OF FUNDS.

We have drawn the appropriation provided by Act 146, Laws of 1894, and expended it as per table.

REPORT ON $20,000 APPROPRIATION.

It will be noticed that we have made all repairs and improvements necessary under the provisions of the Act and have left, unexpended, to return to the State Treasurer, the sum of three thousand, eight hundred and ninety-three dollars and forty-one cents. This the Directors feel is an agreeable state of affairs, and they believe the State has now a State Penal Institution well equipped for the purposes intended, and which will require very little expended upon it by our successors for several years. We were enabled by using the labor of prisoners so far as we could, and by economy in many ways, to save the State a goodly sum, and the Superintendent who looked after these matters carefully, is entitled to more than ordinary praise for his share in the work performed.

REPORT OF JOINT SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

The following report explains itself and was called forth by our report of 1894.

REPORT TO LEGISLATURE OF 1894 OF JOINT SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON INCREASE OF COMMITMENTS TO THE HOUSE OF CORRECTION, RUTLAND.

NOVEMBER 21, 1894.

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Your committee, appointed under a joint resolution providing for a special joint committee to investigate the cause of the extraordinary increase in commitments to the House of Correction, and to report what legislation, if any, is desirable, respectfully report:

That after a careful consideration of the subject, such as it has been possible to give without entering upon a minute and exhaustive inquiry into detail that would prolong the investigation beyond the ordinary limit of this Assembly, yet one so searching that vital and fundamental facts bearing upon the subject have been disclosed, we submit the following: The report of the superintendent of the House of Correction for the biennial term ending June 30, 1894, shows that the total number of commitments was 808.

Of which there were for tramping.....	145
For intoxication	346
For selling and furnishing intoxicating liquor.....	147
For 34 other offenses named in the law.....	170

Total..... 808

Of the 808 commitments there were:

From the county of Chittenden.....	221
From the county of Rutland.....	213
From the county of Franklin..	125
From the eleven remaining counties.....	249

Total..... 808

A close examination of many of the mittimus submitted by the superintendent, at our request, together with other testimony, oral and written, presented to us, has led to the following conclusions upon specific laws. We will state briefly with respect to tramping.

First. That the definition of the word "tramp" in the law is defective, and should be made more explicit, that the worthy and the unworthy may not be confounded.

Second. That tramps, properly so called, under suspicion of crime, should be apprehended under and by the same forms and processes as are other offenders.

Third. That in many cases either the penalty was not commensurate with the offense, or else the offense was too trivial for apprehension, and therefore, in the latter case, was an injustice to the prisoner, and in both cases a wrong to the State.

Fourth. That a discretionary power within reasonable limits, and in line of conformity to the spirit of the law, should be with the justice or other trial officer.

Fifth. That the penalties for the offenses committed by the genus tramp, whose status is properly defined, should be made equally severe with those imposed by neighboring States, that this State shall not be a refuge for this unmitigated evil.

We offer as a remedy for the condition as above stated, the bill attached to this report, and of which it is a part. (No. 75, Laws 1894.)

The question of intoxicating liquor, both as regards its sale or how otherwise it may be furnished, and the indulgence of appetite therein, is a most intricate one. Here we are, face to face with the moral and physical weaknesses of our imperfect humanity. Yet, in the interest of this same common humanity, its safety and well being, we must look resolutely at the facts. We charge:

First. The indifference of the people; hence the non, or only partial enforcement of the laws against selling and furnishing.

Second. The imperfection of the law, hence the evasions and non-convictions.

Third. That hotels and drug stores in many localities defy the law, even, in some instances, to the extent of open bars, and many more evade it.

Fourth. That kitchen and pocket bar rooms are rife, and are a fruitful source of evil.

Fifth. That some town agencies, under cover of the law, sell for revenue.

Sixth. That express companies, above the law, carry destruction to many a door in the homes of the State.

What can be done under these circumstances?

We would increase the penalties for selling and furnishing unlawfully, and so change the laws bearing upon the subject, that evasions from its action would be impossible; and we would confine town agencies to their legitimate business under the law.

For offenses of intoxication we would give to the justice, or other trial officer, certain discretionary powers, even that of probation under certain restrictions, in the hope of reformation.

For incorrigibles of this class we would offer the latest and most successful treatment for their disease, and furnish it at the expense of the State if desired by the offender, and if recommended by the Superintendent, with the Governor's approval.

We offer no bill in this connection, but give our approval to, and ask the consideration of the General Assembly for certain bills which are now before the Assembly, the enactment of which into law will, in our opinion, be a great stride in the right direction.

We believe that another cause which tends to the over-population of the House of Correction, of a lesser degree of evil than those already enumerated, yet one which is intimately connected with them, is to be found in the excessive amount allowed for mileage to the committing officer; which is, in fact, his fee. We believe that it is a temptation to over-zeal. The fines imposed for minor offenses, in nearly all cases, at any considerable distance from Rutland, bear a ridiculous proportion to the costs of the commitment.

* * * * *

We believe the present system for the payment of committing officers to be pernicious, and we favor the plan of a committing officer for the State, to be located at Rutland, under the direction of the Superintendent, and to be paid per diem, or by salary. Prisoners to be detained in their several localities until his arrival. But we are assured that the opposition to this measure would be difficult to overcome at this time, and we therefore hereinafter offer a bill touching this point. (Act 155, Laws 1894).

We further recognize the fact that, although this investigation has been made from an economic standpoint, still the violator of the law has some claims which cannot be overlooked or disregarded, and so in addition to these recommendations and the specific changes which would be introduced in the statutes of the State should these bills, or any part of them, become the law, we beg leave to offer for your thoughtful consideration some brief suggestions. Further legislative effort in this line should tend towards making the House of Correction an institution more thoroughly reformatory in its character. Those methods of discipline and reformation which have been devised and tested elsewhere, with gratifying results, should be studied and initiated here as fast as may be possible. We are satisfied that the present superintendent is a humane man, with broad ideas in this direction, and that he will do all that is within his power, with the means at his command, to carry out the spirit of these suggestions. But he should be aided and sustained by the power of the State in its fullness. The question of cost should not always be the primary one when subjects which profoundly affect the welfare of the State, especially those which involve the moral elevation of its citizens, or any portion of them, are considered. Many a young offender, under the right treatment and environment can, and should be, softened and redeemed. One man or woman saved to useful citizenship is worth a heavy ransom. Let us be not only abreast with other states in this particular, but let us be inspired with the broadest humanity.

We also urge upon your attention the subject of education in morality. Here is an ever-widening field where most efficient work can be easily and legitimately done, and where the result will be of incalculable advantage to the State. For an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Many of the best thinkers of our times are outspoken on the fact that our mental and material progress has far outstripped our moral progress; and the reason for this is that no such attention has been paid or effort made, in the past, towards stimulating the moral qualities, as has been done in the other directions, mental and material. Let us rectify this. Let us introduce moral teaching into the curriculum of our common schools. Let us have text books where the qualities of kindness, purity, sobriety, honesty and truthfulness shall be emphasized and receive scientific treatment; and let the teaching begin early in the school life of the pupil and continue all the way through. There is nothing sectarian in pure morality. It is common ground where all can stand, and where the coming generations, the hope of the future, can be fitted for those high duties which each intelligent individual owes to himself, his fellow men and to his God.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

R. AVERILL, } of
E. M. BARTLETT, } Representatives.

In view of this special committee's report, the Directors will repeat here what they said in a former report.

DUTY OF THE STATE.

The State is unmindful of its duty and its welfare when it merely holds the offender a prisoner, making no effort to reform him. The great majority in the House of Correction are young persons taken out of our several communities, over one-half under thirty years of age, and the pregnant fact is, that they are to return (with some exceptions) to society again, after longer or shorter periods. The reformatory purpose of the institution should be to try to effect the necessary change so that as many as possible will cease to do evil and try to do well. The effect upon the prisoners of herding in close quarters is substantially the same in all prisons, and the release of unimproved prisoners at the expiration of their term, endangers public safety and increases crime.

LIGHTING.

We have made a contract for lighting the institution with electricity in part, which does not increase the expenses over the old method and makes it safer and much more agreeable.

TRAMPS.

Under the new tramp laws, the House of Correction is not burdened with this class of commitments as it was previous to 1894.

CLOSING REMARKS.

We have presented a few illustrations in this report to better show to everyone interested how the Vermont House of Correction appears, and gives a better idea than mere word description of what has been done with the money expended by the Board. No further appropriation for several years will probably be called for.

Any movement looking to the enactment of laws enlarging the powers of the Superintendent and Directors of our penal institutions so that they may devise ways and means for the development of the better nature in persons committed to their charge, and especially to teach the young men some useful trade by which they will be able to earn a living when discharged, will receive our approval. This institution should be truly reformatory in its character to conform to section 5,168 of the Vermont Statutes.

In closing this lengthy report, the Board desires to thank you for your personal assistance and interest in the work of repairs, and we hope all that has been done meets your approval. The same is respectfully submitted,

It will be noticed that the amount of repairs previous to 1894 had been very small, but there always comes a time when public buildings must be thoroughly repaired, especially when the population of an institution shows such a large increase as this table indicates.

The total number confined during this biennial period was 1,157.

On account of the large number of prisoners employed on necessary repairs, new buildings, new wall, etc., the cash received for labor during the past two years is not equal in amount to anticipated receipts. Those prisoners employed on repairs saved the State the price of free labor, and enabled the Directors to make the necessary changes at a cost within the appropriation, and we had a goodly balance left to return to State Treasurer, as shown by our financial statement.

Superintendent's Report.

VERMONT HOUSE OF CORRECTION, } SUPERINTENDENT'S OFFICE. }

To the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

GENTLEMEN—The ninth biennial report of the Vermont House of Correction for the two years ending June 30th, 1896, is herewith respectfully submitted.

FINANCIAL SHOWING.

The yearly gross expense for each prisoner was.....	$114.40
The entire gross expenses for maintenance of the institution for two years was.....	$25,619.22

RETURNS.

Returned to the State Treasurer for earnings, fines and board	$19,842.72
Excess of cash on hand over last report.....	112.98
Personal property inventory, increase.....	1,240.80
	$21,196.45
Balance (which is net cost for two years).....	4,422.77
Total	$25,619.22

The above statement does not include the special appropriation of $20,000 for additions and improvements made by the last Legislature, of which over $3,800 remains unexpended and will be returned to the State Treasury unless otherwise ordered. From sale of horses, wagons, derrick, etc., used on repairs, probably $250 more will be realized.

INMATES AND OFFENSES.

In the table appended to this report will be found much information concerning the population of the institution. In summarizing we find the

FOLLOWING FACTS.

On June 30, 1894, House of Correction prisoners.....	112
On June 30, 1894, The Rutland County Jail prisoners.....	11
Commitments to House of Correction during last two years.	777

The changes made by last Legislature in laws against intoxication and tramps have considerably decreased the commitments for those offenses since the last report.

For intoxication, decrease from 346 to 148.

For tramping, decrease from 145 to 120.

Commitments increased since last report :

For burglary and larceny, from 60 to 121.

And for crimes of a lewd character, from 17 to 31.

And for breach of the peace, from 31 to 101.

In explanation of the last item it should be said that as a Justice cannot now sentence a man here for tramping, the offense of breach of the peace is charged instead.

The offenders under crimes showing an increase are mostly young men, quite a number of whom have served more than one sentence here. The short sentences so frequently given have but little effect in reforming or deterring from crime again when liberty is restored. In this connection I would respectfully call attention to the indeterminate sentence adopted in Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, and other States for their Reformatories. While the maximum of such a sentence may be long (three to five years generally) the prisoner by industry, obedience and a good all around record can gain conditional release in one year; the general average under this system in Massachusetts is fifteen months. But they are still under the watchful care of the institution and must render good reports properly certified monthly, and upon evidence of a return to crime or bad habits they are sent back and begin sentence anew.

TRADE CLASSES.

I also desire to refer to the trade classes of these institutions which in their annual reports attribute their greatest success in the reformation of prisoners to the fact that they send them out well equipped to earn an honest living and full of confidence and courage to do so.

The practical knowledge imparted and skill acquired in these trade classes in a single year will astonish anyone who has not investigated the system. During the three years and over that I have been in this institution I have seen a large number of young men come and go, many of them a second and a third time, some even more, young men of good natural ability and skill but lacking any knowledge of a trade, and only able to earn the common laborer's wages, when they were physically strong enough for such work.

I believe that at a small outlay comparatively trade classes could be established here for the younger men in some of the following lines of trade : Carpentry, blacksmithing, bricklaying, plastering, tinsmithing, plumbing, etc., etc. In the report of our Directors two years ago they stated the case aptly by saying : " When the State makes violators of its laws prisoners, it incurs thereby an obligation of not only putting them in safe keeping, but of teaching and training them toward good citizenship and of making them competent, if possible, to earn an honest living." Viewing the matter simply in a business light as a question of profit or loss we find from the report of the institution when it is past the experimental stage that a large majority discharged become good and valuable citizens.

On the other hand the records of courts and poor houses show the habitual criminal to be not only a larger expense to the State, but his family generally a burden on the community.

ADDITIONS AND IMPROVEMENTS.

Work on these lines has made the past term an exceedingly busy one. In November, 1894, work was begun upon the north wing extension and continued through the winter and spring following.

The extension completed adds fifty-eight new cells with bucket wash room to the men's department, and a new women's department complete. On the first floor are large work room, matron's office, fine laundry equipped with steam washer, wringer and drying racks; two large store closets.

On second floor, matron's sleeping and bath room, twelve sleeping rooms for women, bath room and large store room. On third floor, one large and three small hospital rooms and attic for storage. All rooms are neatly finished and steam heated and the building supplied with proper sanitary arrangements.

The next important improvement was the building of a new boiler house upon the north end of shop, the purchase and setting up of a new seventy horse power boiler and removal and resetting of the old one. Late in the Fall of '95 the Williams vacuum system of steam heating was adopted by which one boiler furnishes power for the shop and heats the entire institution, including power and steam for the laundry, steam for the kitchen cooking apparatus and the entire hot water supply. Two boilers have been done away with entirely and the buildings heated contain sixty-five per cent. more room.

Late in the Fall these improvements were completed and work was begun upon the foundation for the new wall. A large amount of field stone was dug free of cost from neighboring lots and this supply failing a large quantity of stone was quarried from a ledge on Pine Hill, three-fourths of a mile distant. The slope of the land upon the east and north side required a heavy and high foundation. This foundation is 760 feet long and at its largest point measures eight feet wide at base, five feet wide at top and twenty-two feet in height. In the excavation for prison extension and wall 52,271 cubic feet of earth was removed and 53,712 cubic feet of rough wall laid. The marble and brick wall which stands upon this foundation is 760 feet long, 14½ feet high, 2½ feet thick, surmounted with a cap-stone forming a walk the entire length three feet in width, guarded by a neat railing. This wall upon the west or street side is faced with brick and has pilasters and trimmings of rock-faced blue marble. The arched stone gateway is inscribed with H. C. in monogram and the dates of the building and enlargement of the institution.

The large ironclad gate for teams is worked upon a trolley by the wall officer who occupies a neat gate or sentry box overhead.

During the last winter the entire brickwork outside was given a handsome coat of red paint, greatly improving the appearance. The cellar where a part of the women's building formerly stood, has been covered with a tight cement roof a few feet above the ground and divided into rooms for the storage of ice, meat and vegetables. This supplies a long felt want, as the hot steam pipes render the other cellars unfit for these purposes.

There has been a large amount of filling, grading, sewerage and last but not least we have erected a flag staff upon the high cupola of the main building, from which the national colors are displayed on proper occasions.

I have described the improvements at length that you might realize that a large amount of work has been done, in which prison labor was a prominent and profitable item, in fact without it the work would have required an additional appropriation instead of leaving an unexpended balance to return to the State.

WOMEN'S DEPARTMENT.

In December last Miss Chatterton resigned her position as matron and was succeeded by Mrs. Allen St. John, of Hubbardton, who fills the position most satisfactorily. Twenty-one women are now in this department, more than ever before.

SANITATION.

For the sanitary condition of the institution I refer you to the very complete report of our efficient physician, Dr. C. S. Caverly. Its reading will convince you that nothing is left undone by Dr. Caverly or his able assistant, Dr. S. W. Hammond, in the treatment and care of the sick. In addition to regular visits, the many night or day calls for their attendance have been cheerfully and promptly responded to. It is a common expression of patients in our hospital that they receive better care than they would at their homes. To Dr. W. W. Townsend of this city, who as a specialist, has voluntarily treated many cases, we are much indebted.

EDUCATION.

The night school has been reopened (see teacher's report), and is doing excellent service, while good results are shown in all studies taught. The improvement in penmanship is most noticeable.

RELIGIOUS SERVICES.

Rev. E. M. Haynes, our chaplain, presents a very careful report of the moral condition of the inmates and his efforts in their behalf. The Sunday service is heartily enjoyed by officers, inmates and many visitors as well. The Sunday school (attendance voluntary), composed of and officered by the young men under the supervision of its founder, Deputy Superintendent Richmond, is productive of good results. Occasional letters from long ago members testify to its remembrance.

In closing I desire to acknowledge my obligation to Governor Woodbury for his kindly interest and aid. To the Directors for their counsel and many acts of consideration, and especially to Mr. Egbert C. Tuttle, chairman of the board, who as the resident Director, was subjected to many demands upon his time and patience. To Mr. Richmond, deputy superintendent, and all officers connected with me in the administration of the institution for their earnest work and loyal support.

Respectfully submitted,

D. L. MORGAN, Superintendent.

MONTHLY EXPENSES.

The amount paid for monthly expenses for the entire term of two years, $25,619.22 (see table), represents not only the maintenance of prisoners, but the amount expended in ordinary repairs and improvements and personal property, which has added to the value of the premises, and also increased the inventory of personal property, etc., by $1,240.80, subdivided as follows :

Salary account.....	$8,590 63
Subsistence account.....	8,397 55

Supply account.....	2,811 23
Fuel and lights account.....	1,784 00
Expense, (insurance, water and miscellaneous.....	1,485 12
Total.....	$25,619 22

The average cost of subsistence for all connected with the institution has been nine and three-fourth cents per day. Above amount includes all expenses for board of the superintendent's family and keepers, guards, etc.

There have been thirty-one less commitments to the House of Correction during the past two years than during the previous biennial period, but 12,440 more days board to provide for. An increase of 161 in Jail prisoners is accounted for and attributable to the new laws of 1894. These new laws commit certain prisoners to county jails, who, under former statutes, had been committed to the House of Correction. This increased the Rutland County Jail prisoners, and accounts in part for showing made; the increase in days board is accounted for also by longer sentences given in many cases.

Average gross daily earnings of men in shop, 46 $\frac{1}{10}$ cents per day.

The net earnings, less paid overseers' salaries, 46 $\frac{3}{10}$ cents per day.

Average daily earnings of men in shop, less amount unpaid for power and engineers, is 85 $\frac{1}{10}$ cents per day.

The old shop contract for labor in 1890 was 25 cents for men sentenced for 20 days and under, and 80 cents for men sentenced for over 20 days. This report shows a better result financially.

STATEMENT.

If the men employed on repairs had been employed in shop, their earnings for time spent on repairs, 5,959 days, would have added to income for shop account, \$3,089.19, figured on basis 85 $\frac{1}{10}$ cents per day. If this had been deducted from the balance saved on the appropriation for repairs, \$3,898.41, and credited to shop labor, we would have still left \$1,804.22, but we explain under financial statement why we treat the matter as we do.

In order to save the State the expense of free labor, a large number of prisoners were employed outside the yard and shops on the general repairs to buildings and new wall. The six prisoners who escaped were of that number, mostly trusty or short term prisoners, all men. With new safeguards and substantial wall entirely surrounding the yard and the buildings we do not anticipate any trouble in future. The old wooden stockade did not serve any protection to the institution and escapes were frequent.

This shows a large increase in commitments to Rutland County Jail, which is a part of this institution, and more than two and a half times as many as in the previous biennial period, owing in part to the new laws passed in 1894 regarding tramps and intoxication, also because a number of U. S. jail prisoners were held on execution for non-payment of fines. The commitments to county jails all over the State are larger for certain offenses, and the House of Correction is not burdened with them. It is proper to say, however, that the State gets no return from the labor of Rutland County Jail prisoners who are confined here for safe-keeping awaiting the law's disposition of the cases, and so far as the House of Correction goes they add just so much to the burden of expenses of running the institution with no corresponding return in shop labor. The State Prison does not have such a burden to contend with. For all U. S. jail prisoners we receive 50 cents a day for board.

Chaplain's Report.

To the Honorable Board of Directors of the Vermont House of Correction:

GENTLEMEN—I have the honor to submit the following brief report:

Since about the 1st of January I have been acting Chaplain of the House of Correction. Public religious services have been held with the prisoners, in the presence of a full attendance of the officers of the prison, every Sabbath during the period of my incumbency.

These exercises have been made as simple as possible, consisting of singing, conducted by Deputy Superintendent Richmond, assisted by inmates of the institution; reading of portions of the sacred Scriptures and an address on some practical religious subject. An earnest endeavor has been made to instruct this unfortunate class, especially in questions of morality and temperance, and in other forms of social life in which they are, nearly all, so lamentably lacking. Mr. Richmond has also conducted a Sabbath School nearly every Sabbath forenoon during the year, that has had an attendance of a score, more or less, from among the younger class of the prisoners, whom he has succeeded in interesting in the study of the scriptures. Reading matter, of differing qualities and varying quantities has frequently been sent to the prison by benevolently disposed persons, and this literature has been judiciously distributed among the prisoners by the officers of the institution. In all cases this has been thankfully received—perhaps as much for the occupation it affords, as for the information it furnishes.

Sometimes it is asked, "what good does all this do." For one thing it shows the good purpose and desires of the State and prison authorities toward those confined there; and it occasionally relieves the dreary monotony of prison life and affords them the opportunity to change the current of their melancholy thoughts toward pleasanter meditation.

But while I have nothing but words of commendation for the care and treatment, in every respect, of the prisoners confined here, yet I have little hope of the reform of many of them, or of their conversion to a better life. That will depend more upon a considerate and charitable reception, when they go back into society, which is almost impossible to expect—than any kind of treatment, while they are under the sentence of the law.

It affords me great pleasure to bear testimony to the unfailing respect and kindness of the Superintendent and all the subordinate officers of the prison, and their co-operation for the moral improvement of those under their charge.

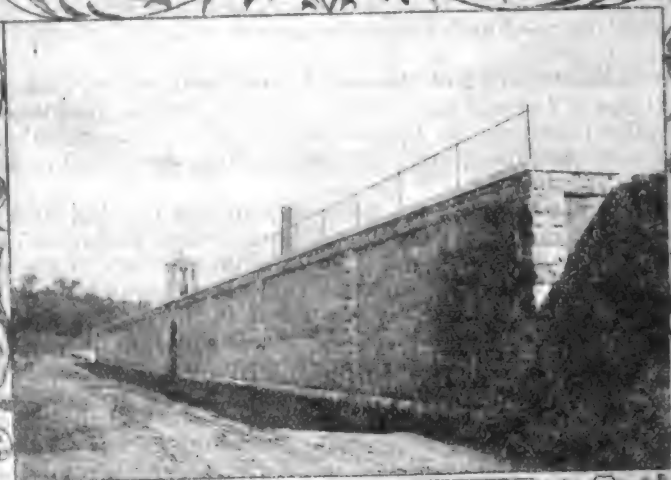

I am, gentlemen, with great respect,

Your obedient servant,

E. M. HAYNES, Chaplain.

I may say in explanation of the large number of cases given above that the hospital records of the institution have been more carefully kept during the past two years than ever before, and that every case of illness, however trivial, has been entered in these records. The number of cases of severe illness has, however, been comparatively small. Typhoid fever, which has heretofore been conspicuous among the causes of sickness, and of which there were 16 cases during the preceding two years, has fallen to three cases during the time covered by this report. This is undoubtedly the result of the improvements made in the plumbing and other sanitary arrangements noted in my last report.

Diarrhoea, dyspepsia, and other diseases of the digestive organs are still responsible for considerable sickness, and I would respectfully suggest to your board the advisability of still further improving the kitchen arrangements of the prison. The cooking and preparation of the food, and the general management of this important department of the institution might to advantage be placed in the hands of one or more competent persons, hired for the purpose from outside.

This plan would I think insure a more uniform and permanent service and one that would improve the quality of the food and the cleanliness of the kitchen and store-rooms. In making this suggestion I would not be understood as condemning the present regime, or the quality of the food supplied the inmates. I feel quite sure that the institution is now as well conducted in these respects as it is possible while the prisoners are utilized for this work. But I am confident that a change to permanent and paid employees would improve the present conditions. This institution was not inaptly styled by one of our Chief Executives as the "Charity hospital of the State." The vast majority of the cases of sickness here are due directly to causes over which the institution has no control. Most of those committed here are not in vigorous physical condition when they enter. Privation, vicious habits, and congenital defects of constitution are plainly responsible for much of our sickness. Recruited from such material, it is not to be wondered at that the House of Correction is in a very true sense a state hospital. The wonder is that there are not more serious cases of illness and more deaths. It is, I am sure, creditable that almost without exception the prisoners leave it in improved physical condition. It is quite the rule that the most sickness is among recent arrivals, and that it is usually the case that these physical wrecks are soon able to work regularly and leave the place in improved health.

The extension of the north male corridor and the enlargement and improvement of the female department have relieved the overcrowding of the past, and the good effect of these improvements is already manifest. There still remains the introduction of some competent system of ventilation. Attention was called to this defect in my last report, and I hope it will receive your early consideration.

Foul air vents already exist in the cells. Steps should be taken to utilize these, by creating a current of air through them, and there should also be some means of introducing fresh outside air when the windows and doors are closed. The confinement of so many human beings for more than half the time in so limited air space, is not only unhealthy in itself but it favors the distribution of the specific causes of many ailments, like ordinary colds, the grip, sore throats, and diarrhoeal diseases. The enlargement of the cell-rooms has been a great improvement, and their proper ventilation on the lines originally planned will add still more to their healthfulness.

The general sanitary condition of the institution is very good, and the faithfulness of the officers in their care of it is worthy of much commendation. Nowhere is cleanliness of so much importance as in such an institution, and in this respect this institution is especially fortunate.

There have been over 1,000 commitments to the House of Correction and Rutland County jail during this biennial term, yet there has been but one death among this number, that of Geo. Butterfly who died January 24, 1895, of delirium tremens within a few hours of his commitment.

There have been three transfers of insane prisoners to the State asylum, viz.: Simeon LaRose, 26 years, December 26, 1895; Ella Phelps, 42 years, December 26, 1895; and Warren Potter, 30 years, February 29, 1896.

I have to acknowledge finally my indebtedness to your board and to the officers of the institution, for aid and co-operation in improving the sanitary condition of the institution, and it is due very largely to the efforts of the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent that serious and fatal results have not followed many of our cases of sickness. Every facility has been afforded for the proper treatment of our numerous patients, and many of these unfortunates will long remember the care received from them.

My thanks are especially due to Dr. W. W. Townsend and Dr. S. W. Hammond of this city for valuable assistance in the care and treatment of the sick.

Respectfully submitted.

C. S. CAVERLY, M. D.,

Physician to House of Correction.

Rutland, July 1, 1896.

Teacher's Report.

To the Directors of the Vermont House of Correction :

GENTLEMEN—According to the usual custom, I hereby tender my report as teacher, under the statutes.

The evening school was suspended early in 1894 by reason of the crowded condition of the institution. In September, 1894, it was reorganized by Rev. H. W. Davis, but suspended again February, 1895, for good reasons.

On February 7, 1896, it was reopened under your present teacher. There were twenty scholars on my roll the first evening.

The average attendance each evening has been eighteen. The studies are as follows: Reading, brief course in elocution, arithmetic, writing and spelling.

The pupils have but little time in which to study their lessons, as ten hours of the day is occupied in hard labor, and immediately after supper, five nights in each week, they are taken to the school room. They show a good interest, however, and make fair progress.

Allow me to say that boys as young as most of those confined here, need some recreation, but just how to provide it is the question. The privilege of Saturday afternoon for this purpose is allowed in some institutions of similar character, and I hope in time, it may be given to the young men here.

Respectfully submitted.

HARLEY M. CHATTERTON,

Teacher.

Rutland, Vt., July 1, 1896.

RULES.

RULE I.

RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO ALL OFFICERS.

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the assistants and keepers to be at the House of Correction during the whole time, day and night, Sunday included, unless they have leave of absence from the superintendent.

Section 2. No officer, whether at the House of Correction or elsewhere, shall hold conversation with any person or persons not connected with the institution about the prisoners or their management, except in generalities; for special information that may be desired by strangers or others, they must be referred to the superintendent.

Section 3. The officers will fully and freely inform the superintendent of everything occurring in their departments, or coming under their observation, which may in the least affect the discipline, security or health of the prisoners, the pecuniary interests of the House of Correction, or in any way its general prosperity and usefulness.

Section 4. No officer or employee shall extend to the prisoners any favors of diet, of clothing, or any other nature not common to all, or give to, or receive from them, gifts, except with the approval of the superintendent.

Section 5. The officers shall not harshly treat the prisoners, except in self-defense, or when resistance is made; and it is enjoined upon them to treat the prisoners with the utmost kindness of manner, evenness of temper and impartiality, yet with such firmness as will tend to secure instant and silent obedience.

Section 6. Spirituous liquors shall in no case be brought to, or used upon, the House of Correction premises by any officer or employee, except for medicinal purposes, and then with the full knowledge and consent of the superintendent.

RULE II.

RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO DEPUTY.

Section 1. The deputy superintendent shall assist the superintendent in receiving and discharging prisoners, shall see that the food of the prisoners is properly cooked and divided, see that their clothing is in proper order, shall attend upon the physician at his regular visits to the prison, and see that his prescriptions are duly observed and administered.

Section 2. It shall be his duty to see that the whole establishment exhibits throughout neatness, good order and cleanliness; that all persons visiting the prison are treated with attention and politeness, and that they are promptly conducted through the several departments at all proper times.

Section 3. He shall, at short intervals, examine the beds, books, furniture, locks, doors, and the cells generally, to see that they are not injured mischievously, or by an attempt to escape from the cells. When he discovers anything wrong he shall take down the number of the cell, with the offense committed, and report the same to the superintendent immediately.

Section 4. He shall have, in the absence of the superintendent, the power and authority that is conferred upon the superintendent so far as relates to the discipline of the prison and the safe keeping of the prisoners.

Section 5. On the arrival of male prisoners the deputy will see that they are thoroughly cleaned, and that they are all supplied with a suit of the prison uniform. He will personally examine them for indications of disease, and promptly report to the superintendent when such indications are discovered, who may order his beard removed and his hair cut close if it shall be necessary; he will see that their "citizen's dress" is cleansed, repaired if necessary, marked and put away. He shall explain to them the use of the bells as signals, see that each has a copy of the rules for the government of prisoners, and impress upon them the policy, as well as the necessity, of obeying them.

Section 6. He will spend his whole time in the performance of the foregoing duties, unless otherwise directed, in which case he shall perform all and every other duty or service that may be required by the superintendent.

RULE III.

RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO PHYSICIAN.

Section 1. The physician shall visit the House of Correction and examine into the condition of the prisoners as often as required by the superintendent, and he shall be subject to Sections 3 and 4 of Rule I, in so far as they are applicable to his duties.

Section 2. He shall keep a record of all cases treated by him, and shall make a biennial report to the board of directors, stating the nature of the disease treated and his opinion of the causes which may have produced the sickness; also any other facts, opinions or information pertaining to his department.

RULE IV.RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO NIGHT WATCHMAN.

Section 1. It shall be the duty of the night watchman during the interval from locking-up time until eight o'clock to exercise constant vigilance by moving silently around the block of cells and upon the galleries, that he may be able to detect any improper conduct of the prisoners, and to report to the superintendent any infractions of the rules by the prisoners while in their cells. During the remainder of the night he shall pass along in front of the cells at short intervals, examining the same to see if each is securely locked, containing its inmate, and that the fires and lights and everything about the prison is properly cared for; and he shall be vigilant to discover signs of fire about any part of the institution, and upon the slightest discovery of that nature will alarm all of the officers.

RULE V.RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO THE MATRON.

Section 1. The matron shall be entrusted under the instruction of the superintendent with the care and general oversight of that part of the institution provided for the retention and employment of females, and shall preserve good order and propriety of behavior and cleanliness among those committed to her charge. She shall see that the newly-committed female prisoners are properly cared for, washed and furnished with prison clothing, that their own clothes are properly put away, and that all who are able to work are employed. For every violation of the rules of the prison by the female prisoners, which in the judgment of the matron requires punishment, she shall confine them in their cells and report the offense to the superintendent, that she may receive such advice and aid as the nature of the case may require.

RULE VI.RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO THE KEEPERS AND OVERSEERS.—RULES FOR THE SHOP.

Section 1. Men whose special duty it is to guard prisoners will be called keepers.

Section 2. Men whose duty it is to instruct prisoners in their work will be called overseers; other men employed will be called workmen.

Section 3. The overseers have the privilege of selecting the men for the different kinds of work in the shop, subject to the approval of the superintendent; but in all cases when men are called upon to do work outside of the shop, it must be such men as the keepers select, and they are to give their orders or make their suggestions to the prisoners in a kindly and gentlemanly manner, and in case of disobedience to such orders so given they are to report the same to the keepers.

Section 4. Keepers are to pay strict attention to see that the prisoners are industrious, obedient to orders given as provided for in No. 8, and respectful in their manner to the overseers, keepers, and to each other. They are to listen patiently to complaints of overseers concerning misconduct of prisoners, and being satisfied of its necessity they shall reprimand the prisoner kindly and coolly, but firmly, and if he persists in wrong-doing they are to report him to the superintendent or deputy immediately, or at the close of the half day, as the necessity of the case may call for. They are required, if possible, to manage so that one of them shall be at their stands all the time, and but one in the stand except on business, and then their stay shall be no longer than is necessary. When they leave their stands, one at a time, to vary the monotony, they are bound to guard the same portions of the shop as when watching at their stands. They are to allow neither overseer, workman nor prisoner to remain at their stands.

Section 5. Neither overseers or workmen are allowed to receive anything from any of the prisoners to carry away, or to bring anything in for them except it passes through the office of the superintendent. They are to hold no conversation with prisoners, except such as is necessary to inform them what to do and how to do it.

Section 6. No loud or boisterous talk will be allowed in the shop, and any misunderstanding which may arise must be talked over at some other time if at all.

Section 7. Visitors will be admitted to the workshop only by permission of the superintendent.

Section 8. The keepers will not leave their posts without being relieved. They will not allow a prisoner to pass out of the shop except in charge of a proper officer, and it shall be their duty to keep their weapons in good order; it shall be required of them to prevent any prisoner from making his escape at all hazards.

Section 9. They shall march their men to and from the cells in close order, taking the lock-step, and shall use their utmost endeavors to enforce non-intercourse and obedience to all the rules and regulations necessary for their government.

RULE VII.

RULES AND REGULATIONS APPERTAINING TO PRISONERS.—RULES FOR THE GOVERNMENT OF PRISONERS.

Section 1. The first duty of the prisoner is obedience, and it will be for his interest, as it is his duty, to be respectful and obedient to the officers, and to conform to the rules and regulations established for his government. Prisoners will rise in the morning when the bell rings, dress, wash, comb, make up their beds neatly and be ready for breakfast. When the doors are opened they will pass quietly out, receive their breakfast and return in an orderly manner to their cells.

Section 2. After breakfast prisoners will put their cells in order, making everything as neat and clean as possible and be ready at the proper time to go to their work. When the doors are unfastened and the order given prisoners will leave their cells and form in line in the corridor, standing quietly at attention while the count is made. At the order they will march in lock-step to the shop and at once take the places assigned them for work, which they must not leave without permission or direction from the keeper or foreman. When in shops and other places of labor they are to obey all orders promptly, exhibit no ill-temper when admonished by an officer; must not indulge in laughter, must have no conversation whatever with another prisoner, must not communicate any intelligence in writing, nor by looks or signs, nor stare at visitors, nor speak to or answer them, nor give to or receive from them anything.

Section 3. They must approach their keepers in a respectful manner and be brief in their communications; they are not to speak to them on ordinary topics, nor address them except when it becomes necessary in relation to their work or necessary wants. They must not leave the place of labor without permission from the keeper.

Section 4. If a prisoner is sick or unable to labor he will make it known to his keeper and act as he directs. When the shop bell rings for dinner or supper they will form in a line as the keepers shall direct, and march to the kitchen window and receive the food, which they will carry carefully, without spilling or dropping, to their cells. In all cases where a prisoner enters his cell he will hold the door firmly closed until it is locked. At the ringing of the bell at night the prisoner will retire and observe a profound silence from that time until the ringing of the bell in the morning. Prisoners will not be allowed to sleep in the clothes worn during the day, and are required to lay each article separately, that the guard on duty can see that this rule is complied with.

Section 5. Every prisoner shall bathe at least once in each week, unless excused by the physician or superintendent. All prisoners are required to attend religious exercises in the chapel on Sunday, unless they are sick or excused. While in the chapel the strictest order and decorum must be observed, keeping their face towards the desk and treating the chaplain and instructors with becoming respect.

Section 6. All noise in the prison is expressly forbidden, and there must be no talk or other communication between prisoners on any occasion without permission from an officer of the prison.

Section 7. The destruction of or unnecessary injury of any article of clothing, bedding, furniture, books, or any marking or defacing of the walls or these rules, or the waste or improper use of food, will be deemed a cause for punishment.

Section 8. Prisoners having formed the habit of using tobacco before entering the prison, will be allowed such an amount of tobacco as the superintendent shall direct. Spitting tobacco juice upon floors or walls of cells or corridors or through the grated windows is strictly forbidden. Prisoners disobeying this rule will lose their tobacco allowance and be otherwise punished. Smoking is positively prohibited. Male and female prisoners are not allowed to communicate with each other under any circumstances without permission of an officer and in his presence.

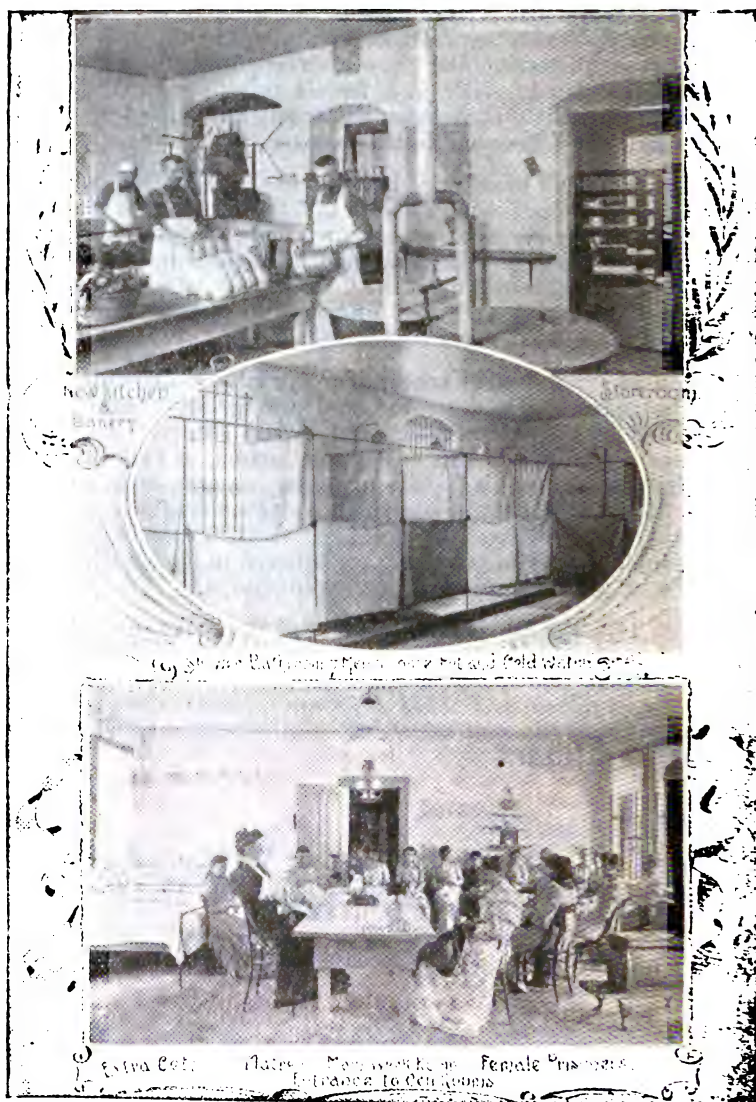

Section 9. Each prisoner, if he obeys the rules, will be permitted to write to his friends once a month at the expense of the state, and but one letter per week at his own expense, except by special permission of the superintendent; and all letters are to be written as plainly as possible and upon the lines of the paper, as no cross writing is permitted, and sent unsealed to the superintendent's office with the writer's name signed in full.

Section 10. All letters containing any false statements or improper language will be destroyed, and the prisoner so offending forfeits the privileges of writing or receiving letters. Any money a prisoner may have when he enters the prison, or that he may receive afterwards from his friends or other sources, must be placed in the hands of the superintendent, an account of which will be kept, and if well behaved he will be allowed to draw against it to pay for such articles as prisoners are allowed to have, and the balance, if any, will be paid to him on his discharge.

Section 11. For all violations of any of the above rules the prisoner will subject himself to severe punishment, and a deduction from good time gained. It is the duty of the officers in charge of the prisoners to see that these rules are promptly observed, as no officer except the superintendent has authority to suspend them or excuse their violation..

EXTRACT FROM NO. 4, LAWS OF 1880.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. When a person confined in State Prison or House of Correction for a limited time escapes therefrom and is retaken and returned to the institution from which he escaped, the term for which he is sentenced to be confined shall be deemed as commenced at the time he is so returned, and he shall be confined after his return the whole term for which he was sentenced.

An act relating to good time gained by prisoners in Vermont House of Correction:

A person confined in the House of Correction in execution of a sentence who so conducts himself for any month that no charge of misconduct is sustained against him shall have a deduction for each such month of five days from the term of his sentence, but such deduction shall be reduced five days for each charge of misconduct sustained against him, and he shall be entitled to his discharge so much sooner upon the certificate of the superintendent of the House of Correction, with the approval of the Governor.

Section 2. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Approved November 21, 1882.

NO. 155.—AN ACT RELATING TO THE FEES OF COMMITMENT OFFICERS.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. For transporting and committing one prisoner to the county jail, Reform School, House of Correction or State Prison, a sheriff or other officer shall be allowed fifteen cents a mile for travel one way, and eight cents a mile for each additional prisoner so transported or committed. If more than one prisoner is sentenced to either of the above named institutions at the same term of court, or at the same time of trial, the sheriff shall commit them all at the same time, unless otherwise directed by the court.

Section 2. For necessary assistance in transporting prisoners, such sum as is actually expended shall be allowed, if it seems reasonable to the auditor of accounts, and if the officer makes oath that the money was so expended, giving the name of his assistants, or names if there should be more than one, and the amount paid out. For board and keeping such sum as is actually expended, not exceeding three dollars a day, shall be allowed for each prisoner when in charge of an officer, who cannot reasonably place him in jail for safe keeping.

Section 3. All acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

Approved November 27, 1894.

NO. 75.—AN ACT RELATING TO TRAMPS.

It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont:

Section 1. Section 3967 of the Revised Laws is amended so as to read as follows:

If a transient person roves from place to place, begging, living without labor or visible means of support, he shall be deemed a tramp, and shall be punished by imprisonment in the House of Correction for the term of six months.

Section 2. Section 3969 of the Revised Laws is amended so as to read as follows:

A tramp who enters or attempts to enter a dwelling house or premises against the will of the owner or occupant thereof, or having entered, persists in remaining against the will of the owner or occupant, or kindles a fire in an out-building, school house or other public or unoccupied building, or on the lands, or in the public highway adjoining the lands, of any person between the first day of May and the first day of December, without the consent of the owner or occupant thereof, or who is found carrying a firearm or other dangerous weapon, or threatens to injure persons or property, shall be punished by imprisonment in the State Prison, not exceeding two years, nor less than six months.

Section 3. Section 3972 of the Revised Laws is amended so as to read as follows:

If a tramp wilfully and maliciously injures the person or property of another, or procures, or attempts to procure, food, clothing or other property by threats or by force, he shall be imprisoned in the State Prison not more than five years, and not less than one year.

Section 4. Sections 3968, 3970, 3971 and 3973 of the Revised Laws and all acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Approved November 27, 1894.

BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

Trustees and Superintendent

OF THE

Vermont Industrial School,

FOR THE YEARS

1895-96.

VERMONT INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL, VERGENNES, MAIN BUILDING.

To His Excellency the Governor of Vermont :

We have the honor to present our biennial report of the Vermont Industrial School.

The institution has been attended with its usual prosperity during the last two years. The health of its inmates has been excellent, except for a slight epidemic of scarlet fever in the winter of 1894-95, and there have been but two deaths during this period. Notwithstanding the fact that the price of chair-bottoming, which is the boys' chief mechanical industry, has fallen from five cents to one cent, and the further fact that farm produce brings lower prices than for years before, the per capita expenditure has been kept down to its usual average, and the net earnings of the farm, since the purchase of the Woodbridge lot, three years ago, have slightly increased. But while economy has been steadily kept in view, it has been our chief aim to fulfill the purpose for which the school was founded, and for which it should ever be maintained, the changing of bad boys and girls into good and useful citizens, and the consequent saving to the State of untold amounts of money, as well as the improvement of the commonwealth as a community in which to dwell. By taking in so many pupils each year, and placing out an equal number in homes where good influences prevail, the benefit to the State must be incalculable, and must equal or exceed, per dollar, that which is derived from the liberal amounts that are rightly expended upon our free public schools.

The record of the past two years is as follows :

The plumbing has been thoroughly overhauled and replaced, as was recommended two years ago, at an expense of $1,237.69, and the apparatus for heating and lighting should likewise be replaced with more modern fixtures.

The improvement and development of the Woodbridge lot of seventy acres, purchased three years ago, produces results which more than equal the expectations that were previously entertained, and which fully justify the expenditure. The property of the State in our charge is generally in most excellent condition.

Regarding this as a school, and to a very slight extent as a penal institution, we hold that its object must be the education and training of the young whose vicious tendencies made them dangerous to their associates or to the community, and not merely their punishment nor their instruction in the elements of learning or in labor. It must be an education in habits and in character, a training to do as well as to know, and it is found necessary to retain the pupils from a year to eighteen months in order that their better natures may become developed and strengthened. Considering their former associations, the spirit of the inmates is excellent, and their interest in both work and study, remarkable.

The placing-out system is governed by the law of desert and preferment. A very small percentage are irreclaimable. Those who are most deserving, in deportment and in progress, are placed in good families, and few return to us or become convicts afterward. The placing-out system enables us to serve a larger number at the same expense, and it is an incentive to good behavior and progressive effort.

We have also instituted a system of discharges among the furloughed ones, in addition to those in the school, and this saves the State a large degree of financial responsibility, and it is just as well and even better from a reformatory point of view, because of the fact that it is an encouragement to the boys to do well on furlough.

The class in wood-working is justifying the experiment. The sloyd system is a training of the eye for form, and a training of the hand to carry out right conceptions of form. The ability to apply knowledge is as valuable as the knowledge itself. And it is the experience of educators that a training in the making of useful objects is a great aid to character-building.

We recommend that Sec. 5,223 of Vermont Statutes be so amended that unless a boy or girl held for trial, or convicted by a justice and taking an appeal, and committed to the school for keeping, shall be given a trial at the next ensuing term of the county court in the county wherefrom he or she shall have been committed, except prevented by order of the court for some substantial reason, the trustees may in their discretion furlough or discharge such person from custody. We also recommend that the age of sixteen years be made the limit for committing girls as well as boys, as we can conceive of no good reason for sending girls to the State prison a year younger than boys; and we further recommend that boys and girls between the ages of sixteen and eighteen years, convicted of offenses punishable by imprisonment in the State prison or house of correction, may, in the discretion of the court, be sentenced to a term in the Vermont Industrial School.

There is no institution in the State towards which the deep interest of those with inclinations for reformatory work can better be directed, for the prevention of crime is easier of accomplishment than the cure of hardened criminals. The good people of Vermont should freely visit the school, as an encouragement to teachers and pupils—an incitement to greater effort and better results—for visitors are cordially welcomed by all.

In closing, we feel that we cannot too highly commend Superintendent and Mrs. Andrews and their excellent corps of teachers and assistants, whose minds and hands are active and energetic, and whose hearts are wholly in their work, and to whose ability and zeal the State is indebted, rather than to the trustees for the efficiency of the school.

MARCH 21, 1896.

MR. S. A. ANDREWS :

Dear Sir:—I will endeavor to let you know how I am succeeding in the great struggles of life.

I am still at work in the mill, and have been raised to $1.25 a day ; have lost eight and one-half days on account of no orders.

It was a very poor winter for lumber men in this section until March, since then we have had plenty of snow.

I havn't had a sick day this winter and feel well all the time. Have not lost but one day, except what I have been obliged to.

Will you please inform me how——is getting along, you know I took some interest in him.

This is all for this time. Give my respects to Mrs. Andrews and all the rest who used to know me.

I remain,

Yours truly,

APRIL 26, 1896.

DEAR MR. ANDREWS :

As I have not written you for some time it is about time to do so.

The snow is all gone and the roads are very good for this time of year. It was a very poor sugar season in this section, only making about one pound to the tree. I went to a sugar place to a sugaring-off just once, but could have gone more.

I am going to school this spring, commencing May 4th. Am enjoying myself well ; have been working on the land some.

Remember me to Mrs. Andrews, and tell her I would like to help her wash windows, but don't see how I can.

I remain, as ever before,

Yours respectfully,

NOVEMBER 5, 1895.

MR. S. A. ANDREWS:

Dear Friend:—I will fulfill my promise and write to you. I found my father all right at St. Johnsbury and arrived home the next morning. I am well and have attended school ever since. I remember and repeat the commandments and sing the hymns I learned while with you. I will try and not forget them.

I wish you would send me a quarterly, so I can keep up with the Sunday school lessons. It was to be the sixth lesson last Sunday, and I would like to learn it.

I can't think of anything more, so I will close by asking you to write to me. I will try to be a good boy and remember all the good things you taught me.

From one of your scholars,

MARCH 2, 1895.

MR. ANDREWS:

Dear Sir:—I now take the pleasure of writing to you to let you know that I am well and hope you are all the same.

I cannot say that I arrived here all right, for I boarded the wrong train at N. H., and was on my way back to the school when I heard the brakeman call out the next station; I run to jump and the conductor tried to get hold of me, but I slipped off and reached my train all right.

Mr.——met me at the station. I am four miles from the village, so I do not go out nights and do not use tobacco. I have been to church three times so far. They use the same kind of lesson leaves as you do there in Sunday school. I have a very nice teacher here.

I do not have anyone to correct my letters, so it comes very hard for me to write without making some mistakes.

I will close hoping to hear from you soon.

I remain,

Your friend,

JUNE 21, 1896.

DEAR MR. ANDREWS:

I have been thinking for the last week it is about time I should let you know how I am getting along. I am getting along first-rate and hope you are, too.

I am working steady in the same old place, Hadley's Thread Mill. I have worked pretty hard and have managed to save a few dollars.

I want to make you a visit some time next month if it will be convenient. I would like to stay in Vermont a few days to get some fresh air. I like it and I think it will benefit me; we cannot get it here unless we go out of the city 5 or 10 miles.

My brother is getting along nicely, and is just as big a boy as I am; he works every day at his trade, carriage painting.

If you have no objections, I will visit you some time next month, but cannot tell just when. This is all I can think of; hoping to hear from you soon,

Yours truly,

MAY 31, 1896.

DEAR MR. AND MRS. ANDREWS:

I have not heard from you since I left you. I am enjoying good health and hope you are, too.

After I came away I worked on my father's farm in Craftsbury, Vt., in the fall we sold our farm and moved here. I am now working for Mr. C.; have hired out until next fall; then I am going to Portland to visit my aunt, and if I have money enough should like to go to Vergennes to see you and the officers, and all the boys that were there when I was there.

I go to church every Sunday and to Sunday school. Our minister's name is Mr.——. He is liked very much.

Last Saturday I did not have much to do so nine of us boys went to Jefferson Hill and played the boys there a game of base ball. They had five that play in the first nine, so we lost the game by eight scores. The 4th of July we are going to pay them back; I am going to pitch for our nine.

Three boys and myself are going camping about 15 miles in the woods to hunt and trap; there is nothing I like any better. We are going near a pond where the deer are plenty, and some bears, hares and partridges. It is fine fishing, so I think we won't starve.

Well, I can't think of anything more, so will close, hoping to hear from you soon.

Yours very truly,

P. S.—Mr. Andrews, will you please send me one of the latest reports of the school, and I will be ever so much obliged?

FEBRUARY 2, 1896.

MR. ANDREWS:

Dear Sir:—My father is away canvassing, but he is coming home soon and will answer your letter then.

I like here pretty well, and like Uncle ——— very much. Am doing all the chores. We have a foot of snow. I read now in the third reader and think by next term I can read in the fourth reader. I do not think of any more to write this time.

Yours with respect,

JANUARY 5, 1896.

MRS. ANDREWS:

Dear Friend:—I received your letter and was very glad to hear from you, and I hope you will forgive me for not writing sooner. I have been very busy.

I had a little accident last week; I was herding some horses when my horse slipped and fell and I went under him and hurt my foot so I cannot work for a while. I am receiving $10 per month; in four months, if I do well, I am to have more. They pay more out here than they do there; a man can get $25 a month in haying. I wish you could be out here and see the way they do their work; and the barns they have. The horses run all winter and are as fat as can be. We have trees here, but not as many as in Vermont. How are all the boys?

As it is time for the mail to go I will close, hoping to hear from you again. I want to be remembered to all the officers and boys.

Yours truly,

P. S.—Will you please send me the song that is in the hymns, New and Old, "At the cross, at the cross, where I first saw the light."

FEBRUARY 8, 1896.

DEAR MRS. ANDREWS:

I received your kind and loving letter and was very glad to hear from you, and to know that you all have been well.

We had quite a snow storm about a week ago, and last Thursday we had a very hard rain, and it took the snow off, so the children did not get any coasting out of it.

If you are in B—— on Thursday I will try to give you a call that afternoon, for I am working and that is the afternoon I have off. I am only going to work out until the first of Sept., then I am going to learn dressmaking. I wanted to work out so mamma said I could. I am well and have been since I have been home. Am getting along very nicely and am trying to be just as good as I can. I go to church nearly every Sunday with mamma. Now I will close with much love to you all. Good-bye.

Lovingly,

Remarks.

Our numbers have been larger than for several years. The truant act of 1894 is, we think, the principal cause for the increase; twenty-five having been committed under this act—eighteen during the past year. The net per capita expense for the last year was $148.19, which with our wards includes subsistence, clothing and schooling.

The income from seating chairs, which in years past has been a source of revenue, but now, on account of competition, very little can be derived from it. We continue to do a limited amount of this work as a means of teaching the boys habits of industry. The trustees think it better not to detain the children as long as heretofore, consequently, they are younger and not as much work can be expected from them. If our numbers continue to increase it will necessitate another teacher.

As probation officer I have given more attention to the children on furlough, visiting many of them and requiring reports from them, their parents or guardians, and agents appointed by me. Am pleased to report a large per cent doing well. In many cases, where they have failed, is, in part or wholly, the fault of the parent or guardian.

During the past two years the trustees have acted wisely I think, both for the State and the wards, in discharging fifty (50), who have been on furlough for a considerable time and have given evidence of becoming respectable citizens. We have now on furlough seventy-five (75). In no biennial period since my connection with the school has there been so few returned from places, and so much evidence that the work done has not been in vain.

In my last report I called attention to the condition of the plumbing. At the suggestion of the trustees, I invited the State Board of Health to inspect it; they condemned the entire system. During the fall and winter of 1894, $1,237 were expended in plumbing and necessary repairs. We have a modern system which, we think, compares favorably with other institutions. The bills for medical services rendered during the last fiscal year was $50, which speaks well of the sanitary condition. We attribute in part our healthfulness to the improved plumbing system. The expense was considerable, but we trust it will be paid in part by smaller physician's bills and fewer druggist's prescriptions.

During the winter of 1894 and '95 we had an epidemic of scarlet fever—twenty-five cases. Good medical skill and faithful nursing prevented any fatalities. There have been two deaths; in July, 1894, Minnie Brown, committed from Bennington, died of consumption, age

14. In October, 1895, Nelson Blanchard, committed from Barnard, died very suddenly of heart failure, age 16. Many come to us diseased both in mind and body, and require long and careful treatment.

The necessary repairs to keep so many buildings in a condition, so it will be economy for the State, although the outlay be not large on any one of them, in the aggregate, is considerable. I do not think in the near future it will be necessary to expend a large amount. I called attention in a former report to the inadequate and expensive heating system, and again recommend in place of the two upright boilers there should be one large horizontal boiler which will be more economical.

Our gas-lighting plant has done service for twenty years, for the past two years has furnished us with poor lights and given us much trouble and should be repaired by replacing with new and improved parts or some other system of lighting introduced. I am in hopes that the Vergennes Electric Light Co. will soon be able to give us lights at reasonable rates.

We have put in a patent water heater and storage tank for the laundry and kitchen which proves to be economical and convenient. The old plank walk connecting the girls' school with the main building has been replaced by concrete. The Sloyd system of manual training is working good results, and in no way can the juvenile delinquent be better or more quickly developed mentally, morally and physically. This system of wood-working seems to be adapted to our small boys. Many children that come to us, either by inherited tendencies or environments have a desire to do the least work possible, and that as poorly as they can; and to instill into them the habits of industry and exactness, we find that the Sloyd system is most helpful. We have deviated somewhat from the Sloyd models, giving the smaller boys work more simple, and the older ones work in the line of practical carpentry. We have added to this department a turning lathe, circular saw and a blacksmith's forge with necessary tools for iron working.

Recently we have fitted a small office, where boys are instructed in the art of printing. This we believe to be a worthy factor, as it teaches neatness and accuracy, as well as industry and perseverance. In using the rules for compilation, punctuation and arrangement, the boy gets a practical knowledge of the "English." We hope soon to enlarge our printing facilities, as we have now but a small press and a rather limited supply of type.

A shoe shop is fitted for repairing, where boys are taught a practical trade, and many dollars are saved.

The reading room has recently been supplied with new racks and files, made by the boys of the Sloyd department. Periodicals suitable for them are on file; a number of games are also furnished. Officers alternate in taking a certain number of the children to the room for an evening.

The usual good work has been accomplished in school, and in many cases the advancement is remarkable. The school has been supplied with new books, globes, charts and other apparatus. The average number of girls has been the same as in years past, but of a younger age. On account of the increase in the number of boys, the girls have not been able to make all of the new clothing required, besides keeping the old properly repaired. They have shown more interest in their school work and have made commendable progress. Their department has been good, and we have much to encourage us in this department.

The farm has yielded good crops and has been helpful in reducing the subsistence account, as will be seen by referring to the detailed farm account. As most of our boys have to seek employment on farms when leaving the school, we endeavor to give them good instruction in farm methods; the older ones the care and handling of teams and the care of stock. Nearly all are taught to milk; thereby we try to make the farm an educational department.

As in the past, careful attention has been given to religious instruction. Sunday morning at 9 o'clock all assemble in chapel for Sabbath school. The international lessons are taught from non-sectarian helps. The interest manifested and the desire to learn would be commendable to any Sabbath school. We trust that the seed sown will in time "bring forth fruit;" and the impressions made, be lasting and helpful. The several churches in town welcome us to their Sunday morning services. The pastors frequently come to our chapel and are ever ready with words of encouragement and instruction, also to sympathize with us in times of sorrow and death.

Holidays have been observed with appropriate exercises to teach the significance of the day. Especial attention has been given to teaching patriotism. There have been less frequent attempts to elope, and few cases that have required severe discipline. Since my connection with the school the moral condition never has been better.

By the revision of the laws in 1894, the age limit for the committal of girls was changed from sixteen to fifteen years. And I recommend that section 5219 of the Vermont Statutes be so amended that the age limit shall be sixteen for committal for girls. I think that girls should have the same rights from the courts as boys. Some of our most hopeful cases are girls that were committed in their sixteenth year.

I also recommend that the County Courts be given discretionary power to commit a person over sixteen years of age to this school. Often those are before the Court who are dwarfed in mind or body, and this school seems a proper place for them rather than the house of Correction or State's prison.

Several changes have occurred with the staff of officers and teachers. Some have gone to other schools to take advanced positions and larger salaries. The resignation of Mr. W. G. Fancher has been accepted to take effect soon. Mr. Fancher has for six years been a faithful teacher and officer and an efficient assistant. If my administration has in any way been successful it is largely due to a corps of competent and faithful officers.

I wish to thank the Superintendents who have so kindly sent us the papers published by the inmates of their institutions. There is much in them that is of value for juvenile delinquents, and they are read with interest by our children. Also to the editor of the Burlington Independent, Barre Enterprise and Winooski Journal, and Rev. C. A. Bradford for the Christian Arbitrator; publishers of the Christian Herald for many copies, and for a large number of books from the Bible Institute Colportage Association, Chicago; Chas. P. Harris, Esq., of Rutland for useful books and papers, and others who have contributed reading matter without sending their names. To the gentlemen of the Board of Trustees, for their confidence and support, I am grateful.

We would not be unmindful of God's blessings in the past, and may "God be merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us" in the years to come.

All of which is respectfully submitted,

S. A. ANDREWS, Supt.

REPORT.

To the Honorable the General Assembly of Vermont:

The Trustees of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College respectfully present their sixteenth report for the collegiate years, 1895, 1896:

HISTORY AND CHARTERS.

"An act for the purpose of founding a University at Burlington" was passed by the Legislature of Vermont, November 2d, 1791, of which the following are the preamble and first section:

"Whereas, the education of youth is necessary for the advancement of morality, virtue and happiness, and tends to render a people or State respectable; to promote which, establishments for seminaries and colleges have ever been patronized by all good governments; and, whereas, several grants of land have already been made by the State, and private liberal donations have been offered, for promoting so needful an establishment within the same, which demand the attention of this Legislature for laying the foundation for an institution so beneficent to society; therefore,

Section I. It is hereby enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Vermont, that there shall be and hereby is a College instituted and established at such place in the township of Burlington, in the county of Chittenden, as the corporators hereinafter named shall think most convenient for that purpose, to be known and designated by the style of the University of Vermont."

A subsequent act gave to the corporation of the University "full power, right and authority to appropriate to the use and benefit of the said University forever all such lands as have been already granted and reserved by the authority of this State for the use and benefit of a college."

The act of incorporation vested in the Trustees of the University of Vermont full power "to appoint, elect, support and remove from time to time all such officers and servants as they shall find necessary; to direct the studies of the youth; to establish professorships and professors, and provide for their support; to make and establish all necessary rules, regulations and by-laws for the orderly government of said University (provided always that the said rules, regulations and by-laws shall not tend to give preference to any religious sect or denomination whatsoever); to grant and confer all such degrees, literary titles, honors and distinctions as other universities, colleges and seminaries have done or may of sight do; and to do any other thing which may be found necessary for the government and welfare of such an institution."

With the consent of the Corporation certain changes were made by the Legislature in respect to the number and the mode of election of the trustees of the University by Acts passed Nov. 2nd, 1810, and October 31st, 1823, but these were, with like consent, repealed by the Act of October 30th, 1838, which revived and confirmed the provisions of the original charter, which charter remains in full force at the present time, with such modifications as the Corporation of the University accepted in 1865, in accordance with the provisions of the charter of The University of Vermont and State Agricultural College.

In 1862, largely through the exertions of Hon. Justin S. Morrill, then Representative and since Senator from Vermont, Congress passed an "Act donating public lands to the several States and Territories which may provide colleges for the benefit of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts." Under the provisions of this Act, the Legislature of Vermont chartered in 1862 the Vermont Agricultural College, which, failing to receive the support necessary to put it into operation, was by an Act approved Nov. 6th, 1865, incorporated with the University of Vermont into one institution by the name of "The University of Vermont and State Agricultural College." This corporation is invested with the property, rights, powers and privileges which belonged to both or either of the corporations so combined, and "shall be and remain a body corporate forever, for the purpose of carrying out the objects contemplated in the respective charters" of the two institutions.

The "objects contemplated" in the charter of the Vermont Agricultural College are stated in the exact language of the Act of Congress providing for Colleges of Agriculture and the Mechanic Arts, as follows:

"The leading object shall be, without excluding other scientific and classical studies, and including military tactics, to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts, in order to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions in life."

The objects contemplated in the charter of the University of Vermont are stated in the Preamble and Sections as given above.

The charter of the University of Vermont and State Agricultural College requires that "there shall, at all times, be maintained in the institution hereby created such instruction in the various branches of learning as is contemplated in the several charters of each of the institutions hereby united; and more particularly including a four years' course of studies, similar to such as are generally taught in other colleges and not inferior to that recently taught in said University of Vermont; and in addition to that which is usually taught in other colleges, the instruction in this institution shall include such enlarged facilities, and extended scope and variety in the study of those branches which relate to military tactics, agriculture and the mechanic arts, as shall render the whole instruction in conformity with said Act of Congress, as well as with the several charters aforesaid."

Section II of the Charter provides that, for the purpose of receiving property by gift, grant, bequest or otherwise, and for certain other purposes therein specified, each of the original corporations shall be deemed and treated as having continued in life.

Gifts and bequests may therefore be made to (1) The University of Vermont, (2) The Vermont Agricultural College, (3) The University of Vermont and State Agricultural College.

By the provisions of "An Act to apply a portion of the proceeds of the public lands to the more complete endowment and support of the colleges for the benefit of agriculture and the mechanic arts, established under the provisions of an act of Congress, approved July second, eighteen hundred and sixty-two," the institution receives from the United States Treasury an annual appropriation to be applied "only to instruction in Agriculture, the Mechanic arts, the English language, and the various branches of mathematical, physical, natural, and economic science, with special reference to their applications in the industries of life, and to the facilities for such instruction."

THE TRUSTEES.

The General Assembly in 1894 reëlected the group of Trustees whose terms expired in November, 1895, viz.: Hon. Crosby Miller, Hon. Redfield Proctor, and Hon. E. J. Ormsbee, whose period of service is thus extended over the term of six years, from November, 1895, to November, 1901. The Trustees whose term expires in November, 1897, and whose successors are to be chosen by your honorable body, are Hon. Cyrus Jennings, Tyler M. Graves and Wallace I. Robinson.

The Trustees, on the part of the University of Vermont, acting as a separate body in accordance with the provisions of the charter of the joint corporation, have chosen three members to fill vacancies in their body. To fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Worthington Smith, they chose Dr. William Seward Webb, of Shelburne Farms, who has accepted the appointment and has entered upon the duties of his office. In conformity with a vote of the Trustees granting to the alumni of the University power to nominate a candidate for each alternate vacancy in the board, Hon. Robert Roberts was nominated by the suffrages of the alumni, and was elected by the Trustees a member of the corporation. At the same meeting of the Board, Hon. Edward J. Phelps presented his resignation as a member and Norman Williams, Esq., of Chicago, was chosen to fill the vacancy. In tendering his resignation, Mr. Phelps said: "I take this step because it is impossible for me, as I am situated, to discharge the duties of the office in such a manner as to be of use to the University. In taking leave of a post which I regard as a high honor, and the associations of which have always been most agreeable to me, permit me to express my undiminished interest in the welfare of the university and my earnest hopes for its continued prosperity." Mr. Williams, after holding his appointment under advisement for a long time in the hope of seeing his way to the acceptance of it, addressed a communication to the Board under date of May 14, 1896, in which he says: "The University requires upon its board only efficient men, men who can continuously give thought and attention to its affairs, men who will not only attend the meetings but devote as conscientious service to its affairs as they do to their own business. I appreciate the favor and preferment which my election implies, but I cannot consent to assume duties which I well know I cannot perform." This declination leaves a vacancy in the Corporation of the University.

THE FACULTY.

Leaving out the Medical Department, a special report of which is appended, we call attention to the Academic, Scientific and Industrial Departments as having the following teaching force:

Of the above, twenty-one are Professors and eight are Instructors.

Upon the resignation of Prof. W. W. Cooke as Professor of Agriculture and Director of the Experiment Station, Prof. Joseph L. Hills, Professor of Agricultural Chemistry and chemist in the Experiment Station was chosen director, and was continued in his professorship of agricultural chemistry. Instruction in agriculture for the three past years has been given by five different instructors, each handling specialties in the subject. During 1895 a portion of the agricultural instruction was given by Prof. A. A. Bingham, late of the Sapporo (Japan) Agricultural College.

The income of the Flint professorship having become available for the establishment of a chair in "mathematical, physical or technic science," the trustees established a chair of "Mechanics and Bridge Engineering" and appointed Prof. V. G. Barbour to the same.

At the close of the academic year, 1895, Prof. James R. Wheeler resigned the professorship of Greek to accept a chair of Greek in Columbia College, New York. To fill this vacancy, George E. Howes, Ph. D., formerly instructor in the Boston Latin School and in Haverford College, Pennsylvania, was chosen Professor of Greek pro tempore and has since been advanced to the full professorship.

After having served for two years with marked acceptance in the Chair of Rhetoric and English Literature, Mr. Stockton Axson resigned in order to continue his studies for a Doctorate in Princeton College. His place has been filled by the appointment to the chair of Frederick Tupper, Jr., formerly Professor of English in Wells College.

A new department of Physics has been established and Mr. Allison W. Slocum, late instructor in the West Chester (Pa.) State Normal School, has been called to the chair.

Mr. A. G. Gulley, Instructor in Horticulture, and Horticulturist in the Experiment Station, having resigned his position here and accepted a similar position in the Storrs (Conn.) Agricultural College, Mr. F. A. Waugh, a graduate of the Kansas Agricultural College and for a time Instructor and Horticulturist in Oklahoma Agricultural College and Station, has been appointed pro tempore to the vacant chair.

STUDENTS.

The students in attendance in the departments of Arts and Sciences during the last biennial period were for the years 1894-5, 279, and for the years 1895-6, 295. The students in all the departments, including the medical, were 439 and 480. The following table shows the distribution of students among the departments in 1895:

REQUIRED AND ELECTIVE STUDIES.

While the principle of a fixed curriculum, which was universal in the colleges of the last generation, has been almost wholly abandoned, the extent of choice which can be wisely left open to students, especially in the younger classes, is still in debate. Very few colleges give absolute freedom of election throughout the course; most of them enlarge the scope of elective studies from year to year, giving entire freedom in the last year. Our policy has been a rather cautious and conservative one, but we find ourselves gradually opening the courses, after the first year, to more free election. The discussions which have arisen from time to time as to the wisdom of this course, have usually brought out the fact that as a general rule, elections have been made with a fair degree of wisdom. It is, however, with many, a serious question whether students would not get a more consecutive and balanced discipline if this choice, instead of being extended to particular subjects, were limited to courses marked out with some regard to continuity and symmetry by mature and experienced minds.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

The good results following the elevation of the standard of admission to this department to the level of that of the other scientific departments was commented upon in the last report. The wisdom of this policy is becoming continually more evident.

The class of young men in the agricultural course at present is distinctly superior to that admitted under the lower standard of former years. Their numbers are greater; their class room work is better; and their standing in the student community in every respect is on a par with that of their fellows in the academic and scientific courses.

The course as now offered is as broadly scientific as any in the institution, yet it includes a liberal proportion of those branches, theoretical and practical, which bear directly upon or are related to agriculture. Graduates are thus fitted to grapple intelligently with the problems of actual farm life and are likewise equipped with a good general education, preparing them to do creditable work in other vocations.

It is a source of pardonable pride to the faculty of the department and an evidence of the practicability of the course, that graduates of two recent classes hold positions in Experiment Stations of other States. Had not his death intervened a graduate of the present year would have become a member of the Vermont station staff after the last commencement.

Tuition, room rent and incidentals are free to students in the four years agricultural course. There are, moreover, opportunities in connection with the work of the Experiment Station and on the college farm for a limited number of Vermont students to earn an amount sufficient to defray a portion of their board bills.

The claim is made without fear of successful contradiction that few if any better opportunities exist for the ambitious and earnest young men of our State to get a broad scientific education at minimum outlay, than are to be found in the four years agricultural course at this University.

To those who do not wish to undertake the full four years course, the department offers the privilege of a selection of special studies of a more purely agricultural nature for shorter times, ranging from a few months to two years. The most successful "short course" which has thus far been conducted, one purely technical in its nature and thus far overcrowded in attendance, is the

The fifth annual session of the Dairy School began on Thursday, January 9, and closed on Wednesday, February 5, 1896. The school is designed to give instruction in the science and art of butter making, the handling of various kinds of dairy apparatus, the care and handling of milk, the testing of milk and the detection of adulteration. The course is open not only to the professional creamery worker, but to any one who may wish to learn the newer methods in dairying. There were five instructors connected with the school.

The creamery was built with especial reference to the work of the Dairy School, and is large enough to accommodate comfortably a class of fifty. There were ten separators and a variety of other dairy apparatus in use. The machinery is driven by a twelve-horse power Sturtevant engine, backed by a fifteen-horse power boiler. From 700 to 1,000 pounds of milk were handled daily by the students, giving them ample opportunity to conduct their work under creamery conditions. The students were given drill in the principles and practice of handling machines, starting, running, stopping, taking to pieces and putting together, in order to acquaint them with separator construction and operation.

Thorough instruction was given in the use of the Babcock test for fat and of the lactometer on whole milk, cream, skim-milk, buttermilk, whey, and bowl slop.

A course in pasteurization was given, including lectures and practical work with the pasteurizing apparatus. The rapid increase in the use of pasteurized products and the lack of information regarding proper handling of this class of apparatus made this a peculiarly interesting course.

Two courses of lectures were given—twenty-four on the constitution and production of milk, etc., and twenty-four by prominent dairymen of the State, professors in the university, and others, on various dairy topics.

The class was divided into three sections. By changing from day to day, each student spent a third of his time in each class of work.

The daily schedule was as follows:

8.30 to 9.30 A. M.—Lecture on milk constitution and production, etc.

9.30 to 12 A. M.—Section work at separators and churns in the milk-testing laboratory and at the pasteurizer.

2 to 3 P. M.—Lecture on some dairy topic.

3 to 4.30 P. M.—General discussion of the work of the day, including quiz.

There are no entrance examinations or tuition fees required for admission to the dairy school.

At the close of the school examinations on the lecture courses, and upon the practical work were held and certificates given to those who showed proficiency.

The last report to your honorable body called attention to the pressing need for larger quarters and more extended appliances. Instruction has not been given in cheesemaking as yet, although work in this line would doubtless prove of value to our State, which ranks fifth in the gross amount of cheese produced. The calls for instruction in butter-making and milk-testing however have been more imperative and the Vermont school thus far has been overcrowded with students in this line. In almost every State where this class of instruction is given State funds have been voted for the erection and thorough equipment of a commodious and specially adapted dairy school building. If our school is to remain in the front rank its facilities must soon be enlarged.

THE EXPERIMENT STATION.

The work of the experiment station during the past two years has continued along the same lines as those hitherto pursued, viz.: dairying, animal feeding, composition of field crops, analysis of commercial fertilizers, plants and animal diseases, etc.

The following bulletins and reports have been issued since the last biennial report to the legislature.

October—Seventh Annual Report, 152 pages.

November—No. 43, Household Pests, 8 pages.

November—Special Bulletin; Abstracts of Lectures on Dairying, Vermont Dairy School (extracted from Thirteenth Report, State Board of Agriculture) 87 pages.

December—No. 44, Spraying Orchards and Potato Fields, 28 pages.

March—No. 45, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizer, 8 pages.

April—No. 46, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 16 pages.

May—No. 47, Commercial Fertilizers, 40 pages.

October—Eighth Annual Report, 200 pages.

October—No. 48, Gluten Feeds and Meals, 20 pages.

December—No. 49, Potato Blights and Fungicides, 24 pages.

March—No. 50, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 8 pages.

April—No. 51, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 12 pages.

May—No. 52, Analyses of Commercial Fertilizers, 24 pages.

August—No. 53, The Pollination of Plums, 20 pages.

During the twenty-two months included in the above summary the station has published 560 pages of printed matter, exclusive of the special bulletin which contained nearly a hundred pages more. The ninth annual report containing nearly 200 pages will be issued during the fall.

The station appears to be more widely useful every year as a bureau of information, as the increasing number of letters received would indicate. The total correspondence of the past year, partly connected with the regular business of the station, but largely in response to requests for information has necessitated writing nearly four thousand letters.

The green house has been extensively repaired and a new horse barn made from the western wing of the station barn, hitherto used as a tool room and for storage. The former horse barn has been thrown into the cow stable, giving a more commodious and better ventilated apartment for the forty head of cows which now comprise the station herd.

CERTIFICATION OF BABCOCK MILK TESTING GLASSWARE.

For several years the station has made a standing offer to examine all milk testing bottles and pipettes free of charge to residents of the state. Many creameries, cheese factories and individual dairymen have taken advantage of this offer and a considerable proportion of incorrect glassware has been detected and destroyed; yet by far the larger part of the creameries and cheese factories have no guarantee that their bottles and pipettes are correct other than that of the seller, which may or may not be of value. Injustice in dividend making because of faulty apparatus is not infrequent and needs to be overcome. It is respectfully suggested that creameries and cheese factories paying for milk by test, be required by law to obtain from the experiment station a certificate of the correctness of all glassware used for this purpose, the actual expense of such certification to be met by the parties sending the apparatus. It is estimated that this would not exceed fifteen cents a dozen, in addition to express charges, on clean, dry bottles and pipettes.

In this connection it may not be amiss to state that the college and station stand ever ready to instruct those in charge of milk testing in the proper manipulation of the test, either by letter or by personal work at the station laboratory.

THE LIBRARY.

The Billings library building and its contents continue to be sources of strength to the University.

From the librarian's report for 1894 we make the following extracts:

"The number of volumes in the University library May 31, 1896, exclusive of duplicates, as shown in our accession books, was 50,077, of which 37,570 are in the general collection and 12,507 in the Marsh library. Fourteen years ago we had but 20,000 volumes, and sixty years ago only about 7,000 volumes, but then we were possessed of a library "which at that period was not equalled for the purposes of such an institution in the United States, with perhaps the exception of that at Harvard." Though the size and value of our collection have been largely increased during the last few years, notably through the munificence of Mr. Billings, it falls short of our needs. In our spacious and beautiful building we have room for many more gifts, and we earnestly hope for much larger funds to enable us to provide a better equipment for study and research, and to develop all departments of the library symmetrically. In physics, in civil, electrical and mechanical engineering, in political and social science, in recent French and German literature, in natural history, in every department we have important deficiencies to fill. We ought, to mention a single instance, to have the Jesuit Relations, for their help in the study of the early history of our own country. The reprint of these rare documents with translation in about sixty volumes is to be commenced in August. The Lenox library in New York has the only approximately complete collection of these valuable Travels and explorations of the French Jesuit missionaries among the Indians of Canada and the northern and northwestern United States, 1610-1791."

The most important event in the recent history of the University is the completion and the gift to the University of the "Williams Science Hall," and the "Converse Hall," two noble buildings, hardly surpassed if equalled by any similar collegiate edifices in the country.

THE WILLIAMS SCIENCE HALL,

occupying the former site of the Museum Building, has a front of 175 feet, a depth of 53 feet and a height of 90 feet, with an east wing 51 by 49 feet of the same height. This gives, in three stories, basement, and attic, about 45,000 square feet of floor space divided among lecture-rooms, laboratories, apparatus and instrument rooms, offices, etc., for the three departments of chemistry, physics, and biology. The architecture is impressive, and is at the same time appropriate to a building devoted to scientific instruction and research. The basement is of Barre granite. The main walls are of brick pierced by windows of varied design in the successive stories, encased and arched with terra cotta, surmounted by a steep roof of black slate broken by dormer windows. The projecting centre portion of the building rises into a gable, and in its front, over the arched entrance, is a beautiful central arch, with rich panellings, columns, interlaced arches, and decorations in relief. Upon the spandrels of the entrance are, on either hand, the seal of the State of Vermont and the seal of the University. Three medallions, above, bear in high relief the heads of three great American scientists, Agassiz, Henry and Morse.

The construction is fire-proof throughout, and of the most solid and durable character. The laboratories contain the latest and most approved fixtures and appliances for instruction and research. The cost of the building has exceeded $140,000, and $60,000 in addition is being expended on furniture and apparatus. This magnificent gift to the University by a son of Vermont, Edward Higginson Williams, of the Norman Williams family of Woodstock, should make his name and the name of his family dear and honored in the hearts of all Vermonters and all lovers of good learning in all time to come.

THE CONVERSE HALL

Stands on the terrace east of the college campus, and north of the Pine grove, commanding fine views of the lake, the Adirondacks and the Green Mountains. It marks the eastern line of what, in time to come, as the University buildings multiply, will be the college quadrangle. It is a contribution as wise as it is generous, to the improvement of the social life of the college. It is of rock-faced blue Rutland marble, in a style of architecture not yet familiar in this country, comprising features of the Elizabethan era in England and of more frequent occurrence in Belgium and Holland, the chief characteristic of which is the multiplication and grouping of the pointed gable. The elevation, and especially the sky-line, is exceedingly pleasing and effective. The structure consists of three buildings joined in one, of four stories with high basement—the central building being 76 by 86 feet, and the two end buildings 70 by 86 feet. The three form the north, east and south sides of a central court. Over the central entrance is the title "Converse Hall," and the coat of arms of the Converse family, (which has a notable ancestry) carved in the stone. Over the south entrance is the coat of arms of the State of Vermont, and over the north entrance the coat of arms of the University.

The dormitory contains 48 suites of rooms, four on each story of the three buildings, consisting each of a study room and either one or two bedrooms. There are in all 48 studies and 89 bedrooms. The buildings are entered through vestibules with tiled floors, and handsome wainscoting. The finish of all the rooms is in native ash, and the floors of birch. Each study has a neat fire-place with mantle-piece and tiled hearth, and each is furnished with a book case, table and chairs of oak, and a handsome lounge. Each sleeping room contains an iron bedstead with good mattress and suitable bedding, oak bureau, wash stand and chair. The walls are finished in rough plaster tinted a pleasant straw color. All the rooms and halls are supplied with electric light fixtures. Each building has two spacious and convenient toilet rooms, with bath tubs, shower baths and modern conveniences.

An admirable feature of the south building is a large and well lighted room fitted up as a Common Room for the social and other meetings of the students. This has a large and pleasant fire-place, and is supplied with chairs and tables and seats about the walls and fire-place. The whole—building, furniture, bedding and fixtures—is the princely gift of John H. Converse, Esq., made at a cost of $125,000.

The grounds west of Converse Hall have been in part and will be more fully in future, laid out with walks and shrubbery; and the surroundings will add to its attractiveness. It is not too much to say that in beauty of situation and in comfort and convenience Converse Hall has no superior in the United States, if it has an equal, for its purpose, as a college home.

THE GIRLS' DORMITORY.

The preceding biennial report called attention to the pressing need of "a dormitory for the young women of the University, who now number more than fifty, over three fourths of whom come from out of town, and are therefore without home life." This need not having been met, as we hoped it would be, by gifts from those who are specially interested in the education of young women, the trustees purchased the property known as the Van Ness mansion, last occupied by the family of the late Lawrence Barnes, and have converted it into a dormitory for young women. This fine old mansion, with its spacious and beautiful grounds, makes a charming home for about twenty college girls, and under the care and influence of an accomplished lady as matron, is an attractive and helpful social centre to all the young women of the University. With this purchase, however, the opportunity for gifts in this direction has by no means passed, inasmuch as the property, as yet nameless, is with proper feminine modesty, waiting to take the name of some one who will endow it with worldly goods, and furnish and adorn it as it deserves.

GIFTS.

Aside from the Williams and Converse buildings the University has received no large gifts during the last biennial period, a condition which has befallen most of the institutions of learning in the country, and for which the general depression of business too easily accounts.

Three legacies have during this period become valid through the death of testators, though in case of two of them payments are somewhat remote and uncertain.

Mr. Henry Le Grand Cannon of Burlington bequeathed to the University his valuable collection of East India curios, consisting of weapons, implements, carvings, hangings, embroideries, etc., illustrative of eastern art and civilization. He added to the gift two thousand five hundred dollars for the purpose of constructing a suitable room in connection with the University museum for preserving and displaying the collection. This is now in the course of erection and will doubtless receive the articles for which it is designed, on its completion.

Judge William C. Belcher, of Marysville, California, of the class of 1843, after providing by his will, out of a large estate, for numerous relatives, directs that the trustees under the will shall "give the rest and residue of the property remaining in their hands as such trustees, if any there should be, to the University of Vermont, to be invested and the interest used for the purchase of books for its library." It is hoped, and persons cognizant of the value of the property believe, that something considerable may eventually come to the University from this legacy.

Mr. Franklin Baldwin, late of Grafton, Massachusetts, a native of Vermont, left by will the sum of $6,000 for founding a fellowship in the University. The payment of this legacy is contingent on profits from certain industries which are not now in a prosperous condition.

Professor William G. T. Shedd, a graduate in 1839, professor of English literature in the University from 1845 to 1852, and subsequently professor in the Theological seminaries at Auburn and Andover, and in the Union Theological Seminary, New York, bequeathed to the University his valuable library, consisting of 1,837 volumes, mainly in the departments of philosophy and theology.

Mrs. Sereno S. Smith, of Burlington, left by will $1,000 for founding a scholarship.

Gen. Rush C. Hawkins, of New York, has given to the University, to be placed in the Marsh library, a portrait in oil of Hon.

George P. Marsh, painted from a photograph in the possession of Mrs. Marsh, by William McGrath. It is a strong and faithful portrait of him in the full vigor of his powers, and is a much desired addition to the list of portraits of distinguished men who have been connected with the University. Gen. Hawkius has also from time to time made valuable donations to the library, of books, maps and engravings.

MILITARY DEPARTMENT.

It has been the hope of the Trustees that, either by a State appropriation or by private gift, a gymnasium and drill hall would ere this be provided for the use of the Military Department. Inasmuch as out-door drill is impracticable during two-thirds of the college year, and as the University has no room large enough for battalion drill, the department has been hampered in its work during the last biennial period. Temporary arrangements were made for the use of the spacious armory of Company M, V. N. G., but under the disadvantage of distance from the University buildings and of divided control. The Trustees are pleased to announce that in the event of a revival of business they have good hope that a gymnasium and drill hall will be provided which will meet the need so long felt in this direction.

THE MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

Medical education is undergoing great improvement in all the leading medical institutions of the country, and the Medical Faculty of the University are making commendable efforts to advance the standard of instruction and of graduation in response to the demand made upon them. The great need of the department is such an endowment as would enable the Faculty to provide the laboratories and other costly facilities which are required by modern methods of instruction. It is hoped that plans now under consideration for bringing the medical department into closer relations with the University will help to turn public attention to the wisdom of increasing the endowment of medical instruction and research.

The Report of the Dean of the Medical Department here follows:

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT.

A. P. Grinnell, M. D., Dean.

BURLINGTON, VT., August 15, 896.

President M. H. Buckham,

MY DEAR SIR:—In compliance with the custom heretofore practised, I respectfully submit the following statement regarding the Medical Department of the University of Vermont:

(uv2)

The rules adopted a few years ago regarding the admission of students, requiring every one to pass a satisfactory examination in arithmetic, grammar, geography, orthography, American history, English composition and elementary physics, or to furnish certificates of having passed the regents' examinations of New York State, have been received with satisfaction, and the results have been most gratifying. The examinations have been conducted by commissioner Mr. S. W. Landon, who is in no way connected with the school, and the question of a student's fitness on entering the college is left entirely to his discretion and judgment.

Every student, before presenting himself for final examination and graduation, must have the record of attending three courses of lectures of six months each, and must also furnish the Medical Faculty with satisfactory evidence of having given personal attention to work in the laboratories, in histology, pathology, bacteriology, uroscopy and also practical work in physical diagnosis and obstetrics.

It is the intention of the Medical Faculty to make a slight change in the above after 1898, requiring four courses of lectures of six months each, and requiring examinations at the end of each year.

The Medical Faculty, including professors and instructors, numbers twenty-one, and, so far as I know, no adverse criticism is made touching the character of the work done by these gentlemen, and no doubt can be expressed respecting their devotion to the institution and its interests.

With the growth of our classes and the increasing demand for higher grades of education in the different departments of medicine, we find that increased facilities are required in the way of recitation-rooms, laboratories, etc.

We are deeply indebted to the Board of Trustees for their promise of furnishing us more and extended rooms for laboratory work. This has become an important feature in the teaching of medicine, and no well equipped student is prepared for the practice of his profession until he has had many months of labor in laboratories, presided over by competent instructors.

The Board of Directors of the Mary Fletcher Hospital, in extending to us the use of that well appointed institution, has enabled the Medical Faculty to furnish the class with clinical advantages unsurpassed by any college.

The college is also indebted for the increased facilities in clinical instruction afforded by the Fanny Allen Hospital. From this institution we have been able to procure patients, enabling the medical student to come directly in contact with almost every variety of disease.

The medical classes have steadily increased in numbers, but with this, there has been corresponding increase in expenses. We have been extremely fortunate in securing the services of distinguished professors who have served without pecuniary compensation; but the difficulty of securing such assistance upon these terms has every year increased, until it has become necessary to divide the college funds (obtained only from fees of students) among so many that the remuneration is far too small to encourage the acceptance of professorships.

The Legislature of the State has seen fit to establish scholarships for the benefit of deserving, poor students, who may desire to enter the University of Vermont; but, up to the present time, the Medical Department has not benefitted from the State's munificence, although we expected that every department of the University would equally share its provisions. We are constantly receiving appeals from deserving and worthy young men for their admission to the Medical Department, with the request that assistance be rendered them by abatement of fees, but owing to our meagre income (obtained only from students' fees) we are obliged to refuse, although they are worthy of charity.

Our colleges in different parts of the country are enabled, through State aid or other beneficiaries, to offer scholarships, and thus many of our best young men are taken from Vermont in attendance upon these institutions. I am quite certain the people of Vermont are as anxious to assist an institution of this kind in the education of competent physicians as they could be in any other line of intellectual work, and I believe that no mistake on their part can be made if liberal donations, through scholarships or otherwise, are bestowed upon the Medical Department.

Respectfully submitted,

A. P. GRINNELL, Dean.

CONCLUSION.

The trustees are gratified to be able to report to your honorable body a biennial period of such prosperity as the foregoing statements seem to indicate. Many institutions of learning have felt severely the effect of the financial disturbance of the past few years; but while our growth may have been hindered, it has not been arrested. In the numbers in attendance, in resources, and we think we may add, in public approbation and respect, we have made substantial advance. We bespeak on the part of your honorable body a continuation of the thoughtful and fostering care which the State University has a right to expect from the General Assembly. Especially we entreat of you to exercise due care in filling the vacancies in the Board of Trustees, so that the Board may always be made up of men who appreciate the importance of the higher education to the welfare of the State, and who will give of their time and thought to the great interest which by your choice is committed to them.

Respectfully submitted for the Trustees,

M. H. BUCKHAM,
G. G. BENEDICT,
H. H. POWERS,

REPORT OF THE Mineral Industries of the State of Vermont 1894.

Although Vermont suffered from the financial depression less than any other State, yet the amount of business along the lines of this report was greatly decreased by the condition of trade throughout the nation.

In much of the business covered by this report, a part or all of the workmen are employed only a portion of the year, which fact accounts for the seemingly low average wages.

No report was made of any mining of ores, or of the various small industries which are usually carried on.

MARBLE.

Twenty-two concerns report as being engaged in the marble business, as producers or manufacturers, or both. Twelve of these are also dealers in granite. In the case of the latter, the items have been divided between the two kinds of business. These concerns report as capital invested, $5,384,100. They employed 2,016 men, paying them in wages, $741,042.32. The output was 540,248 cubic feet, valued at $1,406,866.

GRANITE.

Seventy-one concerns report as being engaged in the granite business, either as producers or manufacturers, or both. Twelve of them are also dealers in marble. In the case of the latter, the items have been divided between the two kinds of business. These concerns report as capital invested, $1,094,047. They employed 1,670 men, paying them in wages, $756,946. The output was 462,140 cubic feet, valued at $1,262,259.

SLATE.

Thirteen concerns report as being engaged in the slate business. They report as capital invested, $208,000. They employed 298 men, paying them in wages, $113,325. The output was 31,952 squares of roofing slate, 31,274 square feet of mill stock, and 500 tons of slate flour.

LIME.

Six concerns report as being engaged in the manipulation of lime. They report as capital invested $134,000. They employed 122 men, paying them in wages, $46,200. The output was 30,280 tons, valued at $164,050.

BRICK.

Eight concerns report as being engaged in the manufacture of brick. They report as capital invested, $58,800. They employed 165 men, paying them in wages, $29,192.85. The output was 10,000,000 brick, valued at $53,700.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

One hundred and eight concerns report as capital invested, $6,878,947. They employed 4,271 men, paying them in wages, $1,686,706.17. The value of the output was $3,026,293.53.

REPORT OF THE

Mineral Industries of the State of Vermont

1895.

Though the business depression continued this year throughout the nation, yet the statistics show that the mineral industries of the State made a partial recovery from the depressed conditions of the previous year.

In several towns during the year there has been the periodic gold excitement, but no report of deposits sufficiently rich to pay for working have reached this office.

It was contemplated this year printing in this report a list of the concerns engaged in the various lines of business covered by it, but it was found advisable to postpone such action till next year.

MARBLE.

Thirty-nine concerns report as being engaged in the marble business, as producers or manufacturers, or both. Twenty-seven of these are also dealers in granite. In the case of the latter, the items have been divided between the two kinds of business. These concerns report as capital invested, $5,796,862.00. They employed 2,840 men, paying them in wages, $818,736. 68. The output was 2,974,315 cubic feet, valued at $1,498,299.91.

GRANITE.

One hundred and thirteen concerns report as being engaged in the granite business, as producers or manufacturers, or both. Twenty-seven of them are also dealers in marble. In the case of the latter the items have been divided between the two kinds of business. These concerns report as capital invested, $1,545,139.00. They employed 2,459 men, paying them in wages, $1,146,976.85. The output was 800,545 cubic feet, valued at $1,734,463.32.

SLATE.

Seventeen concerns report as being engaged in the slate business. These report as capital invested, $464,012.27. They employed 727 men, paying them in wages, $234,226.02. The output was 83,522 squares of roofing slate and 560,000 square feet of mill stock, valued at $279,606.10.

LIME.

Eight concerns report as being engaged in the manufacture of lime. These report as capital invested, $159,000.00. They employed 175 men, paying them in wages, $58,417.50. The output was 38,720 tons, valued at $161,260.00.

BRICK.

Five concerns report as being engaged in the manufacture of brick. These report as capital invested, $35,500.00. They employed 145 men, paying them in wages, $23,362.35. The output was 9,881,000 brick, valued at $52,434.89.

SOAPSTONE.

Two concerns report as being engaged in the soapstone business. They report as capital invested, $18,000.00. They employed 35 men, paying them in wages, $15,600.00. The output was 500 tons, valued at $32,000.00.

VARIOUS INDUSTRIES.

One concern in each case reports as being engaged in manufacturing kaolin, ochre, scythestones and plastic stove lining. They report as capital invested, $81,000.00. They employed 83 men, paying them in wages, $24,859.00. The output was valued at $37,500.00.

GENERAL SUMMARY.

One hundred and sixty-one concerns report as capital invested, $8,099,513.27. They employed 5,964 men, paying them in wages, $2,317,179.05. The output was valued at $3,795,564.22.

THE STATE CABINET.

Very few changes have been made in the State Cabinet during the past two years. To the collection of birds have been added a number of fine specimens. The room formerly occupied by the Historical Society was taken for temporary use, when vacated by that body. During the past year the cases have been rebuilt and fitted for permanent occupancy. Not much further improvement can be made in the collections until larger and better lighted rooms are provided.

REPORT.

To His Excellency, Urban A. Woodbury, Governor of Vermont.

SIR:—I have the honor to submit the following sixth biennial report of the Vermont Board of Dental Examiners :

Since the appointment of the present board by your honor, two annual meetings have been held—the first at Brandon, March 20, 1895. The following officers were elected for two years: President, R. M. Chase, of Bethel; Secretary and Treasurer, A. J. Parker, Bellows Falls.

One candidate passed satisfactory examination and was licensed. One license was granted to a dentist complying with the dental law in Section 3, and one temporary license was granted during this year. Two licenses were granted to dentists holding diplomas from reputable colleges this year also.

At the second meeting held at St. Albans, March 17, 1896, two candidates were examined and passed, satisfactorily and were licensed. One temporary license was granted, and three licenses were granted to those having diplomas from reputable colleges—making in all eight permanent licenses and two temporary that have been granted during this biennial term.

Expenses for examiners' fees, printing, etc.....	$42 63
Received during this term for licenses granted,.....	29 00

Leaving the board in debt for cash advanced, $13 63

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. J. PARKER, D. D. S.,
